RESPONDENTS' RETURN TO HABEAS PETITION

I. Introduction and Summary of Argument

Petitioner has filed a habeas petition under 28 U.S.C. § 2241. Petitioner is currently in removal proceedings under 8 U.S.C. § 1229a and is charged with inadmissibility under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(6)(A)(i), as an alien present in the United States who has not been admitted or paroled and 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(7)(A)(i)(I), as an immigrant not in possession of a valid entry document. As an applicant for admission, Petitioner is mandatorily detained in Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) custody pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2). Based on the arguments below, the Court should deny any requests for relief and dismiss the petition.

II. Statutory Background

A. Individuals Seeking Admission to the United States

For over a century, this country's immigration laws have authorized immigration officials to charge noncitizens as removable from the country, arrest those subject to removal, and detain them during removal proceedings. See Abel v. United States, 362 U.S. 217, 232–37 (1960). “The rule has been clear for decades: ‘[d]etention during deportation proceedings [i]s ... constitutionally valid.’” Banyee v. Garland, 115 F.4th 928 (8th Cir. 2024) (quoting Demore v. Kim, 538 U.S. 510, 523 (2003)), rehearing by panel and en banc denied, Banyee v. Bondi, No. 22-2252, 2025 WL 837914 (8th Cir. Mar. 18, 2025); see Carlson v. Landon, 342 U.S. 524, 538 (1952) (“Detention is necessarily a part of this deportation procedure.”); Demore, 538 U.S. at 523 n.7 (“In fact, prior to 1907 there was no provision permitting bail for any aliens during the pendency of their deportation proceedings.”) (emphasis in original). The Supreme Court even recognized that removal proceedings “‘would be [in] vain if those accused could not be held in custody pending the inquiry into their true character.’” Demore, 538 U.S. at 523 (quoting Wong Wing v. United States, 163 U.S. 228, 235 (1896)). Over the century, Congress has enacted a multi-layered statutory scheme for the civil detention of aliens pending a decision on removal, during the administrative and judicial review of removal orders, and in preparation for removal. See generally 8 U.S.C. §§ 1225, 1226, 1231. It

1 is the interplay between these statutes that is at issue here.

2 B. Detention Under 8 U.S.C. § 1225

3 “To implement its immigration policy, the Government must be able to decide 4 (1) who may enter the country and (2) who may stay here after entering.” Jennings v.
5 Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281, 286 (2018). Section 1225 governs inspection, the initial step 6 in this process, id., stating that all “applicants for admission . . . shall be inspected by 7 immigration officers.” 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(3). The statute—in a provision entitled 8 “ALIENS TREATED AS APPLICANTS FOR ADMISSION”—dictates who “shall be 9 deemed for purposes of this chapter an applicant for admission,” defining that term to 10 encompass both an alien “present in the United States who has not been admitted or 11 [one] who arrives in the United States” Id. § 1225(a)(1) (emphasis added). Section 12 1225(b) governs the inspection procedures applicable to all applicants for admission.
13 They “fall into one of two categories, those covered by § 1225(b)(1) and those covered 14 by § 1225(b)(2).” Jennings, 583 U.S. at 287.

15 Section 1225(b)(1) applies to arriving aliens and “certain other” aliens “initially 16 determined to be inadmissible due to fraud, misrepresentation, or lack of valid 17 documentation.” Jennings, 583 U.S. at 287; 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(A)(i), (iii). These 18 aliens are generally subject to expedited removal proceedings. See 8 U.S.C. § 19 1225(b)(1)(A)(i). But if the alien “indicates an intention to apply for asylum . . . or a 20 fear of persecution,” immigration officers will refer the alien for a credible fear 21 interview. Id. § 1225(b)(1)(A)(ii). An alien “with a credible fear of persecution” is 22 “detained for further consideration of the application for asylum.” Id.
23 § 1225(b)(1)(B)(ii). If the alien does not indicate an intent to apply for asylum, express 24 a fear of persecution, or is “found not to have such a fear,” they are detained until 25 removed from the United States. Id. §§ 1225(b)(1)(A)(i), (B)(iii)(IV).

26 Section 1225(b)(2) is “broader” and “serves as a catchall provision.” Jennings, 27 583 U.S. at 287. It “applies to all applicants for admission not covered by § 1225(b)(1).” 28 Id. Under § 1225(b)(2), an alien “who is an applicant for admission” shall be detained

1 for a removal proceeding “if the examining immigration officer determines that [the] 2 alien seeking admission is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted.”
3 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A); see Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. 216, 220 (BIA 4 2025) (“[A]liens who are present in the United States without admission are applicants 5 for admission as defined under section 235(b)(2)(A) of the INA, 8 U.S.C.
6 § 1225(b)(2)(A), and must be detained for the duration of their removal proceedings.”); 7 Matter of Q. Li, 29 I&N Dec. 66, 68 (BIA 2025) (“for aliens arriving in and seeking 8 admission into the United States who are placed directly in full removal proceedings, 9 section 235(b)(2)(A) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A), mandates detention ‘until 10 removal proceedings have concluded.’”) (citing Jennings, 583 U.S. at 299). However, 11 DHS has the sole discretionary authority to temporarily release on parole “any alien 12 applying for admission to the United States” on a “case-by-case basis for urgent 13 humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit.” Id. § 1182(d)(5)(A); see Biden v.
14 Texas, 597 U.S. 785, 806 (2022).

15 C. Detention Under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a)

16 Section 1226 provides for arrest and detention “pending a decision on whether 17 the alien is to be removed from the United States.” 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a). Under § 1226(a), 18 the government may detain an alien during his removal proceedings, release him on 19 bond, or release him on conditional parole. By regulation, immigration officers can 20 release an alien who demonstrates that he “would not pose a danger to property or 21 persons” and “is likely to appear for any future proceeding.” 8 C.F.R. § 236.1(c)(8). An 22 alien can also request a custody redetermination (i.e., a bond hearing) by an IJ at any 23 time before a final order of removal is issued. See 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a); 8 C.F.R. §§ 24 236.1(d)(1), 1236.1(d)(1), 1003.19.

25 At a custody redetermination, the IJ may continue detention or release the alien 26 on bond or conditional parole. 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a); 8 C.F.R. § 1236.1(d)(1). IJs have 27 broad discretion in deciding whether to release an alien on bond. In re Guerra, 24 I&N 28 Dec. 37, 39-40 (BIA 2006) (listing nine factors for IJs to consider). But regardless of

1 the factors IJs consider, an alien “who presents a danger to persons or property should 2 not be released during the pendency of removal proceedings.” Id. at 38.

3 Section 1226(a) does not grant “any right to release on bond.” Matter of D-J, 23 4 I&N Dec. at 575 (citing Carlson v. Landon, 342 U.S. 524, 534 (1952) (emphasis in 5 original). Nor does it address the applicable burden of proof or particular factors that 6 must be considered. See generally 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a). Rather, it grants DHS and the 7 Attorney General broad discretionary authority to determine, after arrest, whether to 8 detain or release an alien during his or her removal proceedings. See id. If, after the bond 9 hearing, either party disagrees with the decision of the IJ, that party may appeal the 10 decision to the BIA. See 8 C.F.R. §§ 236.1(d)(3), 1003.19(f), 1003.38, 1236.1(d)(3).

11 Included within the Attorney General and DHS’s discretionary authority are 12 limits on the delegation to the immigration court. Under 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(h)(2)(i)(B), 13 the IJ does not have authority to redetermine the conditions of custody imposed by DHS 14 for any arriving alien. The regulations also include a provision that allows DHS to 15 invoke an automatic stay of any decision by an IJ to release an individual on bond when 16 DHS files an appeal of the custody redetermination. 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(i)(2) (“The 17 decision whether or not to file [an automatic stay] is subject to the discretion of the 18 Secretary.”).

19 D. Review Before the Board of Immigration Appeals

20 The BIA is an appellate body within the Executive Office for Immigration 21 Review (EOIR) and possesses delegated authority from the Attorney General. 8 C.F.R.
22 §§ 1003.1(a)(1), (d)(1). The BIA is “charged with the review of those administrative 23 adjudications under the [INA] that the Attorney General may by regulation assign to 24 it,” including IJ custody determinations. 8 C.F.R. §§ 1003.1(d)(1), 236.1, 1236.1. The 25 BIA not only resolves particular disputes before it, but is also directed to, “through 26 precedent decisions, [] provide clear and uniform guidance to DHS, the immigration 27 judges, and the general public on the proper interpretation and administration of the 28 [INA] and its implementing regulations.” Id. § 1003.1(d)(1). Decisions rendered by the

1 BIA are final, except for those reviewed by the Attorney General. 8 C.F.R. § 2 1003.1(d)(7).

3 If an automatic stay of a custody decision is invoked by DHS, regulations require 4 the BIA to track the progress of the custody appeal “to avoid unnecessary delays in 5 completing the record for decision.” 8 C.F.R. § 1003.6(c)(3). The stay lapses in 90 days, 6 unless the detainee seeks an extension of time to brief the custody appeal, 8 C.F.R.
7 § 1003.6(c)(4), or unless DHS seeks, and the BIA grants, a discretionary stay. 8 C.F.R.
8 § 1003.6(c)(5).

9 If the BIA denies DHS’s custody appeal, the automatic stay remains in effect for 10 five business days. 8 C.F.R. § 1003.6(d). DHS may, during that five-day period, refer 11 the case to the Attorney General under 8 C.F.R. § 1003.1(h)(1) for consideration. Id.
12 Upon referral to the Attorney General, the release is stayed for 15 business days while 13 the case is considered. The Attorney General may extend the stay of release upon 14 motion by DHS. Id.

15 III. Argument

16 A. Petitioner’s Claims and Requested Relief Are Jurisdictionally Barred

17 Petitioner bears the burden of establishing that this Court has subject matter 18 jurisdiction over asserted claims. See Ass’n of Am. Med. Coll. v. United States, 217 F.3d 19 770, 778-79 (9th Cir. 2000); Finley v. United States, 490 U.S. 545, 547-48 (1989).

20 In general, courts lack jurisdiction to review a decision to commence or 21 adjudicate removal proceedings or execute removal orders. See 8 U.S.C. § 1252(g) 22 (“[N]o court shall have jurisdiction to hear any cause or claim by or on behalf of any 23 alien arising from the decision or action by the Attorney General to commence 24 proceedings, adjudicate cases, or execute removal orders.”); Reno v. Am.-Arab Anti- 25 Discrimination Comm., 525 U.S. 471, 483 (1999) (“There was good reason for 26 Congress to focus special attention upon, and make special provision for, judicial 27 review of the Attorney General’s discrete acts of ‘commenc[ing] proceedings, 28 adjudicat[ing] cases, [and] execut[ing] removal orders’—which represent the initiation

1 or prosecution of various stages in the deportation process.”); Limpin v. United States, 2 828 Fed. App’x 429 (9th Cir. 2020) (holding district court properly dismissed under 8 3 U.S.C. § 1252(g) “because claims stemming from the decision to arrest and detain an 4 alien at the commencement of removal proceedings are not within any court’s 5 jurisdiction”). In other words, § 1252(g) removes district court jurisdiction over “three 6 discrete actions that the Attorney General may take: her ‘decision or action’ to 7 ‘commence proceedings, adjudicate cases, or execute removal orders.’” Reno, 525 U.S.
8 at 482 (emphasis removed). Congress has explicitly foreclosed district court jurisdiction 9 over claims that necessarily arise “from the decision or action by the Attorney General 10 to commence proceedings [and] adjudicate cases” 8 U.S.C. § 1252(g).

11 Section 1252(g) also bars district courts from hearing challenges to the method 12 by which the government chooses to commence removal proceedings, including the 13 decision to detain an alien pending removal. See Alvarez v. ICE, 818 F.3d 1194, 1203 14 (11th Cir. 2016) (“By its plain terms, [§ 1252(g)] bars us from questioning ICE’s 15 discretionary decisions to commence removal” and bars review of “ICE’s decision to 16 take [plaintiff] into custody and to detain him during his removal proceedings”).

17 Other courts have held, “[f]or the purposes of § 1252, the Attorney General 18 commences proceedings against an alien when the alien is issued a Notice to Appear 19 before an immigration court.” Herrera-Correra v. United States, No. 08-2941 DSF 20 (JCx), 2008 WL 11336833, at *3 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 11, 2008). “The Attorney General 21 may arrest the alien against whom proceedings are commenced and detain that 22 individual until the conclusion of those proceedings.” Id. at *3. “Thus, an alien’s 23 detention throughout this process arises from the Attorney General’s decision to 24 commence proceedings” and review of claims arising from such detention is barred 25 under § 1252(g). Id. (citing Sissoko v. Rocha, 509 F.3d 947, 949 (9th Cir. 2007)); Wang, 26 2010 WL 11463156, at *6; 8 U.S.C. § 1252(g).

27 Moreover, under 8 U.S.C. § 1252(b)(9), “[j]udicial review of all questions of law 28 and fact . . . arising from any action taken or proceeding brought to remove an alien

1 from the United States under this subchapter shall be available only in judicial review 2 of a final order under this section.” (emphasis added). Further, judicial review of a final 3 order is available only through “a petition for review filed with an appropriate court of 4 appeals.” 8 U.S.C. § 1252(a)(5). The Supreme Court has made clear that § 1252(b)(9) 5 is “the unmistakable ‘zipper’ clause,” channeling “judicial review of all” “decisions and 6 actions leading up to or consequent upon final orders of deportation,” including “non-7 final order[s],” into proceedings before a court of appeals. Reno, 525 U.S. at 483, 485; 8 see J.E.F.M. v. Lynch, 837 F.3d 1026, 1031 (9th Cir. 2016) (noting § 1252(b)(9) is 9 “breathtaking in scope and vise-like in grip and therefore swallows up virtually all 10 claims that are tied to removal proceedings”). “Taken together, § 1252(a)(5) and 11 § 1252(b)(9) mean that any issue—whether legal or factual—arising from any removal-12 related activity can be reviewed only through the [petition for review] PFR process.” 13 J.E.F.M., 837 F.3d at 1031 (emphasis in original) (“[W]hile these sections limit how 14 immigrants can challenge their removal proceedings, they are not jurisdiction-stripping 15 statutes that, by their terms, foreclose all judicial review of agency actions. Instead, the 16 provisions channel judicial review over final orders of removal to the courts of appeal.”) 17 (emphasis in original); see id. at 1035 (“§§ 1252(a)(5) and [(b)(9)] channel review of 18 all claims, including policies-and-practices challenges . . . whenever they ‘arise from’ 19 removal proceedings”).

20 Critically, “1252(b)(9) is a judicial channeling provision, not a claim-barring 21 one.” Aguilar v. ICE, 510 F.3d 1, 11 (1st Cir. 2007). Indeed, 8 U.S.C. § 1252(a)(2)(D) 22 provides that “[n]othing . . . in any other provision of this chapter . . . shall be construed 23 as precluding review of constitutional claims or questions of law raised upon a petition 24 for review filed with an appropriate court of appeals in accordance with this section.” 25 See also Ajlani v. Chertoff, 545 F.3d 229, 235 (2d Cir. 2008) (“[J]urisdiction to review 26 such claims is vested exclusively in the courts of appeals[.]”). The petition-for-review 27 process before the court of appeals ensures that noncitizens have a proper forum for 28 claims arising from their immigration proceedings and “receive their day in court.”

1 J.E.F.M., 837 F.3d at 1031–32 (internal quotations omitted); see also Rosario v. Holder, 2 627 F.3d 58, 61 (2d Cir. 2010) (“The REAL ID Act of 2005 amended the [INA] to 3 obviate . . . Suspension Clause concerns” by permitting judicial review of 4 “nondiscretionary” BIA determinations and “all constitutional claims or questions of 5 law.”). These provisions divest district courts of jurisdiction to review both direct and 6 indirect challenges to removal orders, including decisions to detain for purposes of 7 removal or for proceedings. See Jennings, 583 U.S. at 294–95 (section 1252(b)(9) 8 includes challenges to the “decision to detain [an alien] in the first place or to seek 9 removal”).

10 In evaluating the reach of subsections (a)(5) and (b)(9), the Second Circuit has 11 explained that jurisdiction turns on the substance of the relief sought. Delgado v.
12 Quarantillo, 643 F.3d 52, 55 (2d Cir. 2011). Those provisions divest district courts of 13 jurisdiction to review both direct and indirect challenges to removal orders, including 14 decisions to detain for purposes of removal or for proceedings. See Jennings, 583 U.S.
15 at 294–95 (section 1252(b)(9) includes challenges to the “decision to detain [an alien] 16 in the first place or to seek removal[.]”). Here, Petitioner challenges the government’s 17 decision and action to detain, which arises from DHS’s decision to commence removal 18 proceedings, and is thus an “action taken . . . to remove [him/her] from the United 19 States.” See 8 U.S.C. § 1252(b)(9); see also, e.g., Jennings, 583 U.S. at 294–95; Velasco 20 Lopez v. Decker, 978 F.3d 842, 850 (2d Cir. 2020) (finding that 8 U.S.C. § 1226(e) did 21 not bar review in that case because the petitioner did not challenge “his initial 22 detention”); Saadulloev v. Garland, No. 3:23-CV-00106, 2024 WL 1076106, at *3 23 (W.D. Pa. Mar. 12, 2024) (recognizing that there is no judicial review of the threshold 24 detention decision, which flows from the government’s decision to “commence 25 proceedings”).

Accordingly, this Court lacks jurisdiction over this petition under 8 U.S.C. § 1252.¹ See Axcel S.Q.D.C. v. Bondi, No. 25-3348 (PAM/DLM), 2025 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 175957 (D. Minn. Sept. 9, 2025).

B. Petitioner is Lawfully Detained

Petitioner's claims for alleged statutory and constitutional violations fail because Petitioner is subject to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225.

Based on the plain language of the statute, Petitioner's detention is governed by § 1225. Section 1225(b)(2)(A) requires mandatory detention of “an alien who is an applicant for admission, if the examining immigration officer determines that an alien seeking admission is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted[.]” Chavez v. Noem, No. 3:25-cv-02325, 2025 WL 2730228, at *4 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 24, 2025) (quoting 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A)) (emphasis in original). Section 1225(a)(1) “expressly defines that ‘[a]n alien present in the United States who has not been admitted ... shall be deemed for purposes of this Act an applicant for admission.’” Id. (quoting 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1)) (emphasis in original). Here, Petitioner is an “alien present in the United States who has not been admitted.” Thus, as found by the district court in Chavez v. Noem and as mandated by the plain language of the statute, Petitioner is an “applicant for admission” and subject to the mandatory detention provisions of § 1225(b)(2).

When the plain text of a statute is clear, “that meaning is controlling” and courts “need not examine legislative history.” Washington v. Chimei Innolux Corp., 659 F.3d

¹ On an alternative basis, the Court should ensure Petitioner properly exhausts administrative remedies. The Ninth Circuit requires that “habeas petitioners exhaust available judicial and administrative remedies before seeking relief under § 2241.” Castro–Cortez v. INS, 239 F.3d 1037, 1047 (9th Cir. 2001). “When a petitioner does not exhaust administrative remedies, a district court ordinarily should either dismiss the petition without prejudice or stay the proceedings until the petitioner has exhausted remedies, unless exhaustion is excused.” Leonardo v. Crawford, 646 F.3d 1157, 1160 (9th Cir. 2011); see also Alvarado v. Holder, 759 F.3d 1121, 1127 n.5 (9th Cir. 2014) (issue exhaustion is a jurisdictional requirement); Tijani v. Holder, 628 F.3d 1071, 1080 (9th Cir. 2010) (no jurisdiction to review legal claims not presented in the petitioner's administrative proceedings before the BIA).

1 842, 848 (9th Cir. 2011). But to the extent legislative history is relevant here, nothing
2 “refutes the plain language” of § 1225. Suzlon Energy Ltd. v. Microsoft Corp., 671 F.3d 3 726, 730 (9th Cir. 2011). Congress passed the Illegal Immigration Reform and 4 Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 (IIRIRA) to correct “an anomaly whereby 5 immigrants who were attempting to lawfully enter the United States were in a worse 6 position than persons who had crossed the border unlawfully.” Torres v. Barr, 976 F.3d 7 918, 928 (9th Cir. 2020) (en banc), declined to extend by, United States v. Gambino-
8 Ruiz, 91 F.4th 981 (9th Cir. 2024); see Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. at 223-9 34 (citing H.R. Rep. No. 104-469, pt. 1, at 225 (1996)). It “intended to replace certain 10 aspects of the [then] current ‘entry doctrine,’ under which illegal aliens who have 11 entered the United States without inspection gain equities and privileges in immigration 12 proceedings that are not available to aliens who present themselves for inspection at a 13 port of entry.” Id. (quoting H.R. Rep. 104-469, pt. 1, at 225). A contrary interpretation 14 would put aliens who “crossed the border unlawfully” in a better position than those 15 “who present themselves for inspection at a port of entry.” Id. Aliens who presented at 16 a port of entry would be subject to mandatory detention under § 1225, but those who 17 crossed illegally would be eligible for a bond under § 1226(a). See Matter of Yajure
18 Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. at 225 (“The House Judiciary Committee Report makes clear 19 that Congress intended to eliminate the prior statutory scheme that provided aliens who 20 entered the United States without inspection more procedural and substantive rights 21 than those who presented themselves to authorities for inspection.”). The Court should 22 “‘refuse to interpret the INA in a way that would in effect repeal that statutory fix’ 23 intended by Congress in enacting the IIRIRA.” Chavez, 2025 WL 2730228, at *4 24 (quoting Gambino-Ruiz, 91 F.4th at 990).

25 The plain language of § 1225(b)(2) does not contradict nor render § 1226(a) 26 superfluous. In Chavez v. Noem, the district court noted that § 1226(a) “‘generally 27 governs the process of arresting and detaining’ certain aliens, namely ‘aliens who were 28 inadmissible at the time of entry or who have been convicted of certain criminal offenses

1 since admission.” Chavez, 2025 WL 2730228, at *5 (quoting Jennings, 583 U.S. at 2 288) (emphasis in original). In turn, individuals who have not been charged with 3 specific crimes listed in § 1226(c) are still subject to the discretionary detention 4 provisions of § 1226(a) as determined by the Attorney General. See 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a)
5 (“On a warrant issued by the Attorney General, an alien may be arrested and detained 6 pending a decision on whether the alien is to be removed from the United States.”) 7 (emphasis added). Therefore, heeding the plain language of § 1225(b)(2) has no effect 8 on § 1226(a). Similarly, the application of § 1225’s explicit definition of “applicants for 9 admission” does not render the addition of § 1226(c) by the Riley Laken Act 10 superfluous. Once again correctly determined by the district court in Chavez v. Noem, 11 the addition of § 1226(c) simply removed the Attorney General’s detention discretion 12 for aliens charged with specific crimes. 2025 WL 2730228, at *5.

13 One of the most basic interpretative canons instructs that a “statute should be 14 construed so that effect is given to all its provisions.” See Corley v. United States, 556 15 U.S. 303, 314 (2009) (cleaned up). If Congress did not want § 1225(b)(2)(A) to apply 16 to “applicants for admission,” then it would not have included the phrase “applicants 17 for admission” in the subsection. See 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A); see also Corley, 556 18 U.S. at 314.

19 Finally, the phrase “alien seeking admission” does not limit the scope of 20 § 1225(b)(2)(A). The BIA has long recognized that “many people who are not actually 21 requesting permission to enter the United States in the ordinary sense are nevertheless 22 deemed to be ‘seeking admission’ under the immigration laws.” Matter of Lemus-Losa, 23 25 I&N Dec. 734, 743 (BIA 2012) (emphasis in original). Statutory language “is known 24 by the company it keeps.” Marquez-Reyes v. Garland, 36 F.4th 1195, 1202 (9th Cir.
25 2022) (quoting McDonnell v. United States, 579 U.S. 550, 569 (2016)). The phrase 26 “seeking admission” in § 1225(b)(2)(A) must be read in the context of the definition of 27 “applicant for admission” in § 1225(a)(1). Applicants for admission are both those 28 individuals present without admission and those who arrive in the United States. See 8

1 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1). Both are understood to be “seeking admission” under § 1225(a)(1).
2 See Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. at 221; Lemus-Losa, 25 I&N Dec. at 743.
3 Congress made that clear in § 1225(a)(3), which requires all aliens “who are applicants 4 for admission or otherwise seeking admission” to be inspected by immigration officers.
5 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(3). The word “or” here “introduce[s] an appositive—a word or 6 phrase that is synonymous with what precedes it (‘Vienna or Wien,’ ‘Batman or the 7 Caped Crusader’).” United States v. Woods, 571 U.S. 31, 45 (2013). Further, 8 § 1225(a)(5) provides that “[a]n applicant for admission may be required to state under 9 oath any information sought by an immigration officer regarding the purposes and 10 intentions of the applicant in seeking admission to the United States.” The reasonable 11 import of this particular phrasing is that one who is an applicant for admission is 12 considered to be “seeking admission” under the statute.

13 Because Petitioner is properly detained under § 1225, Petitioner cannot show 14 entitlement to relief.

15 Even if the Court infers a constitutional right against prolonged mandatory 16 detention, Petitioner’s claim still fails. “In general, as detention continues past a year, 17 courts become extremely wary of permitting continued custody absent a bond hearing.” 18 Sibomana v. LaRose, No. 22-cv-933-LL-NLS, 2023 WL 3028093, at *4 (S.D. Cal. Apr.
19 20, 2023) (citation omitted); see also, e.g., Sanchez-Rivera v. Matuszewski, 20 No. 22-cv-1357-MMA-JLB, 2023 WL 139801, at *6 (S.D. Cal. Jan. 9, 2023) (detained 21 for three years); Durand v. Allen, No. 3:23-cv-00279-RBM-BGS, 2024 WL 711607, at 22 *5 (S.D. Cal. Feb. 21, 2024) (over two-and-a-half years); Yagao v. Figueroa, 23 No. 17-cv-2224-AJB-MDD, 2019 WL 1429582, at *2 (S.D. Cal. Mar. 29, 2019) (two 24 years). Petitioner’s detention falls significantly short of the length courts have found to 25 raise due process concerns.

26 Respondents acknowledge that courts in this district have recently rejected 27 similar arguments in other similar habeas matters. Respondents maintain that Petitioner 28 is properly subject to mandatory detention under § 1225 and dismissal is proper. Cf.

1 Vargas Lopez v. Trump, No. 8:25CV526, 2025 WL 2780351, at *9 (D. Neb. Sept. 30, 2 2025); Sandoval v. Acuna, No. 6:25-CV-01467, 2025 WL 3048926, at *5 (W.D. La.
3 Oct. 31, 2025). To the extent the Court finds this Petitioner subject to detention authority 4 under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a), Respondents' position is that the proper remedy would be 5 directing a bond hearing under § 1226(a). See 8 U.S.C. § 1226(e) ("No court may set 6 aside any action or decision by the Attorney General under this section regarding the 7 detention of any alien or the revocation or denial of bond or parole."); Jennings v.
8 Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281, 295 (2018) ("As we have previously explained, § 1226(e) 9 precludes an alien from 'challeng[ing] a "discretionary judgment" by the Attorney 10 General or a "decision" that the Attorney General has made regarding his detention or 11 release.' But § 1226(e) does not preclude 'challenges [to] the statutory framework that 12 permits [the alien's] detention without bail.'"); 8 U.S.C. § 1226(b) ("The Attorney 13 General at any time may revoke a bond or parole authorized under subsection 14 (a), rearrest the alien under the original warrant, and detain the alien.").

17 IV. CONCLUSION

18 For the foregoing reasons, Respondents respectfully request that the Court 19 dismiss this action.
