Case No.: 25-cv-03224-CAB-BLM

PETITIONER'S TRAVERSE
SUPPORTING PETITION FOR WRIT
OF HABEAS CORPUS

1 A. Petitioner's Habeas Claims Are Not Barred by 8 U.S.C. § 1252

2 Section 1252 does not bar jurisdiction here because this action concerns Petitioner's
3 unlawful detention. Respondents contend Petitioner is subject to the mandatory detention
4 provisions of Section 1225(b)(2), and that ICE had authority to re-detain the Petitioner.

6 Here, Petitioner does not make any claim or cause of action arising from any decision
7 to commence or adjudicate removal proceedings or execute removal orders. Petitioner does 8 not dispute the commencement or any other aspect of his removal proceedings nor does he 9 have a removal order. In short, Petitioner challenges nothing related to his removal
10 proceedings – he challenges the Respondents' re-detention and revocation of his conditional 11 parole. Therefore, the jurisdictional bar under 8 U.S.C. § 1252(g) does not apply here.

12 The government's contention that 8 U.S.C. § 1252(b)(9) bars jurisdiction of this Court
13 is similarly unavailing. Petitioner is not seeking “[j]udicial review of all questions of law 14 and fact . . . arising from any action taken or proceeding brought to remove an alien from 15 the U.S.. Again, the Petitioner is not challenging anything with respect to his removal
16 proceedings – he is challenging his unlawful detention. As previously stated, the Petitioner
17 cannot be seeking judicial review of a final order of removal, as he does not have a removal
18 order. Petitioner' removal proceedings continue to be pending in immigration court.
19

20 This action concerns an unlawful detention and the Supreme Court and Ninth Circuit 21 have rejected the contention that § 1252(g) covers all claims arising from deportation
22 proceedings or imposes a general jurisdictional limitation. See Dep't of Homeland Sec. v.
23 Regents of the Univ. of Cal., 591 U.S. 1, 19, 140 S. Ct. 1891, 207 L. Ed. 2d 353 (2020); see also 24

1 Arce v. United States, 899 F.3d 796, 800 (9th Cir. 2018) ("[W]e have limited [§ 1252(g)]'s
2 jurisdiction-stripping power to actions challenging the Attorney General's discretionary
3 decisions to initiate proceedings, adjudicate cases, and execute removal orders.")

4 B. Petitioner is Not Subject to Mandatory Detention

5 Petitioner is not lawfully detained under § 1225(b)(2) as alleged by Respondents.

7 First, Petitioner is not an arriving alien “seeking admission” and he is not in expedited
8 removal proceedings. The Ninth Circuit in Torres v. Barr, 976 F.3d 918 (9th Cir. 2020) (en 9 banc) held that the phrase “application for admission” refers to the specific point in time
10 when a noncitizen submits an application to physically enter the United States. It is not a 11 perpetual status. Although Petitioner may have been seeking admission on April 22, 2023, 12 when he had arrived in the U.S. and apprehended at the border, he was released into the 13 country shortly thereafter. Over two years later, he is no longer “seeking admission”; he is 14 physically present and challenging his detention pending removal proceedings. United States
15 v. Gambino-Ruiz, 91 F.4th 981, 989-990 (9th Cir. 2024). As such, the mandatory detention 16 provisions of Section 1225(b)(2) do not apply.

17 Respondents rely on Chavez v. Noem, --- F. Supp. 3d ---, 2025 WL 2730228 at 5 18 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 24, 2025) (“Heeding the plain language of the statute also does not 19 contradict or render superfluous § 1226” nor “the addition of § 1226(c) by the [Laken 20 Riley] Act. . . .”). That decision, however, did not address the statutory requirement that 21 for Section 1225(b)(2)(A) to apply, the noncitizen must be “seeking admission.” See
22 Ayala-Pinto v. Larose, 3:25-cv-02971, FN 1 (S.D. Cal.) Date Filed: Nov. 3, 2025
23 (Rejecting Respondents’ reliance on Chavez and granting the petition).

Further, since the filing of the Petition in this matter, the Central District of California has issued Maldonado Bautista v. Noem, No. 5:25-cv-01873-SSS-BFM (C.D. Cal. November 20, 2025) echoing the numerous other district courts in stating that those noncitizens apprehended inside the U.S. – like the Petitioner – are subject to Section 1226(a), and not Section 1225(b). In Maldonado Bautista, the Court stated that the “Respondents endorse an interpretation of § 1225 that effectively removes § 1226 from existence.” Id. at 15. “If the Court were to accept Respondents’ position that all noncitizens already in the country (regardless of whether they were inspected and authorized by an immigration officer) were ‘applicants for admission,’ then there would be no possible set of noncitizens to which § 1226(a) would apply.” Id. Further, the November 25, 2025 District Court order confirms that the court’s prior November 20, 2025 order on partial summary judgment applies to the nationwide class. The court stated explicitly “[w]hen considering this determination with the MSJ Order, the Court extends the same declaratory relief granted to Petitioners to the Bond Eligible Class as a whole.” at 14.

Moreover, the Respondents’ Return does not address why the Order of Release on Recognizance with respect to Petitioner’s release in 2023 specifically states that the release is under Section 1226, yet the Petitioner is now suddenly subject to Section 1225’s mandatory detention provisions. In short, the Respondents’ position that Petitioner is subject to 1225(b)(2) defies both the plain language of the statute, decades of practice by Respondents as well as Ninth Circuit and Supreme Court precedent.

1 C. Petitioner’s Parole Revocation and Re-Detention Violates Due Process

2 The Respondents’ Return erroneously claims ICE has absolute authority to revoke a 3 custody determination at any time. Specifically, Respondents contend that “while some 4 courts have recognized due process limitations on the authority of the government to revoke
5 parole depending on the facts of the case, to imply into existence a broad bar on any release
6 revocation by ICE—assigning that authority instead strictly to immigration courts—is 7 inconsistent with the statutory scheme.” (See Docket 5, p. 14 lines 19-22.)

9 Numerous courts have, however, determined ICE’s authority to revoke conditional
10 parole is constrained by the due process clause – including the Supreme Court in Morrissey
11 v. Brewer, 408 U.S. 471, 480-82 (1972) (a parolee's liberty involves significant values within 12 the protection of the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment) and the Ninth 13 Circuit in Hernandez v. Sessions, 872 F.3d 976, 981 (9th Cir. 2017) (“the government’s 14 discretion to incarcerate non-citizens is always constrained by the requirements of due
15 process”). The guidance of the BIA provided by Matter of Sugay, 17 I&N Dec. 647 (BIA 16 1981)—that ICE should not re-arrest a noncitizen absent changed circumstances—is 17 insufficient to protect Petitioner’s weighty interest in his freedom from detention.

18 In accordance with the Supreme Court and Ninth Circuit, federal district courts in 19 California have also repeatedly recognized that the demands of due process and the 20 limitations on DHS’s authority to revoke a noncitizen’s bond or parole set out in DHS’s
21 stated practice and Matter of Sugay both require a pre-deprivation hearing for a noncitizen 22 on bond, like Petitioner, before ICE re-detains him. See, e.g., Ortega v. Bonnar, 415 F. Supp.
23 3d 963 (N.D. Cal. 2019); Vargas v. Jennings, No. 20-CV-5785-PJH, 2020 WL 5074312, at 24

*3 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 23, 2020); Jorge M. F. v. Wilkinson, No. 21-CV-01434-JST, 2021 WL 783561, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 1, 2021).

But “even when ICE has the initial discretion to detain or release a noncitizen pending removal proceedings, after that individual is released from custody she has a protected liberty interest in remaining out of custody.” Pinchi v. Noem, 792 F. Supp. 3d 1025, 1032 (N.D. Cal. 2025) (citing Romero v. Kaiser, Case No. 22-cv-02508-TSH, 2022 WL 1443250, at *2 (N.D. Cal. May 6, 2022) (“[T]his Court joins other courts . . . facing facts similar to the present case and finds Petitioner raised serious questions going to the merits of his claim that due process requires a hearing before an IJ prior to re-detention.”)); see Padilla v. U.S. ICE, 704 F. Supp. 3d 1163, 1172 (W.D. Wash. 2023) (“The Supreme Court has consistently held that non-punitive detention violates the Constitution unless it is strictly limited, and, typically, accompanied by a prompt individualized hearing before a neutral decisionmaker to ensure that the imprisonment serves the government’s legitimate goals.”)

Petitioner’s re-arrest and the revocation of his release on conditional parole without a pre-deprivation hearing violate the Due Process Clause. The Due Process Clause prohibits deprivations of life, liberty, and property without due process of law. U.S. Const. amend. V. “[T]he Due Process Clause applies to all ‘persons’ within the United States, including [noncitizens], whether their presence here is lawful, unlawful, temporary, or permanent.” Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678, 693 (2001). Courts analyze procedural due process claims such as this one in two steps: the first asks whether there exists a protected liberty interest under the Due Process Clause, and the second examines the procedures necessary to ensure any deprivation of that protected liberty interest accords with the Constitution. See Kentucky

1 Dep't of Corrections v. Thompson, 490 U.S. 454, 460 (1989).

2 To determine which procedures are constitutionally sufficient to satisfy the Due
3 Process Clause, Courts apply the three-part test established in Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S.
4 319 (1976), which are: (1) “the private interest that will be affected by the official action;” 5 (2) the “risk of an erroneous deprivation of such interest through the procedures used, and 6 the probable value, if any, of additional or substitute procedural safeguards;” and (3) “the 7 Government’s interest including the function involved and the fiscal and administrative 8 burdens that the additional or substitute procedural requirement would entail.” Id. at 335.

9 All three factors support a finding that Respondents’ revocation of Petitioner’s
10 conditional parole release without an opportunity to be heard deprived Petitioner of his due
11 process rights. First, Petitioner has a significant liberty interest in remaining out of custody
12 pursuant to his conditional parole. For three years preceding his re-detention on September 13 18, 2022, Petitioner exercised that freedom under an immigration officer’s decision to 14 granting him conditional parole after a determination that he presented neither a flight risk 15 nor a danger to the community. In the three years following him release, Petitioner has 16 married a U.S. citizen and has established extensive community ties.

17 Although Petitioner was released on conditional parole (and thus under government 18 custody), he retained a weighty liberty interest under the Due Process Clause of the Fifth
19 Amendment in avoiding re-incarceration. See Young v. Harper, 520 U.S. 143, 146-47
20 (1997); Gagnon v. Scarpelli, 411 U.S. 778, 781-82 (1973); Morrissey v. Brewer, 408 U.S.
21 471, 482-483 (1972). “Even individuals who face significant constraints on their liberty or 22 over whose liberty the government wields significant discretion retain a protected interest in
24

1 their liberty.” Pinchi, 792 F. Supp. 3d at 1032. Although the initial decision to detain or 2 release an individual may be within the government’s discretion, “the government’s decision 3 to release an individual from custody creates ‘an implicit promise,’ upon which that 4 individual may rely, that their liberty ‘will be revoked only if [they] fail[] to live up to the . .
5 . conditions of release.’” Id. (quoting Morrissey v. Brewer, 408 U.S. 471, 482 (1972)); see 6 also Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 690 (“Freedom from imprisonment— from government custody,
7 detention, or other forms of physical restraint—lies at the heart of the liberty [the Due 8 Process Clause] protects.”); Morrissey, 408 U.S. at 482 (“Subject to the conditions of his 9 parole, he can be gainfully employed and is free to be with family and friends and to form
10 the other enduring attachments of normal life.”); Oliveros v. Kaiser, No. 25-CV-07117-
11 BLF,. 2025 WL 2677125, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 18, 2025)

13 “Second, the risk of an erroneous deprivation of such interest is high as Petitioner’s 14 parole was revoked without . . . giving [him] an opportunity to be heard.” Gonzalez Salazar
15 v. Casey, Case No.: 25-CV-2784 JLS (VET), 2025 WL 3063629, at *4 (S.D. Cal. Nov. 3, 16 2025); see also Singh v. Andrews, No. 1:25-cv-00801-KES-SKO (HC), 2025 WL 1918679, 17 at *7 (E.D. Cal. July 11, 2025) (finding where, as here, Petitioner “has not received any bond 18 or custody redetermination hearing,” the “risk of an erroneous deprivation of liberty is 19 high”). “Civil immigration detention is permissible only to prevent flight or protect against 20 danger to the community.” Pinchi, 792 F. Supp. 3d at 1035 (citing Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 690).

21 Here, there is no evidence that Petitioner’s detention would serve either purpose.
22 “Since DHS’s initial determination that Petitioner should be paroled because [he] posed no
23 danger to the community and was not a flight risk, there is no evidence that these findings
24

1 have changed.” Gonzales Salazar, 2025 WL 3063629, at *3 (citing Saravia v. Sessions, 280
2 F. Supp. 3d 1168, 1176 (N.D. Cal. 2017) (“Release reflects a determination by the 3 government that the noncitizen is not a danger to the community or a flight risk.”). See 4 Ledesma Gonzalez v. Bostock, 2025 WL 2841574, at *1, 8 (granting habeas petition and 5 ordering bond hearing where ICE re-detained the petitioner the day after an immigration 6 judge denied the petitioner’s application for asylum).

7 Third, Respondents’ interest in detaining Petitioner without a hearing is low. See 8 Ortega v. Bonnar, 415 F. Supp. 3d 963, 970 (N.D. Cal. 2019) (“If the government wishes to 9 re-arrest [the petitioner] at any point, it has the power to take steps toward doing so; but its 10 interest in doing so without a hearing is low.”); Pinchi, 792 F. Supp. 3d at 1036 (“Detention 11 for its own sake, to meet an administrative quota, or because the government has not yet
12 established constitutionally required pre-detention procedures is not a legitimate government 13 interest.”). “Therefore, because Respondents detained Petitioner by revoking [his] parole in 14 violation of the Due Process Clause, [his] detention is unlawful.” Gonzalez Salazar, at *5.
15 See also, Doe v. Becerra, 2:25-cv-00647, (E.D. Cal. 2025); Rodriguez-Flores v. F. Semaia et 16 al., No. CV 25-6900 JGB (JCX), 2025 WL 2684181 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 14, 2025).

17 Based on the Mathews factors, due process requires Petitioner to be released from 18 custody and receive a bond hearing before an IJ before he can be re-detained.
19

20 D. The Appropriate Remedy is Immediate Release

21 Any arguments by Respondents that the proper remedy would be directing a bond 22 hearing under § 1226(a) “misapprehend[s] the purpose of a pre-detention hearing: if 23 Petitioner is detained, he will already have suffered the injury he is now seeking to avoid.”
24

1 Jorge M.F. v. Jennings, 534 F. Supp. 3d 1050, 1055 (N.D. Cal. 2021); see also E.A. T.-B. v.
2 Wamsley, --- F. Supp. 3d ---, 2025 WL 2402130, at *6 (W.D. Wash. 2025) (“Although the
3 Government notes that Petitioner may request a bond hearing while detained, such a post-4 deprivation hearing cannot serve as an adequate procedural safeguard because it is after the 5 fact and cannot prevent an erroneous deprivation of liberty.”); Domingo v. Kaiser, Case No.
6 25-cv-05893, 2025 WL 1940179, at *3 (N.D. Cal. July 14, 2025) (“Even if Petitioner[]
7 received a prompt post-detention bond hearing under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) and was released at 8 that point, he will have already suffered the harm that is the subject of his motion; that is, his 9 potentially erroneous detention.”).

10 This is not a case of someone who entered without inspection but was never 11 previously detained. As affirmed recently by the Central District of California, the remedy
12 for that class of non-citizens is a bond hearing. Maldonado Bautista v. Noem, No. 5:25-cv-13 01873-SSS-BFM (C.D. Cal. November 20, 2025). This case concerns the class of non-14 citizens who entered without inspection, were detained shortly after entry, were then 15 released, but then later re-detained. In other words, this is a re-detention case involving the 16 due process violation of the Petitioner not being provided with a hearing prior to being re-
17 detained. As such, the appropriate remedy for such a violation is immediate release.

18 Courts in this district have joined a growing chorus of district courts that have 19 recognized that noncitizens have a significant liberty interest in both “continued freedom 20 after release on own recognizance,” and have ordered release. Alegria Palma v. Larose, No.
21 25-cv-1942-BJC-MMP, ECF No. 14, at *6 (S.D. Cal. Aug. 11, 2025) (emphasis added), and 22 in “freedom from imprisonment” after “the government grants a [noncitizen] parole into the country,” Sanchez v. LaRose, No. 25-CV-2396-JESMMP, 2025 WL 2770629, at *3 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 26, 2025) (emphasis added). See also Prieto-Cordova, No. 25-cv-2824-CAB-DDL, 2025 WL 3228953 (S.D. Cal. Nov. 19, 2025); Faizyan v. Casey, No. 25-cv-02884-RBM-JLB, 2025 WL 3208844 (S.D. Cal. Nov. 17, 2025); Sayed Naser Noor v. Christopher LaRose, et al., No. 25-CV- 1824-GPC-MSB, 2025 WL 2800149, at *14 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 1, 2025) (explaining that a petitioner is no longer an “arriving” noncitizen after release by Respondents, including when a courtroom arrest occurs while INA section 240 proceedings remain ongoing); N.A. v. LaRose et al. Case No.: 25-cv-2384-RSH-BLM (S.D. Cal. Oct. 7, 2025); Ramazan M. v. Andrews, No. 25-cv-01356-KES-SKO (HC), 2025 WL 3145562 (E.D. Cal. Nov. 20, 2025); Gomez Vilela v. Robbins, No. 25-cv-01393-KES-HBK (HC), 2025 WL 3101334 (E.D. Cal. Nov. 6, 2025); Pablo Sequen v. Albarran, No. 25-cv-06487-PCP, 2025 WL 2935630 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 15, 2025); Hyppolite v. Noem, No. 24-cv-4304 (NRM), 2025 WL 2829511 (E.D. N.Y. Oct. 6, 2025); Lopez-Arevelo v. Ripa, No. EP-25-CV-337-KC, 2025 WL 2691828 (W.D. Tex. Sept. 22, 2025); Ramirez Tesara v. Wamsley, No. 25-cv-01723-MJPTLF, 2025 WL 2637663 (W.D. Wash. Sept. 12, 2025); E.A. T.-B. v. Wamsley, No. C25-1192-KKE, 2025 WL 2402130 (W.D. Wash. Aug. 19, 2025).

Just recently, this Court ordered the immediate release of a noncitizen re-detained without the required notice or hearing. Sanchez Avalos v. Noem, No. 3:25-cv-02906-CAB-VET (S.D. Cal. November 24, 2025). The noncitizen there – like the Petitioner – was re-detained without due process after having previously been detained and released on his own recognizance. As such, immediate release (and not a bond hearing) is also the appropriate remedy here.
