

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
MIDDLE DISTRICT OF GEORGIA

LUCIO ABRAHAM EUCEDA PAZ
Petitioner

Case No. 4:26-CV-162

PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

JASON STREEVAL, Warden of Stewart
Detention Center;

LADEON FRANCIS, Field Office Director of
Enforcement and Removal Operations, Atlanta
Field Office (ERO Atlanta);

TODD M. LYONS, Senior Official Performing the Duties of Director, Immigration and Customs Enforcement;

DAREN K. MARGOLIN, Director, Executive
Office For Immigration Review (EOIR);

KRISTI NOEM, Secretary, U.S. Department of Homeland Security(DHS);

PAMELA BONDI, U.S. Attorney General; in their official capacities,

Respondents.

INTRODUCTION

1. Petitioner, Mr. Lucio Abraham Euceda Paz is an asylum seeker from Honduras who entered the United States without inspection (EWI) over 2 years ago and was not apprehended upon arrival. Mr. Euceda Paz was apprehended by immigration authorities on or around January 13, 2026. The Respondents keep Mr. Euceda Paz detained at the Stewart Detention Center in Lumpkin, Georgia.

2. Mr. Euceda Paz is a member of a nationwide class of noncitizens who are in immigration detention and being denied access to a bond hearing based on the government's allegation that they entered the United States without admission or inspection (colloquially referred to as "entered without inspection" or "EWI").

3. On November 25, 2025, the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California granted declaratory relief to the entire class in Maldonado Bautista v. Santacruz, No. 5:25-CV-01873-SSS-BFM (C.D. Cal.),¹ (See, Exhibit. 1) holding that the government is unlawfully subjecting them to mandatory (meaning no-bond) detention and that class members are eligible for release on bond under the immigration laws. Under the Court's order, class members should be able to request a bond hearing in immigration court before an immigration

¹ On November 20, 2025, the district court granted partial summary judgment on behalf of individual plaintiffs holding that the government's policy is inconsistent with the plain language of the Immigration and Nationality Act ("INA"), and that petitioners are properly subject to § 1226(a); and on November 25, 2025, , the Court certified a nationwide class and expressly "extend[ed] the same declaratory relief granted to Petitioners to the Bond Eligible Class as a whole." Maldonado Bautista v. Santacruz, No. 5:25-CV-01873-SSS-BFM, --- F. Supp. 3d ---, 2025 WL 3289861, at *9, 11 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 20, 2025) (order granting partial summary judgment to named Plaintiffs-Petitioners); Maldonado Bautista v. Santacruz, No. 5:25-CV-01873-SSS-BFM, --- F. Supp. 3d ---, 2025 WL 3288403, at *9 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 25, 2025) (order certifying Plaintiffs-Petitioners' proposed nationwide Bond Eligible Class, incorporating and extending declaratory judgment from Order Granting Petitioners' Motion for Partial Summary Judgment). The declaratory judgment held that the Bond Denial Class members are detained under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) and thus may not be denied consideration for release on bond under § 1225(b)(2)(A). Maldonado Bautista, 2025 WL 3289861, at *11.

1 judge (IJ) who must consider whether they are suitable for release on bond while their removal
2 proceedings are pending.

3 4. Because the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) and the Executive Office
4 for Immigration Review (EOIR) have refused to abide by the declaratory judgment issued on 5 behalf of the certified class in Maldonado Bautista v. Santacruz, Mr. Euceda Paz is likely to face
6 many additional months in detention. Mr. Euceda Paz has no other option but to bring this
7 petition for a writ of habeas corpus to enforce his rights a member of the Bond Eligible Class
8 certified in Maldonado Bautista v. Santacruz, id.

9 5. Mr. Euceda Paz also seeks relief from this Court, as a detainee under INA §
10 1226(a), independent of any claim to class membership, because his continued, lengthy 11 immigration related detention is anyhow unconstitutional due to the violation of his 12 constitutional right to due process under the Fifth Amendment, the violation of the 13 Administrative Procedure Act (APA) unlawful denial of bond, and the violation of statutory 14 rights under the INA for unlawful denial of bond hearings

15 6. Accordingly, to vindicate Mr. Euceda Paz's rights, as a member of the Bond 16 Eligible Class in Maldonado Bautista, as well as under the Constitution of the United States, and 17 his statutory rights under INA, this Court should grant the instant petition for a writ of habeas 18 corpus.

19 7. Therefore, the Court should order Petitioner's release unless Respondents provide 20 a bond hearing under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) within seven days.

21 JURISDICTION

22 8. This action arises under the Constitution and the Immigration and Nationality Act, 23 8 U.S.C. § 1101 et seq

15. Furthermore, Respondents are employees, officers, and agencies of the United States, and because a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claims occurred and continue to occur at the Atlanta Field Office of ICE's Enforcement and Removal Operations division (ERO Atlanta) within the Middle District of Georgia's District and Division.

REQUIREMENTS OF 28 U.S.C. § 2243

16. The federal habeas corpus statute provides that “[a] court, justice or judge entering a writ of habeas corpus shall forthwith award the writ or issue an order directing the respondent to show cause why the writ should not be granted, unless it appears from the application that the applicant or person detained is not entitled thereto.” 28 U.S.C. § 2243.

17. Courts have long recognized the significance of the habeas statute in protecting individuals from unlawful detention. Habeas corpus is “perhaps the most important writ known to the constitutional law . . . affording as it does a swift and imperative remedy in all cases of illegal restraint or confinement.” Fay v. Noia, 372 U.S. 391, 400 (1963) (emphasis added). “The application for the writ usurps the attention and displaces the calendar of the judge or justice who entertains it and receives prompt action from him within the four corners of the application.” Yong v. I.N.S., 208 F.3d 1116, 1120 (9th Cir. 2000) (citation omitted).

18. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2243, Mr. Euceda Paz, respectfully requests, and this Court should grant the petition for writ of habeas corpus “forthwith,” as the legal issues have already been resolved for class members in Maldonado Bautista.

19. However, if pursuant to Section 2243, this Court issues an order to show cause (OSC), it must direct the respondents to file a return showing why the petition for a writ of habeas corpus filed by Mr. Euceda Paz pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2241 should not be granted.

20. As provided by Section 2243, the writ or order to show cause must be returned by the respondents “within three days unless for good cause additional time, not exceeding twenty days, is allowed.” 28 U.S.C. § 2243 (emphasis added).

21. Nonetheless, giving the Respondents additional time to respond is inappropriate in this case because Mr. Euceda Paz faces unjustified detention for an extended period of time without being able to challenge his detention at a bond hearing in immigration court while the immigration proceedings are pending. It is important to note, that should Mr. Euceda Paz continue to fight his case, respondents will not offer the opportunity for pre-removal release.

22. Thus, Mr. Euceda Paz's period of detention is uncertain because of the backlog in the immigration courts. Mr. Euceda Paz's ongoing, and prolonged detention carries the separation from his wife, his 14 years old daughter, and 8 years old child. Additionally, the harshness of detention could not only affect his physical health or expose him to psychological trauma, but it could also hinder communications with the undersigned attorney in preparation for his defense. Furthermore, it could also be used to pressure him to accept abandon any claims of immigration relief and accept deportation.

23. Absent a grant of this petition for writ of habeas corpus or an issuance of an Order to show cause, the respondents will cause irreparable harm to Mr. Euceda Paz by subjecting him to an indefinite deprivation of his liberty and other fundamental rights.

PARTIES

24. Mr. LUCIO ABRAHAM EUCEDA PAZ is a citizen of Honduras that has resided in the United States since 2023. He was arrested while a passenger in a vehicle that was stopped by ICE at a road checkpoint. He has been in immigration detention since around January 13, 2026.

1 24. Respondent, Mr. SEAN ERVIN, Field Office Director of Enforcement and 2 Removal Operations, is the Director of the, Atlanta Field Office of ICE's Enforcement and 3 Removal Operations division (ERO Atlanta). As such, Mr. Ervin, Field Office Director of 4 Enforcement and Removal Operations, is Petitioner's immediate custodian and is responsible for 5 Petitioner's detention and removal. He is named in his official capacity.

6 25. Respondent, TODD M. LYONS, is the Senior Official Performing the Duties of 7 Director of the U.S. Immigration Customs Enforcement, is the federal agency responsible for 8 custody decisions relating to non-citizens charged with being removable from the United States,
9 including the arrest, detention, and custody status of non-citizens. Mr. Lyons has responsibility
10 for the administration of the immigration laws pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1103 and is a legal 11 custodian of Mr. Nolasco Gomez. He is sued in his official capacity.

12 26. Respondent, JASON STREEVAL, is on information and belief, an employee of 13 CoreCivic, the private corporation which runs the Stewart Detention Center in Lumpkin,
14 Georgia. contract facility where Petitioner is detained. On information and belief, Mr. Streeval's
15 job title is Warden of the Stewart Detention Center. He has immediate physical custody of Mr.
16 Euceda Paz. He is sued in his official capacity.

17 27. Respondent, DAREN K. MARGOLIN, is the Director of the Executive Office
18 for Immigration Review (EOIR), is the federal agency responsible for implementing and 19 enforcing the INA in removal proceedings, including for custody redeterminations in bond 20 hearings. He is sued in his official capacity.

2 Noem has ultimate custodial authority over Petitioner and is sued in her official capacity.

3 29. Respondent, PAMELA BONDI, is the Attorney General of the United States.
4 She is responsible for the Department of Justice, of which the Executive Office for Immigration
5 Review and the immigration court system it operates is a component agency. She is sued in her 6 official capacity.

7 STATEMENT OF FACTS

8 30. Mr. Lucio Abraham Euceda Paz is a 45-year-old man who was born in Honduras.

9 31. Mr. Euceda Paz entered the United States without inspection (EWI) back in 2023.

10 32. Mr. Euceda Paz was forced to leave his home country, with his wife and minor
11 child due to persecution by gangs' that demanded a weekly "tax" (extortion fee) of 1,500
12 lempiras. Mr. Euceda Paz's family was under death threat if the money was not paid.

13 33. At one point, Mr. Euceda Paz was intercepted by gang members, when returning
14 home from work, who [REDACTED] He managed to escape but arrived home

15 [REDACTED].

16 34. At the time of his entry in the United States presented himself to CBP officials at 17 or near the border, he passed a Credible fear Interview (CFI), and close in time was released
18 under an Order of Supervision (OSUP) directing him to appear at regular ICE check-ins.

19 35. On or around January 13, 2026, Mr. Euceda Paz was wrongfully detained by ICE
20 agents while a passenger in a vehicle that was stopped by ICE at a road checkpoint.

21 36. As to the time of his arrest, Mr. Euceda Paz had been complying with the 22 conditions of release, reporting himself to ICE officials taking his picture and sending them via a 23 designated App. He was current with his ICE check in appointments.

1 37. Mr. Euceda Paz is in the physical custody of Respondents at the Stewart
2 Detention Center in Lumpkin Georgia.

3 38. Mr. Euceda Paz is a member of the Bond Eligible Class, as he:

- 4 a. Does not have lawful status in the United States and is currently detained at the 5 Stewart Detention Center.
- 6 b. entered the United States without inspection over 2 years ago and presented 7 himself to CBP officials at or near the border and close in time to their entry, was 8 released and then re-detained by immigration authorities after residing in the United States, cf. id.; and
- c. is not subject nor detained under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c), § 1225(b)(1), or § 1231.

9 39. DHS had placed Mr. Euceda Paz in removal proceedings pursuant to 8 U.S.C. §
10 1229a. DHS issued a “Notice To Appear” (NTA) charging him as being inadmissible under 8
11 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(6)(A)(i), as someone who entered the United States without inspection, and 12 under 8 U.S.C. § 212(a)(7)(A)(i)(I) as not in possession of a valid unexpired immigrant visa, 13 reentry permit, border crossing card, or other valid entry document required by the Act (INA).

14 40. Respondents are bound by the judgment in Maldonado Bautista, as it has the full 15 “force and effect of a final judgment.” 28 U.S.C. § 2201(a). Nevertheless, Respondents continue 16 to flagrantly defy the judgment in that case and continue to subject Mr. Euceda Paz to unlawful 17 detention despite his clear entitlement to consideration for release on bond as a Bond Eligible 18 Class member.

19 41. Mr. Euceda Paz is scheduled to have a Master Hearing, which is merely the 20 commencement of the removal proceedings, on April 16, 2026, at 8:30 a.m. It is important to 21 note that the Executive Office for Immigration Review and its subagency the Immigration Court
22 and the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) have blatantly refused to abide by the 23

1 declaratory relief and have unlawfully ordered that Petitioner be denied the opportunity to be
2 released on bond.

3 42. With this in mind, it is of extreme urgency that this Court issue a decision as early
4 as practicable. This will allow the undersigned attorney to effectively argue for Mr. Euceda Paz's
5 release and ensure that the Immigration Judge afford Mr. Euceda Paz a bond hearing as ordered 6 in the judgment in Maldonado Bautista and in accordance with his due process right.

7 43. Therefore, the Court should expeditiously grant this petition.

8 9 LEGAL FRAMEWORK

10 A. HABEAS CORPUS

11 44. "Habeas relief is available when a person is 'in custody in violation of the 12 Constitution or laws or treaties of the United States.'" Lopez-Campos v. Raycraft, No. 2:25-cv-
13 12486, 2025 WL 2496379, at *3 (E.D. Mich. Aug. 29, 2025) (quoting 28 U.S.C. § 2241(c)(3)).

14 45. The right to file a petition for a writ of habeas corpus is intended to, at a 15 minimum, provide "a means of reviewing the legality of Executive detention." Rasul v. Bush, 16 542 U.S. 466, 474 (2004) (quoting INS v. St. Cyr, 533 U.S. 289, 301 (2001)).

17 46. In the context of immigration, there are two main sources of authority for habeas 18 corpus petition. The first, is the civil habeas statute, 28 U.S.C. § 2241. It provides that:

19 (a) Writs of habeas corpus may be granted by the Supreme Court, any justice thereof,
20 the district courts and any circuit judge within their respective jurisdictions. The order
21 of a circuit judge shall be entered in the records of the district court of the district 22 wherein the restraint complained of is had.

23 (c) The writ of habeas corpus shall not extend to a prisoner unless—

24 (1) He is in custody under or by color of the authority of the United States or is committed for trial before some court thereof; or

1 ...
2 (3) He is in custody in violation of the Constitution or laws or treaties of the United States 28 U.S. Code § 2241 - Power to grant writ.

3 47. The second basis of jurisdiction, is the Suspension Clause of the U.S. Constitution, 4 also known as the Great Writ. See U.S. Const. art. I, § 9, cl. 2 (“The Privilege of the Writ of 5 Habeas Corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in Cases of Rebellion or Invasion the public
6 Safety may require it.”).

7 B. DUE PROCESS CLAUSE, US CONSTITUTION

8 48. The Fifth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution protects every person from being 9 “deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law.” U.S. Const. amend. V § 2.

10 49. In the immigration context, the Supreme Court extended these constitutional 11 protections to all noncitizens within the United States, including those who entered unlawfully, 12 declaring that “[noncitizens] who have once passed through our gates, even illegally, may be 13 expelled only after proceedings conforming to traditional standards of fairness encompassed in 14 due process of law.” See, Shaughnessy v. United States ex rel. Mezei, 345 U.S. 206, 212 (1953); 15 see also Mathews v. Diaz, 426 U.S. 67, 77 (1976) (There are literally millions of aliens within 16 the jurisdiction of the United States. The Fifth Amendment, as well as the Fourteenth
17 Amendment, protects every one of these persons from deprivation of life, liberty, or property
18 without due process of law.); Plyler v. Doe, 457 U.S. 202, 215 (1982) (holding that unlawfully
19 present aliens were entitled to both due process and equal protection under the Fourteenth 20 Amendment).

21 50. The Court reasoned that noncitizens physically present in the United States, 22 regardless of their legal status, are recognized as persons guaranteed due process of law by the 23 Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments. Plyler, 457 U.S. at 210 (citing Mezei, 345 U.S. at 212; Wong

1 Wing v. United States, 163 U.S. 228, 238 (1896); Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356, 369 (1886)).
2 Thus, the Court determined, [e]ven one whose presence in this country is unlawful, involuntary,
3 or transitory is entitled to that constitutional protection. Mathews, 426 U.S. at 77; see also 4 Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678, 693 (2001) (explaining that the Due Process Clause applies to 5 all ‘persons’ within the United States, including aliens, whether their presence here is lawful,
6 unlawful, temporary, or permanent). “The Due Process Clause extends to all ‘persons’ regardless 7 of status, including non-citizens (whether here lawfully, unlawfully, temporarily, or 8 permanently).” Lopez-Campos, 2025 WL 2496379, at *9 (citing Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S.
9 678, 690 (2001); Demore v. Kim, 538 U.S. 510, 523 (2003) (quoting Reno v. Flores, 507 U.S.
10 292, 306 (1993)).

11 51. Accordingly, notwithstanding Congress’s indisputably broad power to regulate 12 immigration, fundamental due process requirements notably constrained that power with respect
13 to aliens within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States. See Kwong Hai Chew, 344 U.S.
14 590, 596–97 (1953) (explaining that a lawful permanent resident may not be deprived of his life, 15 liberty or property without due process of law, and thus cannot be deported without notice of the 16 nature of the charge and a hearing at least before an executive or administrative tribunal).

17 52. This fundamental due process protection applies to all noncitizens, including both 18 removable and inadmissible noncitizens. See Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678, 721 (2001)
19 (Kennedy, J., dissenting) (“[B]oth removable and inadmissible [noncitizens] are entitled to be 20 free from detention that is arbitrary or capricious”). It also protects noncitizens who have been 21 ordered removed from the United States and who face continuing detention, Diouf v. Napolitano, 22 634 F.3d 1081, 1086-87 (9th Cir. 2011), as well as those noncitizens deemed “arriving” under 23 the INA, Jennings v. Rodriguez, 138 S.Ct. 830, 862 (2018). (Breyer, J., dissenting) (stating that

1 “arriving” noncitizens enjoy due process protections against prolonged detention because they
2 are “are held within the territory of the United States at an immigration detention facility” (citing 3 Wong Wing v. United States, 163 U.S. 228, 238 (1896)); see also Kwai Fun Wong v. United 4 States, 373 F.3d 952, 973-74 (9th Cir. 2004) (concluding that the “entry fiction” does not 5 preclude substantive constitutional protection for noncitizens considered “arriving”).

6 53. As a matter of context, in the last two decades, the Supreme Court has addressed
7 several challenges to the immigration detention scheme. For instance, in Zadvydas v. Davis, 533
8 U.S. 678, 721 (2001), the Supreme Court explained that “Freedom from imprisonment—from 9 government custody, detention, or other forms of physical restraint—lies at the heart of the 10 liberty” that the Due Process Clause protects. Id. at 690. The Supreme Court then held that the 11 government must demonstrate that a noncitizen’s removal is reasonably likely to occur if the 12 noncitizen remains detained for six months after the removal period specified in 8 U.S.C. §
13 1231(a)(6). 533 U.S. at 701. In doing so, the Court recognized a presumption that detention 14 longer than six months following a noncitizen’s removal period violates that noncitizen’s due 15 process right to liberty. Id.

16 54. In Demore v. Kim, 538 U.S. 510, 523 (2003), the Supreme Court upheld the 17 mandatory detention of a noncitizen under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c) based on the petitioner’s
18 concession of deportability and the Court’s understanding that detention under § 1226(c) is 19 typically “brief.” Demore, 538 U.S. at 522 n.6, 528. Nevertheless, the Supreme Court’s decision
20 in Demore did not foreclose a noncitizen’s right to challenge prolonged detention that does not 21 provide protections that permit a noncitizen to challenge continued confinement.

22 55. To guarantee against such arbitrary detention and to guarantee the right to liberty,
23 due process requires “adequate procedural protections” that ensure the government’s asserted
24

1 justification for a noncitizen's physical confinement "outweighs the individual's constitutionally
2 protected interest in avoiding physical restraint." Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 690 (internal quotation
3 marks omitted).

4 56. Following Zadvydas and Demore, circuit court of appeals that confronted the 5 issue found either that the INA or due process require a bond hearing or release for noncitizens
6 subject to unreasonably prolonged detention pending removal proceedings. See, e.g., Sopo v.
7 U.S. Attorney Gen., 825 F.3d 1199 (11th Cir. 2016), vacated as moot, 890 F.3d 952 (11th Cir.
8 2018); Reid v. Donelan, 819 F.3d 486 (1st Cir. 2016); Lora v. Shanahan, 804 F.3d 601 (2d Cir.
9 2015); Rodriguez v. Robbins (Rodriguez III), 804 F.3d 1060 (9th Cir. 2015); Diop v.
10 ICE/Homeland Sec., 656 F.3d 221 (3d Cir. 2011); Ly v. Hansen, 351 F.3d 263 (6th Cir. 2003).

11 57. Later, in Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281 (2018), the Supreme Court held that 12 the Ninth Circuit erred by interpreting 8 U.S.C. §§ 1226(c) and 1225(b) to require bond hearings
13 as a matter of statutory construction. The Supreme Court concluded that §§1225(b), 1226(a), and 14 1226(c) do not give detained [noncitizens] the right to periodic bond hearings during the course
15 of their detention. Because the Ninth Circuit had not decided whether the Constitution itself
16 requires bond hearings in cases of prolonged detention, the Court remanded for the Ninth Circuit
17 to address the issue. Id. at 851. The Court's majority opinion did not express any views on the 18 constitutional question and left it to the lower courts to address the issue in the first instance.

19 58. In his dissent, Justice Breyer expressed that "to hold a [person] without bail is to 20 deprive him of bodily "liberty..." "...where there is no bail proceeding, there has been no bail-
21 related "process" at all." citing United States v. Salerno, 481 U. S. 739 –751 (1987). Justice 22 Breyer also mentioned that "[f]reedom from bodily restraint has always been at the core of the 23 liberty protected by the Due Process Clause from arbitrary governmental action."

1 citing Foucha v. Louisiana, 504 U. S. 71, 80 (1992); Demore v. Kim, 538 U. S. 510, 532 (2003)
2 (Kennedy, J., concurring); Zadvydas, 533 U. S., at 718 (Kennedy, J., dissenting). To Justice
3 Breyer “[t]he Due Process Clause foresees eligibility for bail as part of due process” because 4 “[b]ail is basic to our system of law.” Jennings, at 862, (citing Salerno, supra, at 748–
5 751; Schilb v. Kuebel, 404 U. S. 357, 365 (1971); Stack v. Boyle, 342 U. S. 1, 4 (1951)).

6 59. Since the Supreme Court’s Jennings decision, lower courts have expressed that 7 “...any statute that allows for arbitrary prolonged detention without any process is 8 unconstitutional or that those who founded our democracy precisely to protect against the 9 government’s arbitrary deprivation of liberty would have thought so.” See. e.g., Rodriguez v.
10 Marin, 909 F.3d 252, 256 (9th Cir. 2018).

11 60. In immigration cases, civil detention has been found to only permissible where it 12 bears a “reasonable relation to the purpose for which the individual was committed.” Jackson v.
13 Indiana, 406 U.S. 715, 738 (1972). As concluded in Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. at 690, due
14 process thus requires “adequate procedural protections” to ensure that the government’s asserted
15 justification for a noncitizen’s physical confinement “outweighs the individual’s constitutionally 16 protected interest in avoiding physical restraint.” Id. at 690 (internal quotation marks omitted).

17 61. Also, and relevant here, in the immigration context, the Supreme Court has 18 recognized only two valid purposes for civil detention: to mitigate the risks of danger to the 19 community and to prevent flight. Id.; Demore, 538 U.S. at 528. The government may not detain a 20 noncitizen based on any other justification.

21 62. Thus, where the government detains a noncitizen for a prolonged period or where 22 the noncitizen pursues a substantial defense to removal or claim to relief, due process requires an 23 individualized hearing before a neutral decisionmaker to determine whether such a significant 24

1 deprivation of liberty is reasonably related to its purpose. Demore, 538 U.S. at 532 (Kennedy, J., 2 concurring) (stating that an “individualized determination as to [a noncitizen’s] risk of flight and
3 dangerousness” may be warranted “if the continued detention became unreasonable or 4 unjustified”); cf. Jackson v. Indiana, 406 U.S. 715, 733 (1972) (detention beyond the “initial 5 commitment” requires additional safeguards); McNeil v. Dir., Patuxent Inst., 407 U.S. 245, 249-
6 50 (1972) (noting that “lesser safeguards may be appropriate” for “short-term confinement”);
7 Hutto v. Finney, 437 U.S. 678, 685-86 (1978) (observing, in Eighth Amendment context, that 8 “the length of confinement cannot be ignored in deciding whether [a] confinement meets 9 constitutional standards”).

10 63. To determine if the prolonged detention of a noncitizen is reasonable, Courts have 11 applied a reasonableness test, which involves three main factors. First, courts have evaluated 12 whether the noncitizen has raised a “good faith” challenge to removal—that is, the challenge is 13 “legitimately raised” and presents “real issues.” Chavez-Alvarez v. Warden York Cty. Prison, 783
14 F.3d 469, 476 (3d Cir. 2015). Second, reasonableness is a “function of the length of the 15 detention,” with detention presumptively unreasonable if it lasts six months to a year. Id. at 477-
16 78; accord Sopo, 825 F.3d at 1217-18. In assessing the length of detention, delay attributable to 17 the government weighs against finding the detention reasonable. Sopo, 825 F.3d at 1218. Third,
18 courts consider the likelihood that detention will continue pending future proceedings. Chavez-
19 Alvarez, 783 F.3d at 478 (finding detention unreasonable after ninth months of detention, when 20 the parties could “have reasonably predicted that Chavez-Alvarez’s appeal would take a 21 substantial amount of time, making his already lengthy detention considerably longer”); Sopo, 22 825 F.3d at 128; Reid, 819 F.3d at 500.

1 64. Due process also requires certain minimal bond hearing procedures. First, the 2 government must bear the burden of proof by clear and convincing evidence to justify continued
3 detention. Second, the decisionmaker must consider available alternatives to detention. Finally, if 4 the government cannot meet its burden, a decisionmaker must assess a noncitizen's ability to pay
5 a bond must when determining the appropriate conditions of release.

6 65. The requirement that the government bear the burden of proof by clear and 7 convincing evidence is also supported by application of the three-factor balancing test from 8 Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319, 335 (1976). Under the Mathews test, Courts consider (1)
9 "the private interest that will be affected by the official action." (2) "the risk of an erroneous
10 deprivation of such interest," and (3) "the Government's interest, including the function involved
11 and the fiscal and administrative burdens that the additional or substitute procedural requirement 12 would entail." Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. at 335.

13 66. Due process also requires that a neutral decisionmaker consider alternatives to 14 detention. A primary purpose of immigration detention is to ensure a noncitizen's appearance 15 during removal proceedings. Detention is not reasonably related to this purpose if there are 16 alternative conditions of release that could mitigate risk of flight. See Bell v. Wolfish, 441 U.S.
17 520, 538 (1979).

18 67. Courts have ruled that automatically stayed release from detention is a violation of 19 the Fifth Amendment. See, e.g., Mohammed H. v. Trump, 781 F. Supp. 3d 886, 895 (D. Minn.
20 2025) (finding that it "does not require any showing of dangerousness or flight risk. Nor is it
21 subject to immediate review by an immigration judge. It operates by fiat and has the effect of 22 prolonging detention even after a judicial officer has determined that release on bond is 23 appropriate. That mechanism's operation here—in the absence of any individualized

1 justification—renders the continued detention arbitrary as applied. Cf. Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 2 699–700, 121 S.Ct. 2491.

3 68. The “recent shift to use the mandatory detention framework under Section
4 1225(b)(2)(A) is not only wrong but also fundamentally unfair. In a nation of laws vetted and 5 implemented by Congress, we don’t get to arbitrarily choose which laws we feel like following 6 when they best suit our interests.” Lopez-Campos, 2025 WL 2496379, at *10.

7 69. It is important to consider for asylum seekers detention is often lengthy and that 8 immigration detainees face severe hardships while incarcerated. Immigration detainees are held 9 in lock-down facilities, with limited freedom of movement and access to their families: “the 10 circumstances of their detention are similar, so far as we can tell, to those in many prisons and 11 jails.” Jennings, 138 S. Ct. at 861 (Breyer, J., dissenting); accord Chavez-Alvarez, 783 F.3d at 12 478; Ngo v. INS, 192 F.3d 390, 397-98 (3d Cir. 1999); Sopo, 825 F.3d at 1218, 1221. “And in 13 some cases[,] the conditions of their confinement are inappropriately poor.” Jennings, 138 S. Ct.
14 at 861 (Breyer, J., dissenting) (citing Dept. of Homeland Security (DHS), Office of Inspector
15 General (OIG), DHS OIG Inspection Cites Concerns With Detainee Treatment and Care at ICE
16 Detention Facilities (2017) (reporting instances of invasive procedures, substandard care, and 17 mistreatment, e.g., indiscriminate strip searches, long waits for medical care and hygiene 18 products, and, in the case of one detainee, a multiday lock down for sharing a cup of coffee with 19 another detainee)).

20 70. The above, is also a reality in Mr. Euceda Paz’s case. While in detention his 21 freedom of movement is completely limited, he is unable to earn a living, is separated from his 22 wife, and two children. These conditions and obstacles only further underscore the serious due 23 process concerns that prolonged immigration detention entails for Mr. Euceda Paz.

71. Upon weighing the Mathews factors this Court should find that the Government's interest in fewer bond hearings (the efficient processing on noncitizens for removal) is diminished. Additionally, since Mr. Euceda Paz's detention will continue pending future immigration proceedings, this Court should find that the Government's interest in denying him the opportunity for a bond hearing does not outweigh Mr. Euceda Paz's liberty interest and it will also create a high risk of erroneous deprivation to said right.

72. The government's decision that all noncitizens, like Mr. Euceda Paz, are to be mandatorily detained is arbitrary and affords to individuals like him no process, let alone due process. Therefore, it should be unconstitutional. See Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319 (1976).

C. The Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 ("INA")

73. The Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 ("INA"), codified in Chapter 12 of Title 8 of the United States Code, governs all aspects of immigration law. See 8 U.S.C. §§ 1101 et seq. Forming the basis of current immigration laws of the United States, the INA addresses issues of admission qualifications for noncitizens, naturalization and loss of nationality, refugee assistance, and removal procedures for noncitizen terrorists. Id. See also Margaret C. Jasper, The Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952, Legal Almanac: The Law of Immigration (2012).

74. Sections 8 U.S.C. §§ 1225, 1226 of the Immigration and Nationality Act ("INA") govern how the executive branch evaluates inadmissible noncitizens. Logically speaking, inspection or apprehension of the noncitizen is a necessary precondition of removal. Only after a noncitizen is identified as inadmissible can removal proceedings happen.² The Supreme Court

Amended Order Consolidating The Court's Orders On Motion For Partial Summary Judgment, Class Certification, And Application For Reconsideration Or Clarification.

1 has already distinguished these two provisions in Jennings v. Rodriguez. See 583 U.S. 281, 289
2 (2018). The Jennings Court determined that the government may “detain certain aliens seeking
3 admission into the country” under § 1225(b) while § 1226 “authorizes the Government to detain
4 certain aliens already in the country pending the outcome of removal proceedings.” Id.
5 (emphasis added).

6 75. Under § 1225, an “applicant for admission” is a noncitizen “present in the United 7 States who has not been admitted or who arrives in the United States.” 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1).
8 “[A]dmission” and “admitted” are defined as “the lawful entry of the alien into the United States 9 after inspection and authorization by an immigration officer.” 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(13)(A).

10 76. Section 1225(b)(1) of INA authorizes expedited removal for certain “applicants 11 for admission” in two categories. First, noncitizens “arriving in the United States” that are 12 determined by an immigration officer to be inadmissible due to misrepresentation or failure to 13 meet documents requirements. Id. at § 1225(b)(1)(A)(i); see also id. at § 1182(a)(6)(C), (a)(7).

14 77. Second, noncitizens that (a) are inadmissible because of misrepresentation or 15 failure to meet documents requirements; (b) have not “been admitted or paroled into the United 16 States”; (c) have not “affirmatively shown, to the satisfaction of an immigration officer, that 17 [they have] been physically present in the United States continuously for the 2-year period 18 immediately prior to the date of the determination of inadmissibility”; and (d) have been 19 designated by the Attorney General for expedited removal. Id. at § 1225(b)(1)(A)(iii).

20 78. These two categories of noncitizens subject to § 1225(b)(1) are subject to 21 mandatory detention “until certain proceedings have concluded.” Jennings, 583 U.S. at 297.
22 Individuals that fall into § 1225(b)(1) are “normally ordered removed ‘without further hearing or 23 review’ pursuant to an expedited removal process” unless claiming asylum or a fear of 24

1 persecution. Jennings, 53 U.S. at 287 (first quoting § 1225(b)(1)(A)(i); then citing §
2 1225(b)(1)(A)(ii)).

3 79. Noncitizens who are “seeking admission” and not covered by the expedited
4 removal provisions in § 1225(b)(1) are subject to Section 1225(b)(2). See id. at 287. This 5 category would include, for example, noncitizens who are arriving in the United States, seek 6 admission, and are inadmissible for some reason other than misrepresentation or failure to meet
7 documents requirements. See 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(2)–(3).

8 80. Section 1225(b)(2)(A) governs mandatory detention of applicants for admission.
9 Subject to limited exceptions, Section 1225(b)(2) provides that such noncitizens “shall be 10 detained” for full removal proceedings under § 1229a “if the examining immigration officer
11 determines” that the noncitizen “is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted.” Id. at 12 § 1225(b)(2)(A).³

13 81. On the other hand, Section 1226(a) “provides the general process for arresting and 14 detaining aliens who are present in the United States and eligible for removal.” This Section
15 provides for discretionary detention. 8 U.S.C. §1226(a). See, e.g., Rodriguez Diaz v. Garland, 53
16 F.4th 1189, 1196 (9th Cir. 2022).

17 82. Under § 1226(a), a noncitizen “may be arrested and detained” “[o]n a warrant
18 issued by the Attorney General” if their removal proceedings are pending, 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a).⁴

19
20 ³ (b) Inspection of applicants for admission

21 (2) Inspection of other aliens
22 (A) In general

23 Subject to subparagraphs (B) and (C), in the case of an alien who is an applicant for admission, if the examining immigration officer determines that an alien seeking admission is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted, the alien shall be detained for a proceeding under section 1229a of this title.
8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A).

24 ⁴ (a) Arrest, detention, and release

1 Detention pursuant to § 1226(a) is not mandatory. If the noncitizen was not charged with,
 2 arrested for, or convicted of certain criminal offenses enumerated in § 1226(c),⁵ the government
 3 has discretion to release them on “bond of at least $1,500 with security approved by, and 4 containing conditions prescribed by, the Attorney General; or ... conditional parole.” Id. at § 5 1226(a)(2)(A)–(B).

6 83. Beyond how noncitizens are identified as inadmissible, the one key distinction
 7 between these two Sections is that noncitizens detained under § 1226(a) are entitled to receive 8 bond hearings at the outset of detention. 8 C.F.R. §§ 236.1(d)(1). See also Jennings v. Rodriguez, 9 583 U.S. 281, 306 (2018).

10 84. Not only does § 1226(a) provide several layers of review of the agency’s initial 11 custody determination, but it also confers “an initial bond hearing before a neutral 12 decisionmaker, the opportunity to be represented by counsel and to present evidence, the right to 13 appeal, and the right to seek a new hearing when circumstances materially change.” See, e.g., 14 Rodriguez Diaz v. Garland, 53 F.4th 1189, 1202 (9th Cir. 2022) (observing that § 1226(a) and its

 17 On a warrant issued by the Attorney General, an alien may be arrested and detained pending a decision on whether the alien is to be removed from the United States. Except as provided in subsection (c) and pending such decision, the Attorney General—

18 (1) may continue to detain the arrested alien; and

19 (2) may release the alien on—

(A) bond of at least $1,500 with security approved by, and containing conditions prescribed by, the Attorney General... 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a).

20 ⁵ Known as the Laken Riley Act, subsection (c) of § 1226, provides for mandatory detention of 21 noncitizens found inadmissible or deportable under certain provisions and who have been “charged with,”
 “arrested for,” “convicted of,” or admit “having committed” certain listed crimes. 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c).
 22 “[N]oncitizens arrested and detained under § 1226 have a right to request a custody redetermination (i.e., a bond hearing) before an Immigration Judge.” Lopez-Campos v. Raycraft, No. 2:25-cv-12486, 2025 WL 23 2496379, at *4 (citing 8 C.F.R. 1236.1(c)(8), (d)(1)). “The IJ evaluates whether there is a risk of nonappearance or danger to the community.” Id. (citing Matter of Guerra, 24 I. & N. Dec. 37, 40 (BIA 2006)).

1 implementing regulations “provide extensive procedural protections that are unavailable under
2 other detention provision”).)

3 85. For decades the DHS had applied § 1226(a) and its discretionary release and 4 review of detention “to the vast majority of noncitizens allegedly in this country without valid
5 documentation”—a practice codified by regulation. See, e.g., Salcedo Aceros, 2025 WL
6 2737503, at *3. However, last year the Government upended this long-held understanding of the 7 law.

8 86. First, on July 8, 2025, U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (“ICE”) issued 9 an interim guidance memo stating that anyone who entered without inspection was ineligible for 10 release on bond and could not challenge their detention at a bond hearing in immigration court,
11 regardless of how long an individual has lived in the United States. ⁶ As result, DHS attorneys
12 started arguing, and some IJs started finding, that such individuals were not eligible for bond 13 hearings in immigration court.

14 87. Then, on September 5, 2025, the Board of Immigration Appeals (“BIA”) issued a 15 precedential decision binding on all IJs, holding that an IJ had no authority to consider bond
16 requests for any person who entered the United States without inspection. See Matter of Yajure
17 Hurtado, 29 I. & N. Dec. 216 (BIA 2025). The BIA determined that such individuals are subject
18 to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A) and therefore ineligible for release on 19 bond. In practice, DHS is not exercising this authority. As a result, thousands of people are 20 facing months or years in detention without any individualized consideration for whether they 21 should be detained.

23 ⁶ See, AILA Doc. No. 25071607, accessible through https://www.aila.org/library/ice-memo-interim-

88. But, as discussed above, the mandatory detention of applicants for admission applies after an examining immigration officer determines that [a noncitizen] seeking admission is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted. 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A). Additionally, it is important to note, that individuals who have not been inspected and authorized by an immigration officer lack the trait to be categorized as “applicants for admission” since statutory language of § 1225(b)(2) contemplates a determination by an “examining immigration officer” regarding a noncitizen’s admissibility. See § 1225(b)(2).⁷

89. However, the Government is now contending that anyone who entered without inspection remains an “applicant for admission” who is “seeking admission” and thus subject to mandatory detention under Section 1225(b)(2). See e.g., Rodriguez Vasquez v. Bostock, et al. 3:25-CV-05240-TMC, 2025 WL 2782499 (W.D. Wash. Sept. 30, 2025) (citing Torres v. Barr, 976 F.3d 918, 928 (9th Cir. 2020)).

90. In regard to this new interpretation, as of late 2025, several district courts have held that the Government’s new, and more expansive interpretation of mandatory detention under the INA is either incorrect or likely incorrect on the basis that this reading of the statute would render 1226(c) inoperable or moot. Several Courts have then rejected the government’s position and have held that such individuals are subject to § 1226(a) and thus eligible for a bond hearing. See also e.g., Rodriguez Vasquez v. Bostock, et al. 3:25-CV-05240-TMC, 2025 WL

⁷ “...based on a plain reading of the language and aided by these standard canons of statutory construction, § 1225(b)(2)(A) applies to aliens in the United States who have not been admitted (“applicants for admission” definition) AND who are attempting to obtain lawful admission to the United States. This interpretation is also consistent with the framework of § 1225, which focuses on the admission of aliens upon their arrival to the United States or upon an attempt to obtain admission after arrival...” See J.A.M. v. Streeval, No. 4:25-CV-342-CDL, 2025 WL 3050094 (M.D. Ga. Nov. 1, 2025) citing See K Mart Corp. v. Cartier, Inc., 486 U.S. 281, 291 (1988) (Kennedy, J.) (“In ascertaining the plain meaning of the statute, the court must look to the particular statutory language at issue, as well as the language and design of the statute as a whole.”) (emphasis added).

2782499 (W.D. Wash. Sept. 30, 2025); See e.g., Aguilar Merino v. Ripa, 25-23845-CIV, 2025 WL 2941609 (S.D. Fla. Oct. 15, 2025), and J.Y.L.C., v. Bostock, et al., 3:25-cv-02083-AB, (D. Or. Nov. 12, 2025) (collecting cases rejecting Matter of Yajure Hurtado).

91. One of those recent cases where the Court rejected the government's position, and relevant here, is Maldonado Bautista v. Santacruz, No. 5:25-CV-01873-SSS-BFM, --- F. Supp. 3d ---, 2025 WL 3289861 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 20, 2025). On November 20, 2025, the District Court granted partial summary judgment for the four petitioners, holding that the government's policy is inconsistent with the plain language of the Immigration and Nationality Act ("INA"), and that petitioners are properly subject to § 1226(a). See e.g., J.A.M. v. Streeval, No. 4:25-CV-342-CDL, 2025 WL 3050094 (M.D. Ga. Nov. 1, 2025) and P.R.S. v. Streeval, No. 4:25-cv-330-CDL, 2025 WL 3269947 (M.D. Ga. Nov. 24, 2025).

92. Then, on November 25, 2025, the Court certified all noncitizens in the United States without lawful status who (1) have entered or will enter the United States without inspection; (2) were not or will not be apprehended upon arrival; and (3) are not or will not be subject to detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c), § 1225(b)(1), or § 1231 at the time the Department of Homeland Security makes an initial custody determination as "the Bond Eligible Class." and expressly "extend[ed] the same declaratory relief granted to Petitioners to the Bond Eligible Class as a whole." Id., at *9 (emphasis added).

93. As expressed above, Mr. Euceda Paz is a member of the Maldonado Bautista Bond Eligible Class.

D. THE ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE ACT (APA), 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(A)

1 94. Section 706(2)(A) of the APA commands a reviewing court to “hold unlawful and
2 set aside agency action, findings, and conclusions” that are found to be “arbitrary, capricious, . . .
3 or otherwise not in accordance with law.” § 706(2)(A) (emphasis added).

4 95. APA claims are cognizable on habeas. 5 U.S.C. § 703 (providing that judicial 5 review of agency action under the APA may proceed by “any applicable form of legal action,
6 including actions for declaratory judgments or writs of prohibitory or mandatory injunction or 7 habeas corpus”). The APA affords a right of review to a person who is “adversely affected or 8 aggrieved by agency action.” 5 U.S.C. § 702.

9 96. Respondents’ continued detention of Mr. Euceda Paz for a prolong or otherwise
10 indefinite period of time without a bond hearing is adversely and severely affecting his liberty 11 and freedom.

12 E. EXHAUSTION

13 97. Section 706(2)(A) of the APA commands a reviewing court to “hold unlawful and
14 set aside agency action, findings, and conclusions” that are found to be “arbitrary, capricious, . . .
15 or otherwise not in accordance with law.” § 706(2)(A) (emphasis added).

16 98. Under the doctrine of exhaustion of administrative remedies, ‘a party may not 17 seek federal judicial review of an adverse administrative determination until the party has first 18 sought all possible relief within the agency itself.’” Howell v. INS, 72 F.3d 288, 291 (2d Cir.
19 1995) (quoting Guitard v. U.S. Sec’y of Navy, 967 F.2d 737, 740 (2d Cir. 1992)).

20 99. However, a party need not exhaust administrative remedies, however, when the 21 available remedies would “provide no genuine opportunity for adequate relief” or when 22 “administrative appeal would be futile.” Beharry v. Ashcroft, 329 F.3d 51, 62 (2d Cir. 2003)
23 (Sotomayor, J.) (quoting Able v. United States, 88 F.3d 1280, 1288 (2d Cir. 1996)). See also

1 McCarthy v. Madigan, 503 U.S. 140, 146-49 (1992), superseded by statute on other grounds as
2 stated in Booth v. Churner, 532 U.S. 731 (2001) (noting that traditional exceptions include where 3 exhaustion would cause “undue prejudice to subsequent assertion of a court action” or 4 “irreparable harm” to the petitioner, where there is “some doubt as to whether the agency was 5 empowered to grant effective relief,” or where it would be futile because “the administrative 6 body is shown to be biased or has otherwise predetermined the issue before it”) (internal 7 quotation marks omitted).

8 100. In the context of immigration, Congress has not explicitly mandated exhaustion.
9 Where Congress has not explicitly spoken, requiring the exhaustion of administrative remedies
10 lies within “sound judicial discretion.” McCarthy v. Madigan, 503 U.S. 140, 144 (1992). In 11 exercising that discretion, the Supreme Court has stated that “federal courts must balance the 12 interest of the individual in retaining prompt access to a federal judicial forum against 13 countervailing institutional interests favoring exhaustion.” Id. at 146. Those institutional interests
14 are “protecting administrative agency authority and promoting judicial efficiency.” Id. at 145.

15 101. The McCarthy Court also identified situations in which the interest of the 16 individual weighs heavily against the institutional interests. See id. at 146–49. Relevant here, “an 17 administrative remedy may be inadequate where the administrative body . . . has otherwise
18 predetermined the issue before it.” Id. at 148 (citing Gibson v. Berryhill, 411 U.S. 564, 575, n.14 19 (1973)).

20 102. Further, constitutional challenges have been found exempt from administrative 21 exhaustion requirements. See Khan v. Atty. Gen. of U.S., 448 F.3d 226, 236 n.8 (3d Cir. 2006)
22 (internal alterations and quotations omitted) (“[D]ue process claims generally are exempt from 23 the exhaustion requirement because the BIA does not have jurisdiction to adjudicate
24

1 constitutional issues.”); United States v. Gonzalez-Roque, 301 F.3d 39, 48 (2d Cir. 2002)

3 Vargas v. U.S. Dep’t of Immigration & Naturalization, 831 F.2d 906, 908 (9th Cir. 1987))).

4 103. As mentioned above, on July 8, 2025, the U.S. Immigration and Customs
5 Enforcement (“ICE”) was instructed, via an interim guidance memo, that anyone who entered 6 without inspection (EWIs) is ineligible for release on bond. Then, on September 5, 2025, the 7 Board of Immigration Appeals (“BIA”) held that “[b]ased on the plain language of section
8 235(b)(2)(A) of the [INA], Immigration Judges lack authority to hear bond requests or to grant
9 bond to aliens who are present in the United States without admission.” See Matter of Yajure
10 Hurtado, 29 I. & N. Dec. 216 (BIA 2025).

11 104. In accordance with the July 8, 2025 interim guidance memo and the Board of 12 Immigration Appeals (BIA) decision in Matter of Yajure Hurtado, DHS’ attorneys have the 13 practice of arguing, and Immigration Court IJs throughout the country, including those stationed 14 at Stewart Detention Center, have started finding that individuals, such as Mr. Euceda Paz, could 15 not challenge their detention at a bond hearing in immigration court, regardless of how long an 16 individual has lived in the United States. As result, individuals, such as Mr. Euceda Paz, are 17 denied bond hearings in immigration court.

18 105. Since the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) is an administrative body located 19 in the DOJ, which, of course, is part of the executive branch of the government. Its members are 20 appointed by the Attorney General, and its decisions are binding on all immigration judges,
21 Yajure Hurtado thus precludes an IJ from finding jurisdiction over noncitizens, like Mr. Euceda
22 Paz, to hold a bond hearing. As such, this Court should find that the agency's position is already 23 set and recourse to administrative remedies is very likely futile.

1 106. Additionally, Immigration judges have informed class members in bond hearings
2 that they have been instructed by “leadership” that the declaratory judgment in Maldonado
3 Bautista is not controlling, even with respect to class members, and that instead IJs remain bound
4 to follow the agency’s prior decision in Matter of Yajure Hurtado, 29 I. & N. Dec. 216 (BIA 5 2025).

6 107. Since the government has already predetermined that anyone who entered without 7 inspection (EWIs) is ineligible for release on bond, established a no-bond for EWIs policy, and 8 has resorted to an across-the-board application of § 1225(b)(2), Mr. Euceda Paz had to proceed
9 directly to filing this petition for writ of habeas corpus based on Maldonado Bautista class 10 membership and for the violation to his statutory and constitutional rights.

11 108. Requiring exhaustion, in this case, would not further the ends of judicial 12 efficiency and protecting administrative authority because it would simply delay the resolution of 13 Mr. Euceda Paz’s legal questions. It is important to consider that in detention cases, appeals to 14 the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) can take months or years. Thus, requiring habeas 15 petitioners, such as Mr. Euceda Paz, to appeal to the BIA to prudentially exhaust is not efficient, 16 would cause irreparable harm by continuing to deprive him of his liberty.

17 109. Thus, Mr. Euceda Paz’s individual interest in having prompt access to this forum 18 outweighs any institutional interests at stake.

19 110. Therefore, the Court should consider the merits of the Petition. This Court
20 intervention, to enjoin the Respondents from preventing Mr. Euceda Paz from having a bond 21 hearing pursuant to the holding in Hurtado, is necessary to enable him to avail himself of his 22 administrative remedies.

CLAIM FOR RELIEF

COUNT 1: REQUEST FOR RELIEF PURSUANT TO MALDONADO BAUTISTA

111. Petitioner, Mr. Euceda Paz, repeats, re-alleges, and incorporates by reference each and every allegation in the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

112. As a member of the Bond Eligible Class, Mr. Euceda Paz is entitled to consideration for release on bond under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a).

113. The Order granting partial summary judgment in Maldonado Bautista holds that Respondents violate the INA in applying the mandatory detention statute at § 1225(b)(2) to class members.

114. The Order granting class certification in Maldonado Bautista further orders that “[w]hen considering this determination with the MSJ Order, the Court extends the same declaratory relief granted to Petitioners to the Bond Eligible Class as a whole.”

115. Respondents are parties to Maldonado Bautista and bound by the Court’s declaratory judgment, which has the full “force and effect of a final judgment.” 28 U.S.C. § 2201(a).

116. By denying Mr. Euceda Paz a bond hearing under § 1226(a) and wrongly asserting that he is subject to mandatory detention under § 1225(b)(2), Respondents violate Mr. Cruz Arcos’ statutory rights under the INA and the Court’s judgment in Maldonado Bautista.

COUNT 2: UNCONSTITUTIONAL DETENTION IN VIOLATION OF THE FIFTH AMENDMENT

117. Petitioner, Mr. Euceda Paz, repeats, re-alleges, and incorporates by reference each and every allegation in the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

118. “Freedom from imprisonment—from government custody, detention, or other forms of physical restraint—lies at the heart of the liberty that [the] Clause protects.” Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678, 690 (2001).

1 119. Civil immigration detention is only permissible where it bears a “reasonable
2 relation to the purpose for which the individual was committed.” Jackson v. Indiana, 406 U.S.
3 715, 738 (1972); Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 690. Those purposes are limited: preventing flight and 4 protecting the community. Demore v. Kim, 538 U.S. 510, 528 (2003).

5 120. Mr. Euceda Paz’s immigration proceedings are at an early stage, and he could 6 raise a “good faith” challenge to removal as a victim of persecution.

7 121. Additionally, there is no removal order. His removal is not imminent or 8 reasonably foreseeable. Therefore, Mr. Euceda Paz’s continued and prolonged detention does not 9 bear a reasonable relation to the purpose for which it was committed. It is important to note that 10 the reasonableness of his detention can only be established once the government satisfies its 11 burden of proof to show by clear and convincing evidence that community protection or flight
12 risk concerns apply to him. This can only happen in a bond hearing, which the Respondents are 13 not affording to Mr. Euceda Paz. See Jackson v. Indiana, 406 U.S. 715, 738 (1972); Zadvydas, 14 533 U.S. at 690.

15 122. Furthermore, the mandatory detention provision at 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2) does 16 not apply to noncitizens, such as Mr. Euceda Paz, residing in the United States who are subject to 17 the grounds of inadmissibility only because they previously entered the country without being 18 admitted.

19 123. Mr. Euceda Paz is detained under § 1226(a) and is not subject to another 20 detention provision, such as 1225(b)(1), § 1226(c), or § 1231.

21 124. However, in accordance with the BIA decision in Matter of Yajure Hurtado, DHS
22 attorneys have the practice of arguing and IJs throughout the country, including those stationed 23 the Stewart Detention Center, have started finding that individuals, such as Mr. Euceda Paz,

1 could not challenge their detention at a bond hearing in immigration court, regardless of how
2 long an individual has lived in the United States. As result, individuals such as, Mr. Euceda Paz, 3 are denied bond hearings in immigration court.

4 125. These cumulative actions render his detention even more constitutionally suspect,
5 as they reflect punitive conduct rather than civil processing.

6 126. Respondents lack statutory authority to detain Mr. Euceda Paz under Section
7 1225(b)(2) because that statute does not apply to noncitizens in his circumstances. Accordingly,
8 Mr. Euceda Paz's continued detention constitutes a deprivation of liberty without due 9 process of law. The Court should order his release.

10 COUNT 3: VIOLATION OF INA AND ITS 11 IMPLEMENTING REGULATIONS; 8 U.S.C. § 1226(A)
UNLAWFUL DENIAL OF BOND HEARINGS

12 127. Petitioner, Mr. Euceda Paz, herein incorporates all allegations and facts set forth
13 in the paragraphs above.

14 128. The mandatory detention provision at 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2) does not apply to 15 noncitizens, such as Mr. Euceda Paz, residing in the United States who are only subject to the 16 grounds of inadmissibility because they previously entered the country without being admitted.

17 129. Mr. Euceda Paz is detained under § 1226(a) and is not subject to the any detention 18 provisions proscribed in 1225(b)(1), § 1226(c), or § 1231.

19 130. The government's no-bond for EWIs policy and the incorrect, willful, and 20 capricious application of § 1225(b)(2) to Mr. Euceda Paz violates the Immigration and 21 Nationality Act.

22 COUNT 4: UNLAWFUL DENIAL OF BOND HEARING IN 23 VIOLATION OF EIGHTH AMENDMENT RIGHT TO BAIL

1 131. Petitioner, Mr. Euceda Paz, re-alleges and incorporates by reference the 2 paragraphs above.

3 132. The Eighth Amendment of the United States Constitution prohibits “cruel and 4 unusual punishments.” U.S. Const. amend. VIII cl. 4.2.

5 133. Bail is “basic to our system of law.” It not only “permits the unhampered 6 preparation of a defense,” but also “prevent[s] the infliction of punishment prior to 7 conviction.” Jennings, at 862, (Breyer, J., dissenting) citing Salerno, supra, at 748–
8 751; Schilb v. Kuebel, 404 U. S. 357, 365 (1971); Stack v. Boyle, 342 U. S. 1, 4 (1951).

9 134. The government’s categorical, incorrect, willful, and capricious application of § 10 1225(b)(2) to Mr. Euceda Paz and continued detention without a bond hearing results in 11 indefinite and unconstitutional imprisonment which surmounts to a cruel and unusual
12 punishment in violation of the Eighth Amendment

13 135. For these reasons, Mr. Euceda Paz’s ongoing and prolonged detention without a 14 bond hearing violates the Eighth Amendment.

15 COUNT 5: CONTINUED DETENTION WITHOUT BOND
16 HEARING IN VIOLATION OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE
17 PROCEDURE ACT, 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(A)

18 136. Petitioner, Mr. Euceda Paz, herein incorporates all allegations and facts set forth
19 in the paragraphs above.

20 137. The mandatory detention provision at 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2) does not apply to 21 noncitizens, such as Mr. Euceda Paz, residing in the United States who are only subject to the 22 grounds of inadmissibility because they originally entered the United States without inspection.
23 Such noncitizens are detained under § 1226(a), unless they are subject to another detention 24 provision, such as § 1225(b)(1), § 1226(c) or § 1231.

1 138. The Mr. Euceda Paz is detained under § 1226(a) and is not subject to the any 2 detention provisions proscribed in 1225(b)(1), § 1226(c), or § 1231.

3 139. Nonetheless, IJs stationed at Stewart Detention Center have a policy and practice
4 of applying § 1225(b)(2) and denying bond hearings to detainees, such as Mr. Euceda Paz.

5 140. Respondents continue to keep Mr. Euceda Paz detained under the wrong
6 provision of INA. Such action against Mr. Euceda Paz is arbitrary, capricious, and not in 7 accordance with law, and as such, it violates the APA. See 5 U.S.C. § 706(2).

8 PRAYER FOR RELIEF

9 WHEREFORE, Petitioner, Lucio Abraham Euceda Paz, prays that this Court grant the following 10 relief:

- 11 a. Assume jurisdiction over this matter;
- 12 b. Issue an Order prohibiting the Respondents from transferring Petitioner from the 13 district without the court's approval;
- 14 c. Issue a declaration that Respondents are detaining Petitioner in violation of the 15 declaratory judgment issued in Maldonado Bautista;
- 16 d. Expedite consideration of this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1657 because it is an 17 action brought under chapter 153 (habeas corpus) of Title 28;
- 18 e. Issue a Writ of Habeas Corpus requiring that within one day, Respondents release
19 Petitioner; on his own recognizance, under parole, or on low bond or any other 20 reasonable conditions of supervision;
- 21 f. Alternatively, issue a Writ of Habeas Corpus, hold a hearing before this Court if 22 warranted to determine if the Petitioner should be subject to mandatory detention 23 under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2); require Respondents to release Petitioner unless they 24 provide a bond hearing under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) within seven days;

- 1 a. Issue a declaration that Petitioner's ongoing prolonged detention violates the Due 2 Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment and the Eighth Amendment.
- 3 a. Award Petitioner attorney's fees and costs under the Equal Access to Justice Act
4 (EAJA), as amended, 28 U.S.C. § 2412, and on any other basis justified under 5 law; and
- 6 b. Grant any other and further relief that this Court deems just and proper.

7 Respectfully submitted,
