Petitioner, Pro Se,

v.

PAMELA BONDI, Attorney General of the United States;
TODD M. LYONS, Acting Director of ICE; and
WARDEN, Karnes County Immigration Processing Center,

Respondents.

PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS
28 U.S.C. § 2241

Petitioner Yarelis Romero Sosa ("Petitioner"), a native and citizen of Cuba, respectfully petitions this Honorable Court for a Writ of Habeas Corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2241, challenging her unlawful and unconstitutional detention by the Department of Homeland Security ("DHS") and Immigration and Customs Enforcement ("ICE") at the Karnes County Immigration Processing Center.

I. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

This Court has jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2241 and Article I, Section 9, Clause 2 of the United States Constitution. Venue is proper in the Western District of Texas, San Antonio Division, because Petitioner is confined within this District at the Karnes County Immigration Processing Center.

II. PARTIES

Petitioner: Yarelis Romero Sosa (A# [redacted], born [redacted] 1974, detained since July 17, 2025, at the Karnes County Residential Center.

Respondents are federal officers and custodians responsible for Petitioner's detention.

III. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Petitioner entered the United States on May 19, 2019. At the time of her detention, Petitioner possessed a valid employment authorization document, Social Security number, and a valid driver's license. She has no criminal record and maintains strong family and community ties within the United States, including her U.S. citizen daughter who provides financial and emotional support.

Petitioner suffers from chronic arterial hypertension, hyperlipidemia, and a cardiac condition requiring constant medical monitoring and treatment. She takes multiple medications daily. The stress and anxiety caused by her detention significantly exacerbate her medical conditions, resulting in a serious deterioration of her physical and emotional health.

Petitioner was detained during a routine ICE check-in without presentation of a judicial warrant or probable cause determination. An I-130 immigrant petition filed by her U.S. citizen daughter remains pending. A request for humanitarian parole based on medical necessity was denied. An order of removal was entered, and an appeal is currently pending.

Despite ongoing medication administration, Petitioner's diagnoses require consistent specialist follow-up, which is inadequate in detention. Continued detention poses an unreasonable risk to her health and violates due process.

IV. LEGAL ARGUMENTS

A. Unlawful Detention Under the Due Process Clause

Civil immigration detention is subject to the Fifth Amendment's Due Process Clause. Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678 (2001), holds that detention must bear a reasonable relation to its purpose and may not be indefinite or punitive. Where removal is not reasonably foreseeable or proceedings remain pending, continued detention violates due process.

B. Lack of Judicial Warrant and Probable Cause

Arrest and detention without a judicial warrant or prompt probable cause determination violates the Fourth and Fifth Amendments. See Gerstein v. Pugh, 420 U.S. 103 (1975). Petitioner was detained during a routine check-in without judicial authorization.

C. Medical Neglect and Conditions of Confinement

The Constitution requires that detainees receive adequate medical care. See Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S. 97 (1976); Kingsley v. Hendrickson, 576 U.S. 389 (2015). Continued detention despite serious medical needs and stress-related deterioration constitutes deliberate indifference.

D. Strong Community Ties and No Flight Risk

Petitioner has no criminal history, strong family ties, and a U.S. citizen daughter providing full support, ensuring she will not become a public charge and poses no flight risk. See Demore v. Kim, 538 U.S. 510 (2003) (detention must be reasonable and individualized).

E. Pending Immigration Relief and Appeal

Where relief and appeals are pending, prolonged detention without a bond hearing violates due process. See Jennings v. Rodriguez, 138 S. Ct. 830 (2018). In the Fifth Circuit, prolonged civil immigration detention must remain reasonable and non-punitive, and continued detention without adequate procedural safeguards raises serious constitutional concerns. See Odusote v. Barr, No. H-20-1820, 2020 WL 4582715 (S.D. Tex. Aug. 10, 2020); Sanchez v. McAleenan, 2019 WL 3840977 (S.D. Tex. Aug. 14, 2019). Petitioner remains detained despite pending immigration proceedings and appeal before the Board of Immigration Appeals, with no final order of removal and no reasonably foreseeable removal date. Continued detention under these circumstances violates due process and warrants immediate release or, at minimum, an individualized bond hearing before a neutral adjudicator.

V. REQUEST FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Petitioner respectfully requests that this Court: (1) Issue a Writ of Habeas Corpus ordering Petitioner's immediate release, or in the alternative, order an individualized bond hearing before a neutral adjudicator; (2) Order DHS/ICE to provide appropriate medical care or release Petitioner due to medical necessity; and (3) Grant any other relief this Court deems just and proper.

Respectfully submitted,

Yarelis Romero Sosa
