Case No. :25-cv-01443-MSN-lrv

AMENDED PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS AND COMPLAINT

INTRODUCTION

1. Petitioner Jose Roldan Ramirez Gomez (“Petitioner” or “Mr. Ramirez Gomez”), is a 45 year-old Guatemalan national who is married and has four US citizen children. He is a resident of Maryland and has been living and working in the United States since 2003.

2. On August 28, 2025, Mr. Ramirez Gomez was arrested, abruptly and without warning by a group of masked men purporting to be ICE officers who performed what appears to be an illegal traffic stop on Georgia Ave, NW in Washington, DC. The purported “officers” were in an unmarked blue Ford with Texas license plates. While physically present in Washington, DC, and not engaged in any criminal activity, Plaintiff Jose Roldan Ramirez Gomez was stopped, interrogated, and arrested by agents of U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) without a judicial warrant or probable cause to believe he had committed a crime.

3. Mr. Ramirez Gomez is in the United States lawfully, with a pending case for cancellation of removal for certain nonpermanent residents (“42B”) and asylum, has a work permit, and a valid driver’s license. Nevertheless, he was handcuffed without explanation and taken to ICE’s Washington Field Office in Chantilly, VA, where he was held for most of the day before, upon information and belief, before being transferred to the Farmville Detention Center.

4. There has been no stated reason for the unlawful arrest.

5. Mr. Ramirez Gomez was detained at ICE’s Farmville, VA detention center at the time of the filing of the original Petition. He has since been moved to Texas.

6. Plaintiff’s arrest is part of a larger pattern of unlawful civil immigration enforcement activity carried out by ICE in the District of Columbia. This warrantless civil immigration arrest was effected without any prior approval from a magistrate judge or judicial officer, in violation of the Fourth Amendment and internal agency policies governing ICE’s enforcement discretion.

7. Plaintiff was not provided with a warrant or any record of the legal authority under which his arrest was justified at the time of his detention, and no neutral magistrate reviewed or authorized the arrest before or after his seizure. This places Plaintiff squarely within the class of individuals described in Escobar-Molina v. ICE, No. 1:25-cv-03417 (D.D.C. Sept 25, 2025), where plaintiffs have challenged ICE’s unlawful enforcement practices in DC as unconstitutional and ultra vires.

8. Petitioner was not apprehended at the border, near the border, nor within any recent arrival timeframe. Nor is there any new evidence of removability or inadmissibility not already known to Federal Respondents.

9. Unlawful detention or removal without process or explanation violates the United States Constitution and the applicable statutory and administrative frameworks.

10. Mr. Ramirez Gomez thus petitions this Court for a Writ of Habeas Corpus, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2241, to remedy his unlawful detention by Respondents.

JURISDICTION & VENUE

18. This case arises under the United States Constitution. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 2241 (habeas corpus), Art. I § 9, cl. 2 of the U.S. Constitution (“the Suspension Clause”), 28 U.S.C. § 1331 (federal question jurisdiction), Article III of the U.S. Constitution, the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. §701 et seq.

19. Federal district courts have jurisdiction to hear habeas claims by non-citizens challenging both the lawfulness and the constitutionality of their detention. See, e.g., Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678, 687 (2001); Aguilar v. Lewis, 50 F. Supp. 2d 539 (E.D. Va. 1999).

20. An actual and justiciable controversy exists between the parties under 28 U.S.C. § 2201, and this Court has authority to grant declaratory and injunctive relief. Id. §§ 2201, 2202. The Court has additional remedial authority under the All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651.

21. Administrative exhaustion is unnecessary as it would be futile. See, e.g., Aguilar, 50 F. Supp. 2d at 542-43.

22. Venue is proper in this district and division pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2241(c)(3) and 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(2) and (e)(1) because a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to this action occurred and continue to occur at Farmville Detention Center in Farmville, Caroline County, Virginia within this district.

23. Upon information and belief, Mr. Ramirez Gomez is physically within the Commonwealth of Virginia.

24. Petitioner entered the United States on or about January 23, 2003 without inspection. He had been placed in removal proceedings at an unknown time and applied for asylum as well as cancellation of removal for non-permanent residents (“42B”).

25. Petitioner is married and has four US citizen children ranging from 4 to 19 years of age. He is a licensed “master plumber” and has no criminal record, and has a valid Maryland driver’s license and valid work permit not slated to expire until 2029.

26. Upon information and belief, Petitioner's removal proceedings were "administratively closed" on or about November 12, 2015 by the Baltimore, Maryland immigration court.

27. On Thursday, August 28, 2025 Petitioner was a passenger in a work van being driven by a colleague heading to various job sites in Washington, DC. Around 10:10 AM after finishing their first job, the van headed to the next job on N St NW. The driver of the work van had noticed two cars with Texas license plates at their first job that had not moved for some time.

28. About 10 minutes into the drive on Georgia Ave. NW, the driver heard a patrol siren. Rear visibility being limited in the large work van, the driver could not tell whether the siren was for him or not. The siren sounded again, but it was from an unmarked blue Ford, not a patrol car.

29. The driver had not broken any traffic laws. Nevertheless, he pulled over at 4000 Georgia Ave. NW. The driver of the blue Ford took a long time to exit the vehicle.

30. As the driver and Petitioner waited, more unmarked cars, also with Texas license plates, began to show up, including one car that the driver had observed parked at the first job site. The driver then realized these cars had been following him the whole morning.

31. The driver of the blue Ford with Texas plates asked for Petitioner's colleague's license and the registration. The driver asked why he was stopped, and was told something about "checking legal status and license."

32. None of the purported officers who stopped Petitioner's work van identified themselves as officers.

33. Another person who at one point may have been wearing a mask approached Petitioner in the passenger seat and asked him for his identification, telling him to roll down the window. Petitioner complied and handed over his license. This person asked what country Petitioner was from. Petitioner responded that all the information needed was on the driver's license he handed over and that he would not answer any more questions.

34. The person ordered Petitioner out of the van, opened the door, grabbed him, and pulled him out of the van. They handcuffed him without explanation and led him to a gold-colored Ford Explorer, also with Texas plates.

35. After Petitioner was taken away, one of the purported "officers" returned the driver's license of the work van driver, explaining that his legal status was in order. The driver overheard a conversation where one of the men asked about Petitioner, and responded that Petitioner "only had a work permit" which "wasn't sufficient evidence" to let him go.

36. At no point during the encounter was any personal information or identification provided by the purported "officers."

37. Petitioner was taken for processing at ICE-Chantilly and then after some hours moved to Farmville, VA..

38. Petitioner has not been granted a bond hearing, as Federal Respondents take the position that he is ineligible for same under Matter of Yajure-Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. 216 (BIA 2025).

39. Petitioner asserts that in view of his 20+ years in the United States, owning a business, having a spouse and four US citizen children, otherwise living and contributing to the United States, and being apprehended in the domestic interior far from the border, and having no prior designation as an applicant for admission, he has effected an entry into the United States and is therefore not an applicant for admission.

40. Under Loper Bright Enterprises v. Raimondo, 603 U.S. ____ (2024), agency interpretations such as who is properly considered an applicant for admission are entitled to no deference and this Court must decide this issue de novo.

41. Petitioner is also a putative class member in Maldonado-Bautista v. Dep't of Homeland Security, a pending nationwide class action challenging the application of §1225 detention to individuals arrested in the interior who are not arriving noncitizens and who are placed—or not placed—into removal proceedings.

42. There has been no articulation, pleading, or establishment of how Petitioner falls within the statutory framework of §1225. Its reliance on boilerplate assertions without factual foundation mirrors the systemic deficiencies at issue in Maldonado-Bautista and highlights the need for individualized judicial review.

CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

FIRST CLAIM

Violation of the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution

43. Petitioner repeats and re-alleges the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint-Petition as if fully set forth herein.

44. The Constitution establishes due process rights for “all ‘persons’ within the United States, including [noncitizens], whether their presence here is lawful, unlawful, temporary, or permanent.” Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678, 693 (2001).

45. The government’s detention of Mr. Ramirez Gomez is wholly unjustified. The government has not demonstrated that Mr. Ramirez Gomez—a business owner, father, husband, and taxpayer—needs to be detained. See Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 690. There is no credible argument that Mr. Ramirez Gomez cannot be safely released back to his family.

46. Petitioner is neither a danger nor a flight risk. He was detained in a raid resulting from an illegal traffic stop, not any sort of checkpoint, without regard to their immigration history, assessed risk of flight or danger, and with no notice or due process.

47. Because Mr. Ramirez Gomez's detention has been unaccompanied by the procedural protections that such a significant deprivation of liberty requires under the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, his continued detention is unlawful. See Matthews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. at 332. Infringing upon a protected interest at the very least triggers a right to a hearing before that right is deprived. See Board of Regents of State Colleges v. Roth, 408 U.S. 564, 569-70 (1972).

48. There is no order of removal, Petitioner has already been processed in removal proceedings, and a determination was made by ICE to not detain him, and his case was administratively closed in 2015, and there is no criminal record or any indication of danger to society. To the contrary, Petitioner is a "master plumber" – a hard-earned title, and has several other licenses and certifications, is a loving father to his 4 US citizen children, a doting husband to his wife, and a well-liked member of his faith community.

49. Respondents have treated Petitioner differently from similarly situated individuals—such as noncitizens who overstayed visas or entered without inspection many years ago—who are detained under §1226 and are eligible for bond. There is no rational basis for subjecting Petitioner to bondless detention under §1225 when his factual circumstances are indistinguishable from those treated under §1226, rendering the treatment of Petitioner arbitrary and violative of procedural due process principles embedded in the Fifth Amendment.

50. For the foregoing reasons, Respondents' abrupt detention of Petitioner violated his substantive and procedural due process rights.

SECOND CLAIM

Violation of the Immigration and Nationality Act and Implementing Regulations

51. Petitioner repeats and re-alleges the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint-Petition as if fully set forth herein.

52. Petitioner was arrested in the interior pursuant to a Form I-200 administrative warrant, a mechanism that DHS typically uses for individuals under §1226. Respondents' invocation of §1225(b)(2)(A) contradicts their own procedures and longstanding practices, especially where no expedited removal order or recent border apprehension occurred.

53. The improper use of §1225(b)(2)(A) under these circumstances reflects arbitrary and inconsistent application of law, in violation of both the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) and the Administrative Procedure Act (APA.)

THIRD CLAIM

Violation of the Administrative Procedure Act

54. Petitioner repeats and re-alleges the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint-Petition as if fully set forth herein.

55. Under the APA, “final agency action for which there is no other adequate remedy in a court [is] subject to judicial review.” 5 U.S.C. § 704. The reviewing Court “shall . . . hold unlawful and set aside agency action, findings, and conclusions found to be . . . arbitrary, capricious, an abuse of discretion, or otherwise not in accordance with law,” or “unsupported by substantial evidence.” 5 U.S.C. §§ 706(2)(A), (E).

56. The decision to detain Mr. Ramirez Gomez, who already had been encountered by ICE, placed in removal proceedings, and had his case administratively closed nearly ten years ago, allowing him to continue to build his life in the United States must be reviewed by this Court and found to be “arbitrary, capricious, an abuse of discretion and not in accordance with the law.” 5 U.S.C. §§ 706(2)(A), (E). Absent this Court’s intervention, Mr. Ramirez Gomez does not have any “remedy” to challenge the decision of Respondents.

57. Respondents have detained Petitioner under a policy that applies §1225 to all noncitizens encountered in the interior, regardless of how long they have lived in the United States, the absence of any entry-related conduct

58. Under 8 C.F.R. §241.13(i), Petitioner has, at minimum, a regulatory right to a detailed explanation for the reasons for his detention. At a minimum, ICE has a duty to follow its own regulations. See Accardi, 347 U.S. at 226 (holding that BIA must follow its own regulations in its exercise of discretion); Morton v. Ruiz, 415 U.S. 199, 235 (1974) (“Where the rights of individuals are affected, it is incumbent upon agencies to follow their own procedures . . . even where the internal procedures are possibly more rigorous than otherwise would be required.”).

FOURTH CLAIM

59. Unconstitutional Overreach Following Loper Bright: No Deference to Agency Interpretation Petitioner repeats and re-alleges the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint-Petition as if fully set forth herein.

60. Following the Supreme Court’s ruling in Loper Bright Enterprises v. Raimondo, 603 U.S. ____ (2024), courts must independently interpret the INA. DHS and DOJ’s assertion that Petitioner is an “applicant for admission” is a legal conclusion not supported by the statutory text and cannot be upheld solely on agency say-so.

61. DHS and DOJ have asserted—without supporting statutory language—that Petitioner is an “applicant for admission” under INA § 235. This assertion is not grounded in any facts pled in the NTA, which lacks the date, place, or manner of entry, nor is it supported by Petitioner's conduct, which involved no recent border crossing or attempt to enter the United States. Rather, Petitioner is a long-time resident arrested in the interior under a Form I-200 administrative warrant.

62. Permitting DHS or the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) to unilaterally determine that such an individual is an "applicant for admission" without factual development or statutory support constitutes an unconstitutional overreach. It allows the Executive Branch to effectively expand the scope of §1225 beyond what Congress authorized, and without legislative amendment.

63. Under Article III of the Constitution, it is the province and duty of the judiciary to say what the law is. Where a statute is silent or ambiguous, courts must resolve that ambiguity—not defer to the Executive Branch's interpretation, particularly where that interpretation implicates fundamental liberty interests such as detention without bond.

64. By applying §1225 to Petitioner based solely on its own interpretation of the INA, DHS has circumvented the role of the judiciary, assuming the power to interpret and enforce ambiguous law in a manner that eliminates meaningful judicial review. This violates the separation of powers embedded in Articles I and III of the Constitution and raises grave constitutional concerns, especially in the context of civil detention.

FIFTH CLAIM

Violation of 8 C.F.R. § 287.8 – Failure to Follow Required Arrest Procedures

65. Petitioner repeats and re-alleges the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint-Petition as if fully set forth herein.

66. Petitioner is a putative class member in Maldonado-Bautista v. DHS, No. 5:24-cv-00914 (C.D. Cal.), a pending nationwide class action that challenges the government’s policy and practice of applying INA §1225 mandatory detention to individuals arrested in the interior of the United States who have not recently arrived or sought admission.

67. The Maldonado-Bautista plaintiffs seek declaratory and injunctive relief, alleging that DHS and DOJ have violated the INA, the APA, and the Constitution by categorically detaining such individuals under §1225(b), rather than providing bond hearings under §1226(a). The case highlights the systemic misapplication of detention authority and specifically alleges that many individuals like Petitioner—who were arrested in the interior, are not recent entrants, and were issued NTAs devoid of any allegations of border crossing or inspection—are improperly treated as applicants for admission without legal basis.

68. While a hearing on class certification and summary judgment is scheduled for October 17, 2025, no preliminary injunctive relief is currently in place. Thus, individual habeas actions remain the only mechanism for putative class members like Petitioner to secure timely review of their detention.

69. Petitioner’s continued detention under the policies challenged in Maldonado-Bautista, without any individualized finding that he is an applicant for admission, and without meaningful opportunity for judicial review, would result in substantial and irreparable harm. Habeas corpus is the only adequate and effective remedy currently available to prevent ongoing unlawful detention.

70. Accordingly, this Court retains jurisdiction and equitable authority to adjudicate Petitioner’s claims, and should do so to preserve his constitutional rights and ensure access to timely judicial relief pending the resolution of the class litigation.

SIXTH CLAIM

Violation of the Fourth and Fifth Amendments Due to Unlawful Arrest in the District of Columbia

71. Plaintiff repeats and incorporates by reference all prior paragraphs.

72. Plaintiff's arrest occurred in the District of Columbia, a jurisdiction that has limited ICE's ability to engage in warrantless civil immigration arrests.

73. ICE agents arrested Plaintiff without a judicial warrant or probable cause to believe he committed a criminal offense, and without presenting a legal basis for civil detention at the time of arrest.

74. Plaintiff's arrest was conducted in violation of the Fourth Amendment's protections against unreasonable searches and seizures and in violation of the Fifth Amendment's guarantee of due process.

75. ICE's conduct is part of a broader, documented pattern and practice of unlawful enforcement activity in DC, which has been challenged in Escobar-Molina v. ICE, currently pending in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia.

76. Plaintiff alleges that he is a member of the putative class in that litigation, as he was arrested without a judicial warrant, while in DC after August 11, 2025 for civil immigration purposes only, and was denied due process and meaningful judicial review.

77. The arrest was ultra vires and beyond the statutory authority of ICE as interpreted under the INA and the Fourth and Fifth Amendments.

SEVENTH CLAIM

Release on Bail Pending Adjudication

78. Petitioner repeats and re-alleges the allegations contained in the preceding paragraphs of this Complaint-Petition as if fully set forth herein.

79. Under 28 U.S.C. § 2241, federal district courts are granted broad authority, “within their respective jurisdictions,” 28 U.S.C. § 2241(a), to hear applications for writs of habeas corpus filed by persons claiming to be held “in custody in violation of the Constitution or laws or treaties of the United States.” Timms v. Johns, 627 F. 3d 525 (4th Cir. 2010).

80. Federal courts have inherent authority to grant bail pending the adjudication of a habeas petition. See Mapp v. Reno, 241 F.3d 221, 230 (2d Cir. 2001) (collecting cases); see also United States v. Eliely, 276 F. App’x. 270, 270 (4th Cir. 2008).

81. A Court may do so where the petitioner shows there are “substantial constitutional claims on which he has a high probability of success, and exceptional circumstances making a grant of bail necessary for the habeas remedy to be effective.” Eliely, 276 F. App’x. 270.

82. This petition raises numerous substantial constitutional and statutory claims challenging Mr. Ramirez Gomez’s detention. His detention and the apparent termination of the terms of his release without notice, an opportunity to be heard, or any shred of process is a clear violation of Mr. Ramirez Gomez’s constitutional rights and the statutory scheme. That it happened at an illegal traffic stop by unmarked cars and men who failed to identify themselves makes it all the more noxious to the Constitution. Moreover, the threatened removal of Mr. Ramirez Gomez and his unlawful detention constitutes an extraordinary circumstance such that his release is essential for the remedy of habeas to be effective. Finally, continued detention will prevent him from adequately preparing a legal defense.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Petitioner respectfully requests that this Court:

1. Assume jurisdiction over this matter;
2. Enjoin Respondents from transferring the Petitioner from the jurisdiction of this District pending these proceedings;
3. Enjoin Respondents from removing Petitioner from the United States;
4. Order the immediate release of Petitioner pending these proceedings;
5. Order the release of Petitioner on bond;
6. Declare that Respondents' actions to arrest and detain Petitioner violate the unlawful searches and seizures clause of the Fourth Amendment, the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment, the Immigration and Nationality Act and implementing regulations, and/or the Administrative Procedures Act;
7. Award reasonable attorneys' fees and costs for this action; and
8. Grant such further relief as the Court deems just and proper.
