Attorneys for Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

HECTOR HERNANDEZ-VIAMONTES,

Petitioner,

v.

MARKWAYNE MULLIN, Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security,
TODD BLANCHE, Acting Attorney
General, TODD M. LYONS, Acting
Director, Immigration and Customs Enforcement, JESUS ROCHA, Acting
Field Office Director, San Diego Field
Office, CHRISTOPHER LAROSE,
Warden at Otay Mesa Detention Center,

Respondents.

Case No.: 26-cv-2549-JLS-DEB

Amended Petition for a Writ of Habeas Corpus

Hector Hernandez-Viamontes is an asylum seeker from Cuba who was persecuted on account of his political beliefs. He has been detained pending his immigration proceedings for over 19 months. This Court should “join[] the majority of courts across the country in concluding that [his] unreasonably prolonged detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b) without an individualized bond hearing violates due process.” Kydyrali v. Wolf, 499 F. Supp. 3d 768, 772 (S.D.

1 Cal. 2020) (Battaglia, J.). It should do so because Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes
2 satisfies the six-factor test set forth in Banda v. McAleenan, 385 F. Supp. 3d 1099, 3 1118 (W.D. Wash. 2019).

4 Additionally, because of newly emerging evidence that the neutrality of 5 Otay Mesa's immigration judges ("IJ") has been compromised, and some IJs and 6 the Department of Homeland Security ("DHS") have implemented strategies to 7 detain bond-worthy habeas petitioners, a bond hearing before a randomly selected 8 IJ will no longer reliably satisfy due process. This Court should therefore consider 9 the alternative forms of relief, including that: 1) the IJ shall consider alternative 10 conditions of release and Petitioner's ability to pay bond; and 2) Respondents 11 shall assist Petitioner's counsel with obtaining bond hearing record if requested.

12 STATEMENT OF FACTS

13 Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes was born in Cuba and faced persecution for his 14 political beliefs when he lived there. Exhibit A, Declaration of Hernandez-15 Viamontes, at ¶ 2. He previously came to the United States requesting asylum but 16 the petition as denied and he was removed to Cuba around 2020. Id. at ¶ 2.

17 He fled Cuba again and came to the United States seeking asylum through 18 the CBP One App on September 14, 2024. Id. at ¶ 3. He has been detained by 19 immigration officials since that date. Id. During that time, he requested asylum from 20 Cuba. Id. at ¶ 4. Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes's asylum proceedings were then 21 terminated and he was ordered removed to a third country, Ecuador. Id. ¶ 5.
22 Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes is currently appealing the order of removal to a third 23 country. Id. at ¶ 6

24 He has now been detained for 19 months. Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes has 25 significant medical issues including active kidney stones and chronic asthma. Id. at 26 ¶ 7.

LEGAL BACKGROUND

I. The Fifth Amendment’s Due Process Clause prohibits prolonged immigration detention without a bond hearing.

This habeas petition presents a question about whether and when the Fifth Amendment’s Due Process Clause countermands the government’s statutory authority to detain immigrants without bond hearings. Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes is detained under one such statute, 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b). “Section 1225 applies to ‘applicants for admission’—noncitizens who ‘arrive[] in the United States,’ or are ‘present’ in the United States but have ‘not been admitted.’” Banda v. McAleenan, 385 F. Supp. 3d 1099, 1111 (W.D. Wash. 2019). It “applies to, among others, noncitizens initially determined to be inadmissible because of . . . lack of valid documentation.” Id. That includes persons who, like Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes, seek asylum at or near the border. See id. at 1109–11 (describing a similar procedural history and finding that petitioner was detained under § 1225(b)). Such immigrants are detained under § 1225(b) not only during their initial proceedings, but also when they appeal to the BIA. See id. at 1111 (reaching same conclusion for immigrant with pending BIA appeal).

This statutory scheme has left courts to grapple with the limits (if any) of that detention power: Does this statute permit the government to detain immigrants indefinitely, without ever having to prove at a bond hearing that they pose a risk of danger or flight? Three Supreme Court cases are potentially relevant to answering that question.

First, in Zadvydas v. Davis, the Supreme Court indicated that indefinite immigration detention raises serious due process concerns. 533 U.S. 678 (2001). Zadvydas involved a statute authorizing the government to detain immigrants after they are ordered removed. Id. at 683. For immigrants who cannot be removed, that statute had the potential to subject them to years, decades, or a lifetime in custody. See id. at 690. The Supreme Court held that if the statute

1 “permit[ed] indefinite detention of an alien[,] [it] would raise a serious 2 constitutional problem,” because

3 [t]he Fifth Amendment's Due Process Clause forbids the 4 Government to ‘depriv[e]’ any ‘person ... of ... liberty ... without due 5 process of law.’ Freedom from imprisonment—from government 6 custody, detention, or other forms of physical restraint—lies at the 7 heart of the liberty that Clause protects. See Foucha v. Louisiana, 8 504 U.S. 71, 80 (1992). And this Court has said that government 9 detention violates that Clause unless the detention is ordered in a 10 criminal proceeding with adequate procedural protections, see 11 United States v. Salerno, 481 U.S. 739, 746 (1987), or, in certain 12 special and ‘narrow’ nonpunitive ‘circumstances,’ Foucha, supra, at 13 80, where a special justification, such as harm-threatening mental 14 illness, outweighs the ‘individual's constitutionally protected interest 15 in avoiding physical restraint.’ Kansas v. Hendricks, 521 U.S. 346, 16 356 (1997).

17 Id. Ultimately, however, the Court declined to decide whether a statute permitting 18 indefinite detention would violate the Due Process Clause. Instead, the Court 19 employed the constitutional avoidance canon to read implicit limits into the 20 statute, requiring release after detention became sufficiently prolonged. Id. at 699.

21 Following Zadvydas, the Ninth Circuit applied similar reasoning to 22 § 1225(b). Rodriguez v. Robbins, 804 F.3d 1060, 1087–89 (9th Cir. 2015).
23 Employing the constitutional avoidance canon, the Ninth Circuit held that 24 § 1225(b) implicitly entitled detained immigrants to bond hearings every six 25 months. Id.

26 The Supreme Court overruled that precedent in Jennings v. Rodriguez, 27 holding that the statute does not entitle detainees to bond hearings or otherwise 28 impose “any limit on the length of detention.” 583 U.S. 281, 297 (2018). But 29 though Jennings held that § 1225(b) imposes no statutory limit on the length of 30 detention, it reserved the question of whether prolonged, mandatory detention 31 without bond hearings violates due process. Id. at 312.

32 Finally, the Supreme Court held in Demore v. Kim that at least some 33 statutes mandating detention during immigration proceedings do not

1 automatically violate the Due Process Clause. 538 U.S. 510, 513 (2003). Demore
2 addressed 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c), which mandates detention without a bond hearing 3 for persons with certain criminal convictions. Id. The Court upheld § 1226(c) in a 4 5-4 opinion based on (1) the government interests justifying the detention of 5 immigrants with certain, aggravated criminal convictions, and (2) the relative 6 brevity of detention in most cases, with the vast majority taking only about five 7 months. Id. at 517–31. Justice Kennedy supplied a deciding vote. His concurrence 8 left open the possibility that individual immigrants could be “entitled to an 9 individualized determination as to his risk of flight and dangerousness if the 10 continued detention became unreasonable or unjustified.” Id. at 532–33.

11 “In the wake of Jennings,” Zadvydas, and Demore, “district courts have 12 grappled with how to address due process challenges to prolonged mandatory 13 detention under § 1225(b).” Banda, 385 F. Supp. 3d at 1116. But after a full 14 evaluation, “[n]early all district courts that have considered the issue agree that 15 prolonged mandatory detention pending removal proceedings, without a bond 16 hearing, will—at some point—violate the right to due process.” Id. (cleaned up) 17 (collecting cases).

18 These Courts have relied on the due process concerns recognized in 19 Zadvydas. See, e.g., Kydyrali, 499 F. Supp. 3d at 771; Banda, 385 F. Supp. 3d at 20 1113–17; Abdul Kadir v. Larose, No. 25CV1045-LL-MMP, 2025 WL 2932654, 21 at *3 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 15, 2025). As the Ninth Circuit put it in Jennings’ wake, 22 those considerations raise “grave doubts that any statute that allows for arbitrary 23 prolonged detention without any process is constitutional or that those who 24 founded our democracy precisely to protect against the government’s arbitrary 25 deprivation of liberty would have thought so.” Rodriguez v. Marin, 909 F.3d 252, 26 256 (9th Cir. 2018).

27 Neither Jennings nor Demore undermines that conclusion. Jennings held 28 only that the statute itself did not impose any limits on detention. It “did not

1 foreclose as-applied constitutional challenges to detention under” mandatory-2 detention statutes. Santos v. Warden Pike Cnty. Corr. Facility, 965 F.3d 203, 209
3 (3d Cir. 2020). And Demore held only that conviction-based mandatory detention 4 during immigration proceedings does not necessarily violate due process, 5 particularly when the detention has an expected duration of about five months. Id.
6 at 208–11. But many persons detained under § 1225(b)—like Mr. Hernandez-
7 Viamontes—do not have criminal convictions. And as Justice Kennedy’s 8 concurrence made clear, Demore does not prevent immigrants from arguing that 9 sufficiently prolonged detention violates due process in their individual cases. See 10 *id.*¹

11 Thus, this Court should hold that sufficiently prolonged detention violates 12 the Due Process Clause, as most courts have. See, e.g., Gao v. LaRose, No. 25-13 CV-2084-RSH-SBC, 2025 WL 2770633, at *3 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 26, 2025); Abdul 14 Kadir v. Larose, No. 25CV1045-LL-MMP, 2025 WL 2932654, at *4 (S.D. Cal.

16 *3 (S.D. Cal. Jan. 9, 2026); Kydyrali v. Wolf, 499 F. Supp. 3d 768, 772 (S.D. Cal.
17 2020) (Battaglia, J.); Mardian v. Mayorkas, 25-cv-3467-JLS; Raeva v. Mayorkas, 18 25-cv-3175-JO; Abdul-Samed v. Warden of Golden State Annex Det. Facility, No.
19 25-cv-98-SAB-HC, 2025 WL 2099343, at *6 (E.D. Cal. July 25, 2025);
20 Hernandez v. Wofford, No. 25-cv-986-KES-CDB (HC), 2025 WL 2420390, at *3 21 (E.D. Cal. Aug. 21, 2025); Padilla v. ICE, 704 F. Supp. 3d 1163, 1171–72 (W.D.
22 Wash. 2023).

23
24
25 ¹ The Supreme Court’s later decision in Dep’t of Homeland Sec. v. Thuraissigiam, 26 591 U.S. 103 (2020), is also inapposite, because it addressed only immigrants’ 27 due process rights in deportation proceedings—i.e., the process due when 28 noncitizens seek to stay in the country instead of being removed. See Lopez- Arevelo v. Ripa, No. EP-25-CV-337-KC, 2025 WL 2691828, at *7–9 (W.D. Tex.
Sept. 22, 2025). It does not purport to hold that immigrants have no constitutional right to due process before the government holds them indefinitely in immigration detention. Id.

1 II. Courts have reached different conclusions about when immigration 2 detention becomes indefinitely prolonged, but Mr. Hernandez-
3 Viamontes would prevail under any standard, including the *Banda 4 factors.

5 Though courts agree that due process mandates a bond hearing when 6 detention grows unreasonably prolonged, they disagree about how to assess 7 whether a particular migrant's detention has reached that point. Sanchez-Rivera v.
8 Matuszewski, No. 22-CV-1357-MMA (JLB), 2023 WL 139801, at *5–6 (S.D.
9 Cal. Jan. 9, 2023) (Anello, J.) (surveying the various approaches). Because it 10 incorporates nearly all the factors, many courts have found it “most appropriate to 11 apply the Banda test to Petitioner’s detention here under § 1225(b), as other 12 courts within this district have done in the past.” Sandesh v. Noem, 26-cv-846-13 JES-DDL, Dkt. 13 at 5 (Mar. 5, 2026 S.D. Cal). The Banda factors include:

- 14 (1) the total length of detention to date;
- 15 (2) the likely duration of future detention;
- 16 (3) the conditions of detention;
- 17 (4) delays in the removal proceedings caused by the detainee;
- 18 (5) delays in the removal proceedings cause by the government; and
- 19 (6) the likelihood that the removal proceedings will result in a final order 20 of removal.

21 Banda, 385 F. Supp. 3d at 1106. Applying these factors here shows that 22 Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes’s detention has become prolonged.

23 First, the “most important factor,” the length of detention, favors 24 Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes. Banda, 385 F. Supp. 3d at 1118. In assessing this 25 factor, “[i]t is important to bear in mind the context: The detention that is being 26 examined here is the detention of a human being who has never been found to 27 pose a danger to the community or to be likely to flee if released.” Jamal A. v.
28 Whitaker, 358 F. Supp. 3d 853, 859 (D. Minn. 2019). Here, Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes has been detained for 19 months. Exh. A at ¶ 2. That is more time that

1 the 17 month detention in Banda, which the court in that case found to be “a very 2 long time.” Banda, 385 F. Supp. 3d at 1118. Moreover, courts have granted bond 3 hearings for persons detained with far less time between nine and eleven months.
4 See Ashemuke v. ICE Field Off. Dir., No. C23-1592-RSL-MLP, 2024 WL
5 1683797, at *4 (W.D. Wash. Feb. 29, 2024), report and recommendation
6 adopted, No. C23-1592-RSL, 2024 WL 1676681 (W.D. Wash. Apr. 18, 2024)
7 (“approximately eleven months”); Brissett v. Decker, 324 F. Supp. 3d 444, 452
8 (S.D.N.Y. 2018) (“over nine months”); Perez v. Decker, No. 18-CV-5279 (VEC), 9 2018 WL 3991497, at *5 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 20, 2018) (“more than nine months”); 10 Masood v. Barr, No. 19-CV-07623-JD, 2020 WL 95633, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 8, 11 2020) (“nearly nine months”). Thus, this factor strongly favors Mr. Hernandez-12 Viamontes.

13 Second, Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes has reason to anticipate significant 14 future detention, as he does not yet have an individual merits hearing, and if he 15 loses, he plans to appeal his case to the BIA and the Ninth Circuit. Exh. A at ¶ 6.
16 All told, “[t]his process may take up to two years or longer.” Banda, 385 F. Supp.
17 3d at 1119. Because “Petitioner’s future detention can last several more months or 18 even years[,]” this factor favors Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes. Abdul Kadir v.
19 Larose, No. 25CV1045-LL-MMP, 2025 WL 2932654, at *5 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 15, 20 2025).

21 Third, conditions of confinement weigh in favor of him. “Petitioner’s 22 confinement at [Otay Mesa Detention Center] is ‘indistinguishable from penal 23 confinement.’” Abdul Kadir, 2025 WL 2932654, at *5 (quoting Kydyrali, 499 F.
24 Supp. 3d at 773). What’s more, Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes experiences chronic 25 illness. Id. at ¶ 7. Accordingly, this factor weighs heavily in his favor.

26 Fourth and fifth, Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes has not caused any unreasonable 27 delays in his removal proceedings.
28

1 Sixth, regarding the likelihood that the removal proceedings will result in a 2 final order of removal, Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes has a strong claim against his 3 removal to a third country and he would likely win on appeal. Accordingly, under 4 the Banda factors, Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes is entitled to release or a bond 5 hearing.

6 III. Because immigration judges' neutrality has been compromised, this 7 Court must order outright release, or at least additional safeguards.

8 In a perfect world, this Court could remedy the due process violation by 9 ordering a bond hearing before a neutral immigration judge ("IJ"), allowing the IJ 10 to determine whether Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes posed a risk of danger or flight.
11 Unfortunately, attacks on IJ independence under the current administration have 12 severely compromised IJs' neutrality. As a result, there is a serious risk that an IJ 13 will order Mr. Hernandez-Viamontes's continued detention even if he poses no 14 danger or flight risk. Several data points support that conclusion.

15 Most importantly, reports are streaming in from this district and elsewhere 16 that court-ordered "bond hearings [are], effectively, stacked against detainees 17 from the start." Kyle Cheney, How ICE Defies Judges' Orders to Release
18 Detainees, Step by Step, Politico (Feb. 10, 2026), 19 https://www.politico.com/news/2026/02/10/ice-immigration-detention-court- 20 orders-00771727.

21 Former ICE Counsel Jorge Artieda attests to seeing "a seismic shift in bond 22 hearing outcomes for individuals who had been granted federal habeas relief and 23 ordered § 1226(a) bond hearings . . . in the Eastern District of Virginia." Exhibit 24 B, Declaration of Jorge Artieda, at 2. In a declaration filed in Briceno Solano v.
25 Mason, No. 26-CV-00045, 2026 WL 311624 (S.D.W. Va. Feb. 4, 2026), 26 Mr. Artieda reported that the pattern of granting bond in appropriate cases 27 "abruptly and uniformly ceased" in early January, in a way that "suggests 28 coordinated institutional direction." Id. IJs there now rely on a "remarkably 1 narrow and predictable set of rationales to deny bond—rationales that appear to 2 bear little relationship to genuine individualized risk assessment and that would 3 not have been deemed sufficient to justify denial just weeks earlier.” Id. at 3. In 4 Mr. Artieda’s professional opinion, the IJs’ rationales “do not appear to be 5 grounded in legitimate risk assessment” but are “pretexts designed to ensure 6 denial of bond regardless of the individual facts of each case.” Id. at 4.

7 Mr. Artieda further attests that to having “communicated with numerous 8 immigration attorneys practicing all over the United States who handle detention 9 cases.” Id. at 5. “These conversations have confirmed that the pattern [he] ha[s] 10 observed is widespread and consistent.” Id. Based on these conversations, 11 Mr. Artieda believes that these bond denials are part of a “coordinated 12 institutional effort.” Id. at 6. That coordinated effort supports outright release or, 13 at a minimum, additional scrutiny from this Court.

14 A recently retired immigration judge with 27 years of experience on the 15 bench and 10 years of experience as an INS attorney reports similar observations.
16 See Declaration of Lawrence O. Burman, Exhibit C. Judge Burman recounts that 17 in his years of conducting bond hearings, “[i]t was rare for a bond to be denied 18 solely based on flight risk.” Id. at ¶ 11. Rather, “a higher bond amount was 19 imposed to ensure the individual’s appearance at future hearings.” Id. Judge 20 Burman also notes that “[a]lthough immigration judges are expected to act as 21 neutral adjudicators,” he has “noticed increasing concern among members of the 22 bench about institutional intimidation and the perception that decisions 23 unfavorable to the government could negatively affect judicial tenure.” Id. at ¶ 20.
24 Specifically, he has observed a “notable rise in bond denials and adverse case 25 outcomes,” which “undermines due process and erodes confidence in the 26 Immigration Court system.” Id. at ¶ 21.

27 This trend is also occurring in San Diego. In a recently filed declaration, 28 local attorney Edward Perez attests that he has similar concerns about some

1 immigration judges at Otay Mesa. In his experience, many Otay Mesa IJs are 2 resistant to implementing habeas orders requiring bond hearings. ELSAVED V.
3 NOEM, CASE NO. 26-CV-368, DOC. 5-2 AT ¶ 7 (S.D. CAL. FEB. 9, 2026). These IJs 4 have begun denying bond on the ground that court hearings are coming up, and 5 release would disrupt the hearing schedule. Id. Of course, that logic could justify 6 any asylum seeker's detention, and it has nothing to do with danger or flight. Id.
7 Furthermore, the Department of Homeland Security ("DHS") has started 8 appealing bonds to take advantage of the automatic stay. Id. Both of these 9 strategies ensure that even those who pose no risk of danger or flight will stay in 10 detention. Id.

11 Judges have begun to take note of this trend and order that individuals be 12 released from custody, rather than granted a bond hearing. In Said v. Noem, a 13 court ordered a bond hearing for a habeas petitioner, only to learn that "[t]he IJ 14 denied Petitioner the opportunity to present testimony, declined to consider the 15 sworn, documentary evidence submitted by Petitioner, and based his decision on 16 an uncorroborated, unauthenticated claim by a government official that Petitioner 17 failed to share his location for the ISAP." No. 3:25-CV-938-MOC, 2026 WL 18 295651, at *5 (W.D.N.C. Feb. 4, 2026). The original habeas Order "presupposed 19 that this hearing would be conducted in accordance with Petitioner's due process 20 rights," the court wrote. "It was not." Id.

21 In Picado v. Hyde, a district judge ordered outright release after two 22 deficient bond hearings. No. 26-CV-065-JJM-PAS, 2026 WL 352691, at *7 23 (D.R.I. Feb. 9, 2026). The IJ in the second hearing had deemed the immigrant a 24 danger to the community based on an uncorroborated police report accusing him 25 of driving 90 mph in a 55-mph zone. Id.

26 These trends are consistent with sustained attacks on IJs' independence 27 under this administration. Several examples illustrate the point.
28

1 First, the Trump administration has eliminated 128 IJs insufficiently 2 aligned with the administration's priorities, illustrating to the remaining IJs the 3 cost of resistance. See Woo-Sun Lim, Former judge highlights legal failures in 4 U.S. worker detentions, The Dong-A Ilbo (Sept. 20, 2025), 5 <https://www.donga.com/en/article/all/20250920/5859412/1>.

6 These IJs are under no illusions about why they were let go. Former 7 Baltimore IJ Emmett Soper stated: "I think the current administration of the 8 immigration courts does not fundamentally see the immigration courts as neutral 9 decision-makers. I think that they see the immigration courts as a tool for this 10 administration to advance its policy objectives." Geoff Bennett & Ali Schmitz, 13 describes-deepening-court-backlog. Former San Francisco IJ Jeremiah Johnson 14 similarly understood "the hint that they should be hearing cases a certain way, 15 deciding cases a certain way. Move faster. Less due process, essentially." Hilda

19 speak-out-firings/3986850/. Former San Francisco IJ George Pappas was even 20 more direct: "We were told to facilitate deportation... Due process is dead in 21 immigration courts." Isabela Dias, "Fired for No Reason": Former Immigration 24 trump-assault-purge-dhs-ice/.

25 This has had the predictable effect on those who remain. According to 26 former San Francisco IJ Elizabeth Young, "I've talked to many of [the judges still 27 serving], and they're like, 'When I go into court, I am concerned about applying 28 the law, but I'm also concerned that I should deny more, because if I don't, then

12 Second, a parallel purge occurred at the BIA, which was reduced from 28 13 members to 15 members. All Biden appointees on the BIA were fired. Am. Imm.

17 immigration-judges-bond-mandatory-detention-undocumented-immigrants/. The 18 statistical impact is stark. As of January 22, 2026, the reconstituted BIA has 19 issued 71 published decisions. Exec. Off. for Immigr. Rev., Volume 29, U.S.
20 Dep’t of Just. (Jan. 21, 2025), <https://www.justice.gov/eoir/volume-29>. Of those, 21 69 decisions (97%) favored the administration. By contrast, during the entire four-22 year span of the prior administration, the BIA issued 76 published decisions.
23 Exec. Off. for Immigr. Rev., Volume 28, U.S. Dep’t of Just. (June 13, 2025), 24 <https://www.justice.gov/eoir/volume-28>. (First decision, Matter of DIKHTYAR, 25 28 I&N Dec. 214 (BIA 2021), issued 01/22/2021). Of those, 46 decisions (60%)
26 favored the administration. The transformation from 60% to 97% pro-government 27 outcomes—achieved through wholesale termination of one administration's 28 appointees—speaks for itself.

1 Third, beyond personnel changes, EOIR's new acting director, Sirce E.
2 Owen, has issued "a string of sharply worded policy memos" encouraging IJs to 3 side with the government over immigrants and minimize due process. E. Tammy

24 Fourth, EOIR personnel have at times directed IJs to ignore federal court 25 orders related to bond hearings. On January 13, 2026, in the wake of Maldonado 26 Bautista v. Santacruz, No. 5:25-CV-01873-SSS-BFM, 2025 WL 3289861 (C.D.
27 Cal. Nov. 20, 2025); Maldonado Bautista v. Santacruz, No. 5:25-CV-01873-SSS-28 BFM, 2025 WL 3288403, at *9 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 25, 2025), Chief Immigration

1 Judge Teresa L. Riley sent all IJs the following instructions:

2 Please provide the following guidance to all immigration judges 3 forthwith: Maldonado Bautista is not a nationwide injunction and 4 does not purport to vacate, stay, or enjoin Yajure Hurtado. Therefore 5 Yajure Hurtado remains binding precedent on agency adjudications.
6 For clarification, declaratory judgments differ from injunctions in 7 that the former clarifies parties' legal rights and relationships without 8 ordering specific action, while the latter is a court order compelling a party to do or stop doing a specific act. A declaratory judgment is not an equitable remedy and does not, by itself, have the effect of compelling specific action by a party. Thank you for your attention to this matter.

9 Am. Immigr. Laws. Ass'n, Practice Alert: EOIR Issues Nationwide Guidance
10 on Maldonado Bautista, AILA Doc. No. 26011404 (Jan. 16, 2026), 11 https://www.aila.org/library/practice-alert-eoir-issues-nationwide-guidance- 12 on-maldonado-bautista. A few days later, Judge Sykes issued a scathing order, 13 calling out "Respondents' deliberate choice to continue defying the final 14 judgment entered in Bautista." Palomera Baltazar v. Janecka, No. 5:26-cv-15 00019-SSS-BFM at *2–3 (C.D. Cal. Jan. 16, 2026).

16 IJs' resistance to granting bond therefore accords with the larger 17 movement to eliminate or silence IJs who side with immigrants, while 18 bringing those that remain into line with the administration's priorities.

19 The "equitable and flexible nature of habeas relief" affords district 20 courts significant discretion over the appropriate remedies for violations of 21 law and the Constitution. Velasco Lopez v. Decker, 978 F.3d 842, 855 (2d Cir.
22 2020); see also Schlup v. Delo, 513 U.S. 298, 319 (1995) ("[H]abeas corpus 23 is, at its core, an equitable remedy"). This Court should order a remedy that 24 fully addresses the statutory and constitutional violations in this case and is 25 efficient to administer. Carafas v. LaVallee, 391 U.S. 234, 238 (1968) (the 26 habeas statute "does not limit the relief that may be granted to discharge of the 27 applicant from physical custody. Its mandate is broad with respect to the relief 28 that may be granted").

CLAIM AND PRAYER FOR RELIEF

Accordingly, Petitioner respectfully requests that this Court:

1. Order Respondents to immediately release Petitioner from custody. “In recent months, courts across the country have ordered the release of detainees in similar situations.” Moctezuma v. Henkey, No. 1:25-CV-00741-BLW, 2026 WL 18809, at *5 (D. Idaho Jan. 2, 2026) (given that the government’s repeated use of unlawful detention policies across the country, causing petitioners to “sit in jail waiting for a judicial decision,” the court would order immediate release instead of causing additional delay through a bond hearing) (citing Lepe v. Andrews, 801 F. Supp. 3d 1104 (E.D. Cal. 2025); J.U. v. Maldonado, No. 25-cv-4836, 2025 WL 2772765, at *10 (E.D.N.Y. Sept. 29, 2025); Rosado v. Figueroa, No. 25-cv-2157, 2025 WL 2337099, at *19 (D. Ariz. Aug. 11, 2025); Pinchi v. Noem, No. 25-cv-05632, 2025 WL 1853763, at *4 (N.D. Cal. July 4, 2025). Santiago v. Noem, No. EP-25-CV-361, 2025 WL 2792588, at *13–14 (W.D. Tex. Oct. 2, 2025) (“Without a legitimate interest in her detention, immediate release appropriately remedies Respondents’ violation of [Petitioner’s] due process rights through her continued detention.”). Order, ECF No. 14 at 19, Miri v. Bondi, No. 5:26-CV-00698-MEMF (C.D. Cal. March 5, 2026) (“Miri’s prompt release is the remedy that will best return Miri to the status quo and restore his position as it was prior to the detention that Miri contends was in violation of his constitutional and statutory protections.”).

2. In the alternative, order a prompt § 1226(a) bond hearing, with safeguards and oversight provided by this Court. See Order, ECF No. 13, Sandesh v. LaRose, No. 3:26-CV-00846-JES (S.D. Cal. March 5, 2026). Specifically, the Court should order:

- a. Respondents provide Petitioner with a hearing and individualized bond determination within ten days of its order

1 unless a continuance is requested by Petitioner (noncitizen).

2 Id.

3 i. At that hearing, the government shall bear the burden of 4 establishing by clear and convincing evidence that 5 Petitioner poses a danger or flight risk. Id.

6 b. The IJ shall consider alternative conditions of release and 7 Petitioner's ability to pay bond. Id.

8 c. Respondents shall make a complete record of the bond hearing 9 available to Petitioner and his counsel. Id.

10 d. Respondents are ordered to file a Notice of Compliance within 11 five days of providing Petitioner with the bond hearing, 12 including apprising the Court of the results of the hearing. Id.

13 e. Prohibit ICE from invoking the automatic stay provisions 14 under 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(i)(2) to defeat the IJ's bond 15 determination.

16 3. Order all other relief that the Court deems just and proper.
