UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
SAN ANTONIO DIVISION

Zonia Ramos Sanchez, Petitioner, v. Miguel Vergara, et al., Respondents.	Civil Action No. 5:26-CV-00636-XR

RESPONSE TO PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS CONSIDERING RECENT FIFTH CIRCUIT PRECEDENT

Federal Respondents provide the following response to Petitioner's habeas petition.[1] Any allegations that are not specifically admitted herein are denied. Petitioner is not entitled to the relief sought, including attorney's fees under the Equal Access to Justice Act ("EAJA").[2] Petitioner is subject to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2). This conclusion is appropriate under recent precedent, where the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals held that aliens, like Petitioner, who entered the United States without inspection and who are not "clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted," "shall be detained" under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A) until the conclusion of their removal proceedings. Buenrostro v. Bondi, No. 25-20496, ---- F.4th 2026 WL 323330, at *1 (5th Cir. Feb. 6, 2026). The Buenrostro decision is binding precedent and requires that the Court deny this habeas petition.[3]

3 The Buenrostro decision is a published decision and precedential authority even though the mandate has yet to issue. See, e.g., Martin v. Singletary, 965 F.2d 944, 945 n.1 (11th Cir. 1992) (explaining that even a stay in the issuance of a mandate does not impact the precedential value of published opinions); *Acute Care Ambul. BACKGROUND

Petitioner claims she is detained in ICE custody with a final order of removal. ECF No. 1 ¶ 1. Petitioner, however, reserved appeal of the immigration judge's removal order and timely filed the appeal with the Board of Immigration Appeals ("BIA") on December 17, 2025. Exh. A. Contrary to Petitioner's pleadings, Petitioner's removal order is not final, and she remains in removal proceedings subject to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2), not 8 U.S.C. § 1231.

Petitioner's allegations do not explain her manner of entry into the United States, but nowhere in the petition does she claim to have ever been inspected, admitted, or paroled into the United States. Instead, Petitioner erroneously alleges she has a final order of removal and that her detention is governed by 8 U.S.C. § 1231. She claims her continued detention violates the Fifth Amendment and the Immigration and Nationality Act ("INA"). Id. ¶¶ 22–33. Petitioner filed this habeas petition through counsel on or about February 2, 2026. Respondents timely respond to this Court's show cause order dated February 6, 2026. ECF No. 2.

PETITIONER IS SUBJECT TO MANDATORY DETENTION

Petitioner seeks an order from this Court directing the Department of Homeland Security ("DHS") to immediately release Petitioner from immigration detention, or in the alternative, or to a "post-order custody hearing." ECF No. 1 at 8. Neither relief is appropriate, and the Court should deny the petition under Buenrostro-Mendez.

not controlling because "the mandate has yet to issue, and thus not properly relied upon as precedent."). As such, each pre-Buenrostro district court decision cited in this Court's Order to Show Cause is overruled as it relates to ICE's statutory authority to detain certain aliens on a mandatory basis under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b).

Petitioner argues the wrong statutory authority throughout her petition due to her misunderstanding of the finality of a removal order that has been timely appealed, but even if she had argued the correct statute, she would still be subject to mandatory detention. In Buenrostro-Mendez, the Fifth Circuit rejected argues that pre-final-removal-order detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225 and the Board of Immigration Appeal's ("BIA") decision in Matter of Yajure-Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. 216 (BIA 2025), is unlawful. Buenrostro-Mendez, 2026 WL 323330 at * 1.[4]

To the extent Petitioner claims he is not properly categorized as an applicant for admission, "the text and context of § 1225 contradict the petitioner['s] reading of the statute." Id. at *9. The Fifth Circuit made clear that aliens present in the United States who have not been admitted by lawful means, remain "applicants for admission" who were "seeking admission." 2026 WL 323330 at *4. The court explained that "[w]hen a person applies for something, they are necessarily seeking it." Id. In so holding, the court rejected the reasoning that the phrase "seeking admission" in § 1225(b)(2)(A) uses the present tense and thus applies only to individuals "currently and actively seeking to be admitted to the United States when [they are] apprehended." Id. at *3. The Fifth Circuit held that "the everyday meaning of the statute's terms confirms that being an 'applicant for admission' is not a condition independent from 'seeking admission.'" Id. at *4.

Buenrostro, recognizing that the plain language of the Immigration and Nationality Act ("INA") controlled the analysis and outcome, also rejected arguments based on the Executive's

[4] Moreover, an immigration judge denied Petitioner all substantive relief from removal, a decision which Petitioner has appealed to the BIA. Even if Petitioner's detention were governed by § 1226(a), which it is not, a preliminary removal order by an immigration judge weighs heavily against discretionary release on bond, as it calls into question the alien's likelihood of compliance with any removal order once it becomes final. See, e.g., Johnson v. Guzman Chavez, 594 U.S. 523, 544 (2021) (finding that aliens "who have not been ordered removed are less likely to abscond" but those who have been ordered removed pose a higher flight risk).

past interpretation and application of § 1225 and § 1226. 2026 WL 323330 at * 8. "Years of consistent practice cannot vindicate an interpretation that is inconsistent with a statute's plain text." Id. (citing, Pereira v. Sessions, 585 U.S. 198, 204, 138 S. Ct. 2105, 2111 (2018)). The Fifth Circuit observed that the Government's interpretation and application of § 1225(b)(2)—the full enforcement of § 1225(b)(2)'s plain terms— "better honors" the intent of Congress's amendments to the INA to "put aliens seeking admission lawfully on equal footing with those who entered without inspection." Id. at * 9.

Respondents acknowledge that many courts in the Western District of Texas have ruled otherwise in previous habeas cases, but this significant, indeed, binding development in the Fifth Circuit now warrants a different approach. "After reviewing carefully the relevant provisions and structure of the [INA], the statutory history, and Congressional intent" the Fifth Circuit concluded that the detention authority relied upon by the government is lawful. Buenrostro, at *1.

The Fifth Circuit is not the only court to so hold. District courts around the country agree. See Singh v. Noem, No. 2:25-CV-00157-SCM, 2026 WL 74558 (E.D. Ky. Jan. 9, 2026) (Meredith, J.) Sukkar*, No. 2:25-CV-1167-KCD-DNF, 2026 WL 44820 (M.D. Fla. Jan. 7, 2026) (Dudek, J.) Galovich*, No. 25-CV-865-JDP, 2025 WL 3640960 (W.D. Wis. Dec. 16, 2025) (Peterson, J.) Noem*, No. 9:25-CV-00320, 2025 WL 3639440 (E.D. Tex. Dec. 10, 2025) (Truncale, J.) (holding that Petitioner is properly detained without a bond hearing as an applicant for admission subject to § 1225, that § 1226 would only permit a discretionary hearing, and that habeas relief is improper for the alleged procedural violation); Oliveria v. Albarran, No. 1:25-CV-01760 WBS AC, 2025 WL 3525923 (E.D. Cal. Dec. 9, 2025) (Shubb, J.) (holding that because § 1225 authorizes mandatory detention and is silent on bond hearings, due process is satisfied by the statutory scheme itself); Melgar v. Bondi, No. 8:25CV555, 2025 WL 3496721 (D. Neb. Dec. 5, 2025) (Buescher, J.) Scott*, No. 1:25-CV-00500-JAW, 2025 WL 3013081 (D. Me. Oct. 28, 2025) (Woodcock, Jr., J.) (holding that Petitioner is unlikely to succeed on the merits because, upon the automatic expiration of his parole, he was restored to the § 1225 detention status held at the time of parole); Chavez v. Noem, -- F. Supp. 3d --, 2025 WL 2730228 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 24, 2025) (Bencivengo, J.) (holding that Petitioner, as an alien present in the United States who has not been admitted, is an applicant for admission subject to mandatory provision under the plain text of § 1225(b)).

Buenrostro is consistent with the decision of the BIA, the highest administrative body charged with interpreting and applying the immigration laws. See Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. at 216. In Hurtado, the BIA examined the plain language of § 1225, the INA's statutory scheme, Supreme Court and BIA precedent, the legislative history of the INA and the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 ("IIRIRA"), Pub L. No. 104-208, and DHS's prior practices. After doing so, the BIA held that "under a plain language reading of section 235(b)(2)(A) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A), Immigration Judges lack authority to hear bond requests or to grant bond to aliens, like the respondent, who are present in the United States without admission." 29 I&N Dec. at 225.

EXHAUSTION OF ADMINISTRATIVE REMEDIES

"A person seeking habeas relief must first exhaust available administrative remedies." Hinojosa v. Horn, 896 F. 3d 305, 314 (5th Cir. 2018) (citing United States v. Cleto, 956 F.2d 83, 84 (5th Cir. 1992) (per curiam)). Exhaustion has been a long-standing prerequisite to habeas relief. Id. There are approximately 3.74 million cases pending in immigration court. See https://www.justice.gov/eoir/pr/eoir-announces-significant-immigration-court-milestones (Sept. 4, 2025). Federal district courts are not intended nor equipped to be the reviewing court for all immigration bond determinations or decisions related to the institution of removal proceedings. 8 USC § 1226(e) (district courts do not have jurisdiction to review discretionary decisions made by immigration judges regarding the detention or release of any alien or the grant, revocation, or denial of bond or parole). Challenges to bond decisions should be administratively exhausted before being presented in district court. Hinojosa, 896 F. 3d at 314; see Cortez v. Lynch, No. 1:25-CV-822, 2026 WL 82039 (S.D. Ohio Jan. 12, 2026) (McFarland, J.) (declining to review Petitioner's detention-based claims due to his failure to exhaust administrative remedies); Pastor v. Dir. of Detroit Field Off., No. 4:25-CV-02761, 2025 WL 3746495 (N.D. Ohio Dec. 24, 2025) (Calabrese, J.) (holding that petitioner must first pursue challenge before BIA for exhaustion and that such exhaustion is not futile); Bartolon v. Bondi, No. 1:25-CV-747, 2025 WL 3674604 (S.D. Ohio Dec. 18, 2025) (McFarland, J.) (holding that petitioner's failure to exhaust claims with BIA precluded judicial review of habeas claims); Garibay-Robledo v. Noem, No. 1:25-CV-177-H, 2025 WL 3264482 (N.D. Tex. Oct. 24, 2025) (Hendrix, J.) (holding that petitioner does not demonstrate grounds for excusing exhaustion and must first advance his request for relief to BIA).

Petitioner has either chosen not to seek bond before the immigration court, or Petitioner has received a bond determination from an immigration judge that Petitioner contests. Either way

Petitioner must first seek relief with the immigration court or the BIA, fully exhausting administrative remedies before coming to this Court.

DUE PROCESS CLAIMS

To the extent Petitioner raises due process claims those should likewise be denied. Petitioner is receiving or has received due process afforded through removal proceedings in immigration court. In upholding the facial constitutionality of § 1225(b) the Supreme Court in Thuraissigiam found that applicants for admission are entitled only to the protections set forth by statute in the INA. Dep't of Homeland Sec. v. Thuraissigiam, 91 U.S. 103, 140 (2020) (finding aliens who arrive at ports of entry are 'treated' for due process purposes 'as if stopped at the border' and 'only have rights regarding admission that Congress has provided by statute').

In addressing Petitioner's claims of potential abuse of detention pending removal proceedings, the Fifth Circuit found that Zadvydas v. Davis does not apply to detained aliens who are being given due process during removal proceedings. Buenrostro, at *9. District courts around the country have also dismissed due process concerns in similar contexts. See Calderon Lopez v. Lyons, No. 1:25-CV-226-H, 2026 WL 44683 (N.D. Tex. Jan. 7, 2026) (Hendrix, J.) (holding that nothing in the INA or Due Process Clause contradicts mandatory detention of applications for admission without bond under § 1225); Gutierrez Sosa v. Holt, No. CIV-25-1257-PRW, 2026 WL 36344 (W.D. Okla. Jan. 6, 2026) (Wyrick, J.) (holding that petitioner is unambiguously governed by § 1225 and his due process claim coming three months after arrest is denied as premature); Montoya v. Holt, No. CIV-25-01231-JD, 2025 WL 3733302 (W.D. Okla. Dec. 26, 2025) (Dishman, J) (holding that petitioner is unambiguously an applicant for admission and that detention without a bond hearing does not violate the Due Process Clause); A.M. v. Joyce, No. 2:25-CV-00615-LEW, 2025 WL 3706922 (D. Me. Dec. 22, 2025) (Walker, J.) (holding that petitioner's approximately one-month detention without a prompt bond hearing is consistent with the INA and the Due Process Clause); Rivera Hernandez v. Noem, No. 9:25-CV-00326, 2025 WL 3754434 (E.D. Tex. Dec. 19, 2025) (Truncale, J.) (holding that § 1225, as the more specific statute, governs petitioner's detention, which does not violate due process as it has not been shown to be indefinite); E.R.J.B. v. Wofford, No. 1:25-CV-01843-WBS-SCR, 2025 WL 3683118 (E.D. Cal. Dec. 18, 2025) (Shubb, J.) (holding that because § 1225 authorizes mandatory detention and is silent on bond hearings, due process is satisfied by the statutory scheme itself); Coronado v. Sec'y, DHS, No. 1:25-CV-831, 2025 WL 3628229 (S.D. Ohio Dec. 15, 2025) (Cole, J.) (holding that because petitioner was never lawfully admitted, detention is governed by § 1225 and bond hearings are unavailable as a matter of statute and due process); Ugarte-Arenas v. Olson, No. 25-C-1721, 2025 WL 3514451 (E.D. Wis. Dec. 8, 2025) (Griesbach, J.) (holding that petitioner, as an applicant for admission, is properly detained without a bond hearing under § 1225, which does not violate Due Process Clause); Jimenez v. Thompson, No. 4:25-CV-05026, 2025 WL 3265493 (S.D. Tex. Nov. 24, 2025) (Eskridge, J.) (rejecting petitioner's argument that mandatory detention without bond hearing violates substantive due process); Rojas v. Olson, No. 25-cv-1437, 2025 WL 3033967 (E.D. Wis. Oct. 30, 2025) (Ludwig, J.) ((holding that petitioner is an applicant for admission despite his prior bond and that his detention does not violate due process because it is limited to the conclusion of his removal proceedings).

CONCLUSION

This case fits squarely within the Fifth Circuit's reasoning in Buenrostro. The orderly legal administration of this issue is now properly before the federal appellate courts and is being given the urgency that questions of detention deserve. Respondents respectfully request that the Court deny this petition.
