Attorney for Petitioner

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
SAN ANTONIO DIVISION

DOMINGOS ARMANDO QUADE,

Petitioner,

v.

BOBBY THOMPSON, Warden,
South Texas Detention Center

KRISTI NOEM, Secretary of the U.S.
Department of Homeland Security; and

PAMELA BONDI, Attorney General of the United States, in their official capacities,

Respondents.

Case No. 5:26-cv-00669

PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

INTRODUCTION

1. Petitioner Domingos Armando-Quade is in the physical custody of Respondents at the South Texas Detention Facility in Pearsall, Texas. Petitioner was first detained and released on about December 1, 2022, when he was placed into full removal proceedings under 8 U.S.C. § 1229a, and granted parole pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5). On November 6, 2025, he was taken back into the custody of DHS after a Credible Fear Interview at the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Facility in San Antonio, Texas, despite the fact that his parole was still valid at that time, and remained valid until January 14, 2026. Exh. A- Interim Notice Authorizing Parole.
2. The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) detained the Petitioner without terminating his parole in accordance with 8 C.F.R. § 212.5(e)(2)(i). His detention without the proper individualized assessment necessary for parole termination is a violation of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) provision found at 8 U.S.C. 1182(d)(5) and its associated regulations. DHS's detention of Petitioner under these circumstances also violates Petitioner's right to Due Process pursuant to the Fifth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.
3. Accordingly, to preserve Petitioner's statutory and constitutional rights, this Court should grant the instant petition for a Writ of Habeas Corpus for the reasons stated infra. Absent an order from this Court, Petitioner will continue to suffer an unconstitutional deprivation of his right to liberty, as well as extreme irreparable harm given the personal facts of his situation. Petitioner asks this Court to find that his detention is unlawful and order him immediate release from detention.

JURISDICTION

4. This action arises under the Constitution of the United States and the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA), 8 U.S.C. § 1101 et seq.
5. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 2241 (habeas corpus), 28 U.S.C. § 1331 (federal question), and Article I, § 9, cl. 2 of the United States Constitution (Suspension Clause).
6. This Court may grant relief under the habeas corpus statutes, 28 U.S.C. § 2241 et seq., the Declaratory Judgment Act, 28 U.S.C. § 2201 et seq., and the All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651.
7. Here, Petitioner challenges the legality of his detention, asserting that he is held in violation of both the Constitution and federal immigration statutes. Such claims fall squarely within the habeas jurisdiction of federal district courts. None of the jurisdiction stripping provisions found at 8 U.S.C. § 1252(a)(2)(A), § 1252(g) and § 1252(b)(9) apply.
8. Federal district courts have consistently held that these jurisdictional bars do not preclude habeas review of the proper application of INA detention provisions. See Vieira v. De Anda-Ybarra, No. EP-25-CV-00432-DB, 2025 WL 2937880, at *2-4 (W.D. Tex. Oct. 16, 2025) (finding a case 'falls squarely outside' the jurisdictional bars where Petitioner was only 'challenging whether certain INA provisions require his detention without a bond hearing'); Lopez-Arevelo v. Ripa, No. EP-25-CV-337-KC, 2025 WL 2691828, at *4 (W.D. Tex. Sept. 22, 2025) (rejecting government's jurisdictional arguments in nearly identical case); Gomes v. Hyde, No. 1:25-CV-11571-JEK, 2025 WL 1869299, at *4 (D. Mass. July 7, 2025) (same); Castellanos v. Kaiser, No. 25-CV-07962, 2025 WL 2689853, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 18, 2025) (same). As these courts have recognized, habeas jurisdiction exists to review whether the government is detaining a noncitizen under the correct statutory authority and with adequate procedural protections. That is precisely the question presented here.

VENUE

9. Venue is proper with this Court because Petitioner is detained at South Texas Detention Facility in Pearsall, Texas, which is within the jurisdiction of this District.

REQUIREMENTS OF 28 U.S.C. § 2243

10. The Court must grant the petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus or issue an order to show cause (OSC) to the respondents “forthwith,” unless the petitioner is not entitled to relief. 28 U.S.C. § 2243. If an order to show cause is issued, the Court must require respondents to file a return “within three days unless for good cause additional time, not exceeding twenty days, is allowed.” Id. (emphasis added).
11. Courts have long recognized the significance of the habeas statute in protecting individuals from unlawful detention. The Great Writ has been referred to as “perhaps the most important writ known to the constitutional law of England, affording as it does a swift and imperative remedy in all cases of illegal restraint or confinement.” Fay v. Noia, 372 U.S. 391, 400 (1963) (emphasis added).

PARTIES

12. Petitioner, Domingos Armando-Quade, is currently detained at South Texas Detention Facility in Pearsall, Texas. He is in the custody, and under the direct control, of Respondents and their agents.
13. Respondent Bobby Thompson is the Warden of the South Texas Detention Facility and has immediate physical custody of Petitioner pursuant to the facility’s contract with U.S.

Immigration and Customs Enforcement to detain noncitizens and is a legal custodian of Petitioner.

14. Respondent Kristi Noem is sued in her official capacity as the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS). In this capacity, Respondent Noem is responsible for the implementation and enforcement of the Immigration and Nationality Act, and oversees U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement, the component agency responsible for Petitioner's detention / custody. Respondent Noem is a legal custodian of Petitioner.
15. Respondent Pamela Bondi is sued in her official capacity as the Attorney General of the United States and the senior official of the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ). In that capacity, she has the authority to adjudicate removal cases and to oversee the Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR), which administers the immigration courts and the BIA. Respondent Bondi is a legal custodian of Petitioner.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

16. Petitioner is a twenty-eight year old native and citizen of Guinea-Bissau. He entered the United States on about October 17, 2022. At the time of his entry, he was detained by DHS who placed him into expedited removal proceedings and ordered him removed, pending a Credible Fear Interview. DHS subsequently paroled Petitioner on December 1, 2022, for one year. Exh. A- Interim Notice Authorizing Parole.
17. DHS then extended Petitioner's parole until January 14, 2026. Exh. B- Subsequent Notices Authorizing Parole with Extensions.
18. On August 28, 2023, Petitioner filed an I-589, Application for Asylum, with U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS). Exh. C - I-589 Receipt Notice.

19. On June 27, 2025, USCIS dismissed Petitioner's I-589 application due to being placed in Expedited Removal Proceedings. Exh. D - I-589 Dismissal Notice.
20. On November 5, 2025, Petitioner appeared at the San Antonio ICE ERO Facility to participate in a Credible Fear Interview with a DHS Asylum Officer who ultimately found that he had a credible fear of torture if he was returned to Guinea-Bissau. Exh. E - Notice of Credible Fear Interview. After the positive credible fear finding, the Petitioner was placed in full removal proceedings pursuant to 8 U.S.C. 1229a. Exh. F - Notice to Appear.
21. In spite of his parole being extended to January 14, 2026, Petitioner was re-detained by DHS on November 5, 2025 while in valid parole status, immediately after being informed that he passed his Credible Fear Interview. He was detained without being given any notice regarding the termination of his parole and without any legally cognizable reason for his re-detention. He is currently detained in the South Texas Detention Facility.
22. On December 19, 2025, Petitioner filed his I-589 Application for Asylum with EOIR and is now awaiting a hearing on the merits on the detained docket before EOIR. Exh. G - EOIR Automated Case Information.
23. Petitioner has been detained by DHS since November 5, 2025, and will not be released by DHS pursuant to the policy asserting the EOIR has no jurisdiction to release him. See Matter of Q Li, 29 I&N Dec. 66 (BIA 2025), and see Matter of Yajure-Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. 216 (BIA 2025). Furthermore, DHS affirmatively detained the Petitioner in spite of his valid parole status at the time of his re-detention, and as such he cannot appeal to DHS for his release. Due to his current predicament as stated, any attempt at remedial exhaustion through DHS or the EOIR would be futile.

LEGAL FRAMEWORK

24. Two statutes principally govern the detention of noncitizens pending removal proceedings: 8 U.S.C. §§ 1225 and 1226. First, 8 U.S.C. § 1226 authorizes the detention of noncitizens in standard non-expedited removal proceedings before an immigration judge (IJ). See 8 U.S.C. § 1229a. Individuals in § 1226(a) detention are entitled to a bond hearing at the outset of their detention, see 8 C.F.R. §§ 1003.19(a), 1236.1(d), while noncitizens who have been arrested, charged with, or convicted of certain crimes are subject to mandatory detention, see 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c). Second, § 1225 applies to “applicants for admission,” who are, as relevant here, noncitizens “present in the United States who [have] not been admitted.” 8 U.S.C. § 1225(a)(1). All applicants for admission must be inspected by an immigration officer. Id. § 1225(a)(3). DHS can elect to place certain applicants for admission into expedited removal proceedings. See 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1); Dep’t of Homeland Sec. v. Thuraissigiam, 591 U.S. 103, 108-09 (2020). In other cases, if the examining immigration officer determines that an applicant for admission is not “clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted,” Section 1225(b)(2) provides that the applicant for admission “shall be detained for” standard removal proceedings. 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A); see Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281, 287-88 (2018). A noncitizen detained under Section 1225(b)(2) may be released only if he is paroled “for urgent humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit” under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5)(A). Jennings, 583 U.S. at 300 (“That express exception to detention implies that there are no other circumstances under which aliens detained under § 1225(b) may be released.”).

25. The INA “establishes the framework governing noncitizens’ entry into and removal from the United States, with regulations promulgated by the enforcing agencies providing further governance.” See Y-Z-L-H v. Bostock, 792 F. Supp. 3d 1123, 1132 (D. Or. 2025). “Noncitizens who arrive at a port of entry without a visa or other entry document, like Petitioner, are deemed ‘inadmissible’ under 8 U.S.C. § 1182(a)(7)” due to their lack of entry documents. Id. at 1132 & n.7 (noting that “[d]epending on the circumstances, other categories of inadmissibility may also apply, but § 1182(a)(7) applies for noncitizens without proper documentation”). Once a noncitizen is deemed inadmissible, “the immigration officer must order the noncitizen’s removal unless the noncitizen indicates an intention to apply for asylum or fear of prosecution.” Id. (citing 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(A)(i)). The government may place the noncitizen into expedited removal proceedings, see 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1), or the government may place the noncitizen into regular removal proceedings under 8 U.S.C. § 1229(a). See Y-Z-L-H, 792 F. Supp. 3d at 1132–33 (citing 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)).
26. Section 1225(b)(2)(A) provides that “in the case of an alien who is an applicant for admission, if the examining immigration officer determines that an alien seeking admission is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to be admitted, the alien shall be detained for a proceeding under section 1229a of this title.” 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2)(A). However, “applicants for admission may be temporarily released on parole [into the United States] ‘for urgent humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit,’” as set forth in 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5)(A). Jennings v. Rodriguez, 583 U.S. 281, 288 (2018) (quoting 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5)(A)). The decision to grant parole pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5)(A) is determined “on a case-by-case basis.” 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5)(A). Then,

“when the purpose of the parole has been served,” § 1182(d)(5)(A) provides that “the alien shall forthwith return or be returned to the custody from which he was paroled and thereafter his case shall continue to be dealt with in the same manner as that of any other applicant for admission to the United States.” Jennings, 583 U.S. at 288 (quoting 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5)(A)).

27. To terminate the previously granted parole, the agency must comply with the applicable regulatory and statutory requirements. As set forth in 8 C.F.R. § 212.5(e)(2)(i), which governs the “[t]ermination of parole,” “In cases not covered by paragraph (e)(1) of this section, upon accomplishment of the purpose for which parole was authorized or when in the opinion of one of the officials listed in paragraph (a) of this section, neither humanitarian reasons nor public benefit warrants the continued presence of the alien in the United States, parole shall be terminated upon written notice to the alien and he or she shall be restored to the status that he or she had at the time of parole.” 8 C.F.R. § 212.5(e)(2)(i). That is, “[u]nder the governing regulation, [§ 1182(d)(5)(A)] parole may be terminated only if the purpose of parole is accomplished, or humanitarian reasons and the public benefit no longer warrant parole.” See Loaiza Arias v. LaRose, No. 3:25-cv-02595-BTM-MMP, 2025 WL 3295385, at *3 (S.D. Cal. Nov. 25, 2025) (citing 8 C.F.R. § 212.5(e)). In the present case, Respondents have failed to follow the applicable statutory and regulatory provisions to terminate Petitioner’s parole. See Coal. for Humane Immigrant Rts. v. Noem, No. 25-cv-872 (JMC), 2025 WL 2192986, at *2 (D.D.C. Aug. 1, 2025) (holding that the government failed to follow the applicable statutory and regulatory provisions and that paroled noncitizens cannot be subject to expedited removal proceedings); see also Salgado Bustos v. Raycraft, No. 25-13202, 2025 WL 3022294, at *5–7 (E.D. Mich. Oct. 29, 2025).

28. In the present case, the purpose of Petitioner’s parole has not been accomplished. He applied for asylum on August 28, 2023 and then again on December 19, 2025, based on his credible fear of being harmed if he were to be returned to Guinea-Bissau. Exh 8 - I-589 Application for Asylum and for Withholding of Removal. That application is still pending. Indeed, the grant of parole states that “You have been released from service custody pending a final decision in your exclusion/deportation proceedings.” Exh 1- Interim Notice Authorizing Parole. As of the date of this petition, Petitioner has not received a final decision in his proceedings. District Courts that have addressed the termination of § 1182(d)(5)(A) parole “have found that just as a grant of parole requires an individualized review, revocation of parole requires a case-by-case assessment to comply with the statute.” See Mata Velasquez v. Kurzdorfer, 794 F. Supp. 3d 128, 146 (W.D.N.Y. 2025) (citations omitted) (addressing this issue, and granting the petitioner’s motion for preliminary injunction and ordering that the petitioner be released).
29. In the present case, as Respondents did not follow the applicable statutory and regulatory requirements to revoke Petitioner’s parole, they did not have the authority to arrest and re-detain Petitioner, unless there was some other valid reason to arrest him. See Mata Velasquez, 794 F. Supp. 3d at 145, and see Norfolk S. Ry. Co. v. U.S. Dep’t of Lab., No. 21-3369, 2022 WL 17369438, at *6 (6th Cir. 2022) (discussing that “an agency’s action that fails to observe the procedures required by its own regulations should be set aside” (citation omitted)); Wilson v. Comm’r of Soc. Sec., 378 F.3d 541, 545 (6th Cir. 2004) (“It is an elemental principle of administrative law that agencies are bound to follow their own regulations[,] . . . [and] “[a]n agency’s failure to follow its own regulations tends to cause unjust discrimination and deny adequate notice and consequently may result in a violation of an individual’s constitutional right to due process.” (additional internal quotation marks omitted) (quoting Sameena, Inc. v. U.S. Air Force, 147 F.3d 1148, 1153 (9th Cir. 1998))). Respondents did not indicate to Petitioner the reasons for his re-detention. Rather, it is the Respondents’ position that any noncitizen, regardless of whether they are already present and residing in the United States, is “an alien seeking admission” subject to mandatory detention under § 1225. See Matter of Yajure-Hurtado, 29 I&N Dec. 216 (BIA 2025). The District Courts of the Western District of Texas and other courts throughout the country have rejected this argument. See e.g. Diaz Perez v. Thompson et al, No. 5:25-cv-01664- JKP, 2025 WL 3654333 (W.D. Tex. 12/15/2025), Aguilar v. Bondi et al, No. 5:25-CV-01453-JKP, 2025 WL 3471417 (W.D.T.X. 11/26/2025), Puerto-Hernandez v. Lynch, No. 1:25-cv-1097, 2025 WL 3012033, at *9 (W.D. Mich. Oct. 28, 2025); Rodriguez Carmona v. Noem, No. 1:25-cv-1131, 2025 WL 2992222, at *6 (W.D. Mich. Oct. 24, 2025).

30. The Petitioner anticipates that Respondents will argue that Petitioner is subject to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1). Alternatively, Petitioner anticipates that Respondents will argue that Petitioner is subject to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2). Both positions have no basis in law.
31. The Petitioner cannot be subject to 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1) after determining that he had a credible fear of torture if returned to his native Guineas-Bissau and as such he was subsequently placed in full removal proceedings pursuant to 8 U.S.C. 1229a. Exh. F - Notice to Appear (“In removal proceedings under section 240 of the Immigration and Nationality Act.”) At that time, Petitioner’s parole was still valid. Exh 2 - Notice Authorizing Parole with Extension. See Patel v. Tindall, No. 3:25-CV-373-RGJ, 2025 WL 2823607, at *5 (W.D. Ky. Oct. 3, 2025) (“Respondents in other cases have conceded that an individual cannot be in two removal proceedings simultaneously); Salcedo Aceros v. Kaiser, 2025 WL 2637503, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Sep. 12, 2025) (stating that “The Government concedes that Ms. Salcedo Aceros is currently in full removal proceedings under Section 1229, and that while those proceedings are live, she cannot be simultaneously subjected to Section 1225(b)(1)’s expedited removal proceedings.”); Munoz Materano, 2025 WL 2630826, at *11 (“Respondents therefore expressly concede that, while Munoz Materano’s appeal is pending, he remains in Section 240 removal proceedings subject to § 1229a, not expedited removal pursuant to § 1225(b)(1).”). Furthermore, the Petitioner cannot be returned to 1225(b)(1) status given that he was paroled into the U.S., and as such he cannot be subject to expedited removal at this time. See Salgado Bustos v. Raycraft, No. 25-13202, 2025 WL 3022294 at *6 (E.D. Mich. Oct. 29, 2025) (The first requirement of § 1225(b)(1)(A)(iii)(II) is that the noncitizen “has not been admitted or paroled into the United States.”)

32. Petitioner alternatively anticipates that the Respondents will argue that he is subject to 8 U.S.C. 1225(b)(2). However, any imposition of § 1225(b)(2) on the Petitioner ignores the fact that he was in valid parole status at the time of his re-detention. As such, his re-detention violates his right to Due Process. Noncitizens are entitled to Due Process of the law under the Fifth Amendment. Demore v. Kim, 538 U.S. 510, 523 (2003). “To determine whether a civil detention violates a detainee’s due process rights, courts apply the three-part test set forth in Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319 (1976).” Martinez v.

Noem, No. 5:25-cv-1007-JKP, 2025 WL 2598379, at *2 (W.D. Tex. Sept. 8, 2025). These factors are: (1) “the private interest that will be affected by the official action”; (2) “the risk of an erroneous deprivation of such interest through the procedures used, and the probable value, if any, of additional or substitute procedural safeguards”; and (3) “the Government's interest, including the function involved and the fiscal and administrative burdens that the additional or substitute procedural requirement would entail.” Mathews, 424 U.S. at 335, 96 S.Ct. 893.

33. The first Mathews factor clearly weighs in favor of Petitioner. Here, Respondents granted Petitioner parole into the United States after he expressed a credible fear and was told he would be scheduled for a formal Credible Fear Interview, indicating an individualized determination that Petitioner’s release on parole was warranted. Exh 1 - Interim Notice Authorizing Parole.
34. After Petitioner was granted parole and extended that parole, Respondents conducted a formal Credible Fear Interview with Petitioner and determined that he does in fact have an credible fear qualifying him to apply for relief from removal in the form of asylum and/or withholding of removal. Petitioner’s sudden re-detention after having been determined to have a credible fear of persecution and while his previously granted and extended parole remain valid belie both logic and the law. There is no dispute that Petitioner has a significant private interest in avoiding detention, as one of the “most elemental of liberty interests” is to be free from detention. Hamdi v. Rumsfeld, 542 U.S. 507, 529 (2004) (citation omitted).
35. The Court may also consider Petitioner’s conditions of confinement, i.e., “whether a detainee is held in conditions indistinguishable from criminal incarceration.” See Günaydin v. Trump, 784 F. Supp. 3d 1175, 1187 (D. Minn. 2025) (citing Hernandez-Lara v. Lyons, 10 F.4th 19, 28 (1st Cir. 2021); Velasco Lopez v. Decker, 978 F.3d 842, 851 (2d Cir. 2020)). Based on his pending application for asylum, Petitioner was granted employment authorization, allowing him to work in the United States. As he has currently been detained for more than two months, he is “experiencing [many of] the deprivations of incarceration, including loss of contact with friends and family, loss of income earning, . . . lack of privacy, and, most fundamentally, the lack of freedom of movement.” See Günaydin, 784 F. Supp. 3d at 1187. On [REDACTED], 2025, Petitioner’s daughter, [REDACTED], was born in Austin, Texas. Due to Petitioner’s unlawful detention, he missed being present at the birth of his child. Furthermore, Petitioner’s unlawful detention continues to deny him the opportunity to meet or hold his new daughter.

36. The second Mathews factor also weighs in Petitioner’s favor. Clearly, there is a high risk of erroneously depriving Petitioner of his freedom if Petitioner does not receive an individualized determination regarding the revocation of his parole. “To mitigate the risk of erroneous deprivation, due process would require, ‘at [a] minimum, the opportunity for [Petitioner] to submit evidence relevant to whether [the government] should revoke [his parole] before [it] make[s] a revocation decision.’” Mata Velasquez v. Kurzdorfer, 794 F. Supp. 3d 128, 153 (W.D.N.Y. 2025).

37. Under the third Mathews factor, the Respondents will most likely cite the interest in ensuring noncitizens’ appearance at removal proceedings and preventing harm to the community. See Sampiao v. Hyde, No. 1:25-cv-11981-JEK, 2025 WL 2607924, at *12 (D. Mass. Sep. 9, 2025). However, Respondents do not have a significant interest in Petitioner's continued detention because there is no indication that he is a flight risk or a danger to the community at large. Indeed, continuing Petitioner's detention would impose more costs upon the Government, as it would be required to continue to pay for Petitioner's continued detention.

38. "The appropriate relief for an immigration detainee held in violation of their right to due process is their immediate release from custody, and to be provided with relief returning them to status quo ante, i.e., the last uncontested status which preceded the pending controversy." Cardin Alvarez v. Rivas, No. CV 25-02943 PHX GMS (CDB), 2025 WL 2898389, at *21 (D. Ariz. Oct. 7, 2025). "With regard to the specifics of the relief that might be ordered, in recent weeks many federal district courts" –including the Western District of Texas– "have ordered the immediate release of immigration habeas petitioners held in custody in violation of their due process rights." Id.; See Santiago v. Noem, No. 25-cv-361, 2025 WL 2792588, at *13 (W.D. Tex. Oct. 1, 2025); See also J.U. v. Maldonado, No. 25-cv-4836, 2025 WL 2772765, at *10 (E.D.N.Y. Sept. 29, 2025); Zumba v. Bondi, No. 25-cv-14626, 2025 WL 2753496, at *11 (D.N.J. Sept. 26, 2025); Sampiao v. Hyde, No. 25-cv-11981, 2025 WL 2607924, at *12 (D. Mass. Sept. 9, 2025); Rosado v. Figueroa, 2025 WL 2337099, at *19 (D. Ariz. Aug. 11, 2025); M.S.L. v. Bostock, 2025 WL 2430267, at *1 (D. Or. Aug. 21, 2025); *Bermeo Sicha v. CAUSES OF ACTION

COUNT ONE

Violation of Fifth Amendment Right to Due Process

39. Petitioner repeats, re-alleges, and incorporates by reference each and every allegation in the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.
40. The government may not deprive a person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law. U.S. Const. amend. V. "Freedom from imprisonment—from government custody, detention, or other forms of physical restraint—lies at the heart of the liberty that the Clause protects." Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678, 690, 121 S.Ct. 2491, 150 L.Ed.2d 653 (2001).
41. Petitioner has a fundamental interest in liberty and being free from official restraint.
42. The government's arbitrary subjection of Petitioner to mandatory detention pursuant to 8 U.S.C. § 1225, in spite of the fact that he was in valid parole status at the time of re-detention, and without affording him any opportunity to contest his detention within the agency, violates his right to Due Process pursuant to the Fifth Amendment.

COUNT TWO

Violation of 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5) and 8 C.F.R. 212.5

Unlawful Re-detention without an individualized termination of parole

43. Petitioner repeats, re-alleges, and incorporates by reference each and every allegation in the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.
44. The re-detention of Petitioner without properly terminating his parole status pursuant to the INA and the procedures outlined in the governing regulations violates the statute and the concomitant sections of the Code of Federal Regulations.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

Wherefore, Petitioner respectfully requests this Court to grant the following:

- (1) Assume jurisdiction over this matter and maintain jurisdiction to the extent necessary to ensure Respondents' compliance with any order this Court may issue;

- (2) Issue an Order to Show Cause ordering Respondents to show cause why this Petition should not be granted within three days.
- (3) Declare that the re-detention of the Petitioner violates the INA, the CFR, and the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.
- (4) Issue a Writ of Habeas Corpus requiring that Respondents immediately release the Petitioner in order to restore him to the status quo ante.
- (5) Instruct the Respondents that they may not re-detain the Petitioner without providing adequate procedural safeguards to protect the Petitioner's statutory and constitutional rights.
- (6) Order further relief as this Court deems just and appropriate.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Mark Kinzler
