FACTS AND PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

1. Petitioner Mr. MAURICIO ANTONIO PICHASACA is a citizen of ECUADOR who entered the United States on or about 2020. He was arbitrarily detained by Respondents on JUNE 2026 and remains detained in the custody of Respondents.

2. Petitioner applied for Asylum, Withholding of Removal, and protection under the Convention Against Torture in 6/23/26 upon information and belief.

3. Upon information and belief Petitioner did enter NOT enter. Analysis is provided in the alternative if that information is incorrect as what happens at the border can sometimes be unknown by Counsel.

4. Upon information and belief, and based on current ICE practice, no warrant for his arrest, as required under 8 U.S.C. Section 1226(a), had been properly issued prior to Petitioner's arrest, making his current detention by ICE illegal.

5. Respondents will almost certainly assert that they have authority to detain Petitioner under 8 U.S.C. Section 1225(b), which is legally incorrect.

6. The mandatory detention of Petitioner without an individualized bond determination violates Petitioner's Fifth Amendment due process rights.

7. Without relief from this Court, Petitioner faces the prospect of months, or even years, in immigration custody, as he continues to seek asylum and related relief in the United States.

8. Accordingly, Petitioner seeks a writ of habeas corpus. Petitioner requests an order requiring his immediate release, or in the alternative, his immediate release unless Respondents provide a bond hearing under § 1226(a) within seven days, and properly place the burden of proof on the government to show by clear and convincing evidence that Petitioner is a flight risk or a danger to the community.

THE PARTIES

9. Petitioner is detained in the custody of ICE. He is being detained in the custody of the Buffalo ICE Field Office at the Buffalo Federal Detention Facility in Batavia, New York. His custody and governmental actions related to his removal are likewise controlled by the Buffalo Field Office, which is located within this judicial district.

10. Respondent James Bausch is the Buffalo, NY Acting Deputy Field Office Director for Enforcement and Removal Operations, U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement. He is the local ICE official who has authority over the Petitioner. See Vasquez v. Reno, 233 F,3d 688, 690 (lst Cir. 2000), cert. denied, 122 S. Ct. 43 (2001). Respondent Bausch's office is at 250 Delaware Avenue, Floor 7, Buffalo, NY 14202 and/or at the Buffalo Federal Detention Facility, 4250 Federal Drive, Batavia, NY 14020.

11. Respondent Todd Blanche is the acting U.S. Attorney General and is in charge of the Executive Office for Immigration Review, which controls the Immigration Courts and the Board of Immigration Appeals.

12. Petitioner's custody and the governmental actions related to his potential removal from the district are likewise controlled by Respondents Rhoney, Lyons and Mullin .

CUSTODY

13. Petitioner is in the physical custody of Respondents and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement ("ICE") at the Buffalo Federal Detention Facility. The Deportation Officer responsible for his case is stationed at the Buffalo Federal Detention Facility ("BFDF"). The Petitioner is under the direct care, custody and control of Respondents and their agents.

JURISDICTION & VENUE

I. SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION

14. This action arises under the Constitution of the United States, and the Immigration and Nationality Act ("INA"), 8 U.S.C. § 1101 et seq., as amended by the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 ("IIRIRA"), Pub. L. No. 104 - 208, 110 Stat. 1570, and the Administrative Procedure Act ("APA"), 5 U.S.C. § 701 et seq.

15. This Court has jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C, § 2241, Art. I, § 9, el. 2 of the Constitution of the United States (the Suspension Clause) and 28 U.S.C. § 1331, as Petitioner is presently in custody under color of the authority of the United States, and such custody is in violation of the Constitution, laws, or treaties of the United States. This Court may grant relief pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2241, 5 U.S.C. § 702, the All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651 and the Court's equitable habeas authority.

II. PERSONAL JURISDICTION

16. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Petitioner's immediate custodian (who is physically within the district).[1]

III. VENUE

17. Pursuant to Braden v. 30th Judicial Circuit Court of Kentucky, 410 U.S.484, 493-500 (1973), venue lies in the United States District Court for the Western District of New York, the judicial district in which Petitioner is being detained. Petitioner is being detained at the BFDF and his detention falls under the jurisdiction of the ICE Field Office of Buffalo, New York, which encompasses the area where Petitioner is being detained, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391.

[1] Petitioner asserts this Court has personal jurisdiction over the additional Respondents, however, in the interests of brevity, the Petitioner will brief this if (1) any governmental acts challenged herein are found to relate to those Respondents (instead of the immediate custodian) and (2) the Government seeks to argue against personal jurisdiction.

LEGAL FRAMEWORK WITH RESPECT TO DETENTION AUTHORITY AND BOND ELIGIBILITY

18. The INA prescribes three basic forms of detention for the vast majority of noncitizens in removal proceedings.

19. First, 8 U.S.C. § 1226 authorizes the detention of noncitizens in standard removal proceedings before an Immigration Judge (IJ). See 8 U.S.C. § 1229a. Individuals in § 1226(a) detention are generally entitled to a bond hearing at the outset of their detention, see 8 C.F.R. §§ 1003.19(a), 1236.1(d), while noncitizens who have been arrested, charged with, or convicted of certain crimes are subject to mandatory detention, see 8 U.S.C. § 1226(c).

20. Second, the INA provides for mandatory detention of noncitizens subject to expedited removal under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1) and for other recent arrivals seeking admission referred to under § 1225(b)(2).

21. Last, the INA also provides for detention of noncitizens who have been ordered removed, including individuals in withholding-only proceedings, see 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)–(b).

22. This case concerns the detention provisions at §§ 1226(a) and 1225(b).

23. The detention provisions at § 1226(a) and § 1225(b) were enacted as part of the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act (IIRIRA) of 1996, Pub. L. No. 104-–208, Div. C, §§ 302–03, 110 Stat. 3009-546, 3009–582 to 3009–583, 3009–585. Section 1226 was most recently amended earlier this year by the Laken Riley Act, Pub. L. No.119-1, 139 Stat. 3 (2025).

24. Immigration authorities allege that the detention authority that initially vests in them under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b) never expires, and permits indefinite mandatory detention with no due process right to a bond hearing, even where a noncitizen has resided in the country for years, or even decades before being re-detained by them.

25. However, 8 U.S.C. § 1225 is titled "Inspection by immigration officers; expedited removal of inadmissible arriving aliens; referral for hearing" and "the context of § 1225 as a whole supports a limited scope for § 1225(b)," which "strongly indicates that the statute governs the entrance of noncitizens to the United States." Da Cunha v. Freden, No. 25-CV-6532-MAV, 2025 WL 3280575, (W.D.N.Y. Nov. 25, 2025).

LEGAL FRAMEWORK FOR ENTRY WITHOUT PAROLE NOR ADMISSION

26. The WDNY has issued decision in Quituizaca Quituisaca v. Bondi, et al., No. 25-cv-6527, 2025 WL 3264440 (W.D.N.Y Nov. 24, 2025) and Lieogo v. Freden, et al., No. 6:25-CV-06615 EAW, 2025 WL 3290694 (W.D.N.Y. Nov. 26, 2025), finding that noncitizens who are present in the United States without having been admitted or paroled are not subject to mandatory detention under 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(2) but instead are subject to detention under section 1226. Upon information and belief the Respondent here did NOT enter with parole.

LEGAL FRAMEWORK WITH RESPECT TO PAROLE REVOCATION OR EXPIRY

27. Where a Petitioner was released into the United States on "parole," and later re-detained, that re-detention falls under § 1226. "[I]n instances, as here, where a petitioner's re-arrest was not a continuation of the initial border encounter, but an independent decision to detain the individual after the expiration of his parole, the detention pursuant to that re-arrest arises under § 1226." Ivonin v. Rhoney, 25-CV-6673-EAW (W.D.N.Y. January 26, 2026); see also Cabrera Martinez v. Marich et al, 25-cv-1110 (W.D.N.Y. 2025) (detention for those who were paroled into the country and remained in the country after expiry of parole is governed under 8 U.S.C. § 1226); Franco de la Cruz v. Freden, 6:25-cv-06699-MAV (W.D.N.Y. March 2, 2026 at Doc. 15) (finding the same).

LEGAL FRAMEWORK WITH RESPECT TO LIBERTY INTEREST

28. "Freedom from imprisonment—from government custody, detention, or other forms of physical restraint—lies at the heart of the liberty protected by the Due Process Clause." Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678, 690 (2001). Petitioner's interest in not being detained is "the most elemental of liberty interests[.]" Hamdi v. Rumsfeld, 542 U.S. 507, 529 (2004). Consistent with this principle, individuals released on parole or other forms of conditional release have a liberty interest in their "continued liberty." Morrissey v. Brewer, 408 U.S. 471, 482 (1972). Such liberty is protected by the Fifth Amendment because, "although indeterminate, [it] includes many of the core values of unqualified liberty," such as the ability to be gainfully employed and live with family, "and its termination inflicts a 'grievous loss' on the [released individual] and often on others." Id.

29. In Morrissey, the Supreme Court explained that parole "enables [the parolee] to do a wide range of things open to persons" who have never been in custody or convicted of any crime, including to live at home, work, and "be with family and friends and to form the other enduring attachments of normal life." Morrissey, 208 U.S. at 482. Although the government may restrict the individual "to many restrictions not applicable to other citizens," such as monitoring and seeking authorization to work and travel, his "condition is very different from that of confinement in a prison." Id. "The parolee has relied on at least an implicit promise that parole will be revoked only if he fails to live up to the parole conditions." Id. The revocation of parole undoubtedly "inflicts a grievous loss on the parolee." Id. (quotations omitted). Therefore, the parolee possesses a protected interest in his continued liberty. Id. at 481-84.

30. Respondents released Petitioner after determining that he did not pose a flight risk or danger to the community. Petitioner was able to apply for various immigration benefits, support himself, and work. His situation in the United States since his release has been "very different from that of confinement in a prison." Morrissey, 408 U.S. at 482. Thus, Petitioner has a protected liberty interest. See, e.g., Perez v. Akshar, et al, No. 9:26-cv-120-ECC (Coombe, J.) (N.D.N.Y., March 5, 2026); See also Crespo Tacuri v. Genalo, No. 25-cv-6896, 2026 WL 35569, at *7 (E.D.N.Y. Jan. 6, 2026) (concluding that Petitioner had a "cognizable private interest in being freed from unlawful detention") (citing, among others, Hamdi v. Rumsfeld, 542 U.S. 507, 529 (2004) ("[T]he most elemental of liberty interests [is] the interest in being free from physical detention by one's own government.")); Fernandez Lopez v. Wofford, 2025 WL 2959319 , at *4 (E.D. Cal. Oct. 17, 2025).

31. Because the private interest in freedom from immigration detention is substantial, due process requires the government to bear the burden of proving by clear and convincing evidence that Petitioner is a flight risk or danger to the community before re-detaining him. See e.g., Fernandez Lopez, 2025 WL 2959319 at *8; J.S.H.M v. Wofford, 2025 WL 2938808, *16 (E.D. Ca. Oct. 16, 2025) (unpub); Mata Velasquez v. Kurzdorfer, F.Supp.3d, 2025 WL 1953796, *17 (W.D.N.Y. July 16, 2025) (detention of parolee without a reasoned explanation or changed circumstances and without a meaningful opportunity to be heard violates due process).

LEGAL FRAMEWORK WITH RESPECT TO WARRANTS FOR DETENTION

32. The section of law that governs detention of non-citizens in the United States is 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a). Section 1226(a) plainly states: "On a warrant issued by the Attorney General, a [noncitizen] may be arrested and detained . . . ."

33. As such, it follows that absent a warrant a noncitizen may not be arrested and detained under section 1226(a).

34. ICE has been routinely arresting non-citizens without a warrant and alleging that the detention was authorized under § 1225(b).

35. In the face of significant federal overreach and unlawful actions by ICE, many federal courts, including courts within this circuit, are increasingly holding that where the Government did not comply with the plain language of § 1226(a) and no warrant was properly issued, immediate release is justified and warranted. See, e.g., Perez v. Akshar, No. 9:26-cv-00120-ECC (N.D.N.Y. Feb. 6, 2026) (Coombe, J.) (ordering immediate release in matter wherein detention was unlawful due to warrantless arrest); Gaspar v. Akshar, No. 9:26-cv-00118-BKS (N.D.N.Y. Feb. 5, 2025) (Sannes, C.J.) (ordering immediate release in matter wherein detention was unlawful due to warrantless arrest).[2] See also Chogllo Chafla v. Scott, No. 2:25-CV-00437-SDN, 2025 WL 2688541, at *11 (D. Me. Sept. 22, 2025) ("Issuance of a warrant is a necessary condition to justify discretionary detention under section 1226(a)."); Chiliquinga Yumbillo v. Stamper, No. 2:25-CV-00479-SDN, 2025 WL 2783642, at *5 (D. Me. Sept. 30, 2025) (reaching same conclusion); A.E.R.T. v. Wofford, No. 1:25-cv-01824-KES-SKO (HC) (E.D. Cal. Dec. 16, 2025) (reaching same conclusion).

THE BURDEN OF PROOF IN BOND HEARINGS

36. In Jennings, "the Supreme Court held that [section] 1226(a) does not mandate that a clear and convincing evidence burden be placed on the government in bond hearings, [but] it left open the question of whether the Due Process Clause does."[3] Darko v. Sessions, 342 F. Supp. 3d

[2] Both of these newly-decided Northern District of New York matters are pending written decisions providing more detailed reasons, but during oral arguments in both matters, the judges expressed that ICE detaining the individuals without a warrant clearly violated Section 1226(a) and thereby made the detentions unlawful. In Judge Sannes' Order, it also stated that "Petitioner Julian Alcon Gaspar shall not be re-detained without adequate notice to Petitioner and his counsel, and without an opportunity to be heard at a hearing where the Government will have the burden of showing that his detention is authorized under 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a) and the burden to demonstrate by clear and convincing evidence that Petitioner is either a danger to the community or a flight risk."

[3] "The Fifth Amendment's Due Process Clause forbids the [g]overnment to 'depriv[e]' any 'person . of . liberty . without due process of law.' " Zadvydas, 533 U.S. at 690, 121 S.Ct. 2491. It "applies to all 'persons' within the United States, including [noncitizens], whether their presence here is lawful, unlawful, temporary, or permanent."

429, 434-35 (S.D.N.Y. 2018); see Adejola v. Barr, 408 F. Supp. 3d 284, 287 (W.D.N.Y. 2019) (noting that section "1226(a) is silent on the issues of which party bears the burden of proof at a custody redetermination hearing and the quantum of evidence necessary to satisfy that burden"). Since Jennings, however, "a number of district courts have taken up the question left open by the Supreme Court, and there has emerged a consensus view that where, as here, the government seeks to detain an alien pending removal proceedings, it bears the burden of proving that such detention is justified." Darko, 342 F. Supp. 3d at 435 (collecting cases).

37. This includes several courts in this District. See Adejola, 408 F. Supp. 3d at 287 (Wolford, J.) ("This Court. concludes that the Fifth Amendment's Due Process Clause requires the [g]overnment to bear the burden of proving, by clear and convincing evidence, that detention is justified at a bond hearing under [section] 1226(a)." (citation and internal quotation marks omitted)); Aparicio-Villatoro v. Barr, 2019 WL 3859013, at *5-7 (W.D.N.Y. Aug. 16, 2019) (Telesca, J.) ("The Court agrees with the district court cases holding that allocating the burden to a noncriminal alien to prove he should be released on bond under [section] 1226(a) violates due process because it asks '[t]he individual . to share equally with society the risk of error when the possible injury to the individual is significantly greater than any possible harm to the [government].' " (quoting Addington v. Texas, 441 U.S. 418, 427, 99 S.Ct. 1804, 60 L.Ed.2d 323 (1979))). And more recently, in three cases like this one involving the misclassification of detention authority, Judge Vacca ordered the respondents to "conduct a constitutionally adequate bond hearing . where the [g]overnment bears the burden of proving by clear and convincing evidence that [the p]etitioner[']s continued detention is justified based on his dangerousness to the community or risk of flight."See Rezende v. Bondi, Case No. 6:25-cv-6538, Docket Item 19 (W.D.N.Y. Oct. 29, 2025); Barbosa Da Cunha v. Moniz, Case No. 6:25-cv-6532, Docket Item 25 (W.D.N.Y. Oct. 20, 2025); Andrade Lozano v. Hyde, Case No. 6:25-cv-6528, Docket Item 20 (W.D.N.Y. Oct. 17, 2025); but see Mahmodi v. Marich, No. 25-CV-6762-MAV, 2026 WL 113473, at *7 (breaking with the other judge's decisions in the same district and holding that the burden being on the non-citizen does not violate due process for purposes of the "initial bond hearing").

38. Chief Judge Wolford explained that she "continues to be of the view that the Due Process Clause requires that individuals detained under [section] 1226(a) be provided a bond hearing at which the government bears the burden of proving by clear and convincing evidence that the individual is either a danger to the community or a flight risk, and where the immigration judge must consider non-bond alternatives to detention or, if setting a bond, ability to pay"); B.S. v. Joyce, 2023 WL 1962808, at *4 (S.D.N.Y. Feb. 13, 2023) ("Like other courts faced with due process challenges to initial bond hearings since Velasco Lopez, this Court will continue to require the government to bear the burden of proof at all section 1226(a) bond hearings."); Jimenez v. Decker, 2021 WL 826752, at *8 (S.D.N.Y. Mar. 3, 2021) (finding that "[r]espondents' interpretation of the Second Circuit's decision as holding that allocating the burden on the detainee at an initial bond hearing 'does not violate due process absent prolonged detention' proves too much").

39. The argument for burden shifting to where it belongs – on the government -- is even more pronounced where a detained non-citizen has been in custody for a lengthy period of time. The Second Circuit has held that "serious constitutional concerns" would arise absent "some procedural safeguard in place for immigrants detained for months without a hearing." Lora v. Shanahan, 804 F.3d 601, 614 (2d Cir. 2015); quoted by Black v. Decker, 103 F. 4th 133, 145 (2d.

Cir. 2024) ("The Constitution does not permit the Executive to detain a noncitizen for an unreasonably prolonged period under section 1226(c) without a bond hearing; at some point, additional procedural protections—like a bond hearing—become necessary.").

40. Indeed, in Black v. Decker, the Second Circuit stated that "Demore and Zadvydas imply, we agree, that any immigration detention exceeding six months without a bond hearing raises serious due process concerns" and that "The Supreme Court's jurisprudence regarding the government's authority to detain removable noncitizens under 8 U.S.C. § 1231(a)(6), while not binding here, is instructive," that jurisprudence being the holding in Zadvydas v. Davis where it recognized a "presumptively reasonable period of detention" of "six months," and required that beyond this period, if "there is no significant likelihood of removal in the reasonably foreseeable future, the Government ... respond with evidence sufficient to rebut that showing" to justify continued detention. Black, 103 F.4th at 150; citing Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. at 701.

CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

COUNT 1: VIOLATION OF THE INA

41. Petitioner re-alleges and incorporates by reference each and every allegation contained in the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein, and does so for all additional counts.

42. The mandatory detention provisions at 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1) and (2) do not apply to all noncitizens residing in the United States who are subject to the grounds of inadmissibility.

43. The application of § 1225(b) to Petitioner unlawfully mandates his continued detention and violates the INA.

44. Upon information and belief, Respondents have detained Petitioner without a warrant as required by the plain language of 8 U.S.C. § 1226(a).

45. Respondent's detention of Petitioner in violation of the warrant requirement also violates the INA.

COUNT 2: VIOLATION OF DUE PROCESS

46. Petitioner re-alleges and incorporates by reference each and every allegation contained in the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein, and does so for all additional counts.

47. The government may not deprive a person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law. U.S. Const. amend. V. "Freedom from imprisonment—from government custody, detention, or other forms of physical restraint—lies at the heart of the liberty that the Clause protects." Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678, 690 (2001).

48. Petitioner has a fundamental interest in liberty and being free from official restraint.

49. The government's detention of Petitioner without any pre-deprivation process was unlawful.

50. Petitioner has a substantial liberty interest in remaining free from physical detention. Velasco Lopez v. Decker, 978 F.3d 842, 851 (2d Cir. 2020) (citing Hamdi v. Rumsfeld, 542 U.S. 507, 529, 124 S.Ct. 2633, 159 L.Ed.2d 578 (2004)). Having determined that Petitioner was neither a flight risk nor a danger at the time of his initial release, the Government cannot re-detain him on without a reasoned explanation or evidence of changed circumstances.

51. Because of Petitioner's profound legal interest in his liberty as a noncitizen, his detention violates his due process rights. See generally Mathews v. Eldridge, 424 U.S. 319, 333 (1976) (requiring notice and an opportunity to be heard before deprivation of a legally protected interest).

52. Petitioner's detention violates the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment.

53. The Supreme Court has noted that the typical remedy for unlawful detention is release from detention. See, e.g., Munaf v. Geren, 553 U.S. 674 (2008) ("The typical remedy for [unlawful executive detention] is, of course, release."); see also Wajda v. US, 64 F.3d 385, 389 (8th Cir. 1995) (stating the function of habeas relief under 28 U.S.C. § 2241 "is to obtain release from the duration or fact of present custody.").

54. The Immigration Courts, when they accept jurisdiction over bond, improperly place the burden of proof on the detained noncitizen. The Second Circuit has held that "shifting the burden of proof to the Government to justify continued detention promotes the Government's interest—one we believe to be paramount—in minimizing the enormous impact of incarceration in cases where it serves no purpose." Velasco Lopez v. Decker, 978 F. 3d 842, 853 (2d. Cir. 2020) (holding that requiring the Government to prove that [a detained noncitizen] is a danger to the community or a flight risk by clear and convincing evidence to justify his continued detention "strikes a fair balance between the rights of the individual and the legitimate concerns of the state.").

55. Even in many instances where the burden has been shifted to the government upon the order of a federal judge, Immigration Judges are increasingly finding "flight risk" and denying bond to non-citizens, bowing to pressure from the Trump administration.

56. The immigration courts under this administration have essentially become "kangaroo courts" where due process is not respected[4], due to political pressure on immigration

[4] Radley Balko, *"The courts are dead." judges to satisfy the administration's thirst for mass deportations. The only appropriate remedy for the current state of affairs is for immediate release to be ordered by federal judges, as due process is otherwise violated.

COUNT 3: VIOLATION OF THE APA – FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH REGULATORY MANDATE AND ACCARDI DOCTRINE

57. Petitioner re-alleges and incorporates by reference each and every allegation contained in the preceding paragraphs as if set forth fully herein, and does so for all additional counts.

58. Respondents have not complied with 8 C.F.R. § 212.5(e)(2)(i).

59. Petitioner's parole can only be terminated, beyond the authorized time expiring, "upon accomplishment of the purpose for which parole was authorized or ... [if] neither humanitarian reasons nor public benefit warrants the continued presence of the alien in the United States." 8 C.F.R. § 212.5(e)(2)(i).

60. Petitioner's parole can only be "terminated upon written notice." Id.

61. Petitioner's parole is terminated because "neither humanitarian reasons nor public benefit warrants the continued presence of the alien in the United States," such a decision must be based on "the opinion of" either "the Assistant Commissioner, Office of Field Operations; Director, Detention and Removal; directors of field operations; port directors; special agents in charge; deputy special agents in charge; associate special agents in charge; assistant special agents in charge; resident agents in charge; field office directors; deputy field office directors; chief patrol agents; district directors for services; [or] those other officials" so designated. 8 C.F.R. § 212.5(e)(2)(i) (cross referencing 8 C.F.R. § 212.5(a)).

62. Here, Respondents detained Petitioner without any written notice or any reason as to why his parole was terminated.

63. Respondents must observe the rules, regulations or procedures which it has established. See United States ex rel. Accardi v. Shaughnessy, 347 U.S. 260 (1954).

64. Respondents' action violates the APA.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Petitioner prays that the Court grant the following relief:

(1) Assume jurisdiction over this matter;

(2) Order that Respondents not transfer the Petitioner outside of this District during the pendency of this Petition;

(3) Expedite consideration of this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1657 because it is an action brought under 28 U.S.C. § 153;

(4) Declare that Petitioner's detention violates the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment;

(5) Issue a writ of habeas corpus requiring that Respondents release Petitioner immediately, and not re-detain Petitioner without a pre-deprivation hearing at which the government bears the burden to demonstrate, by clear and convincing evidence, that the petitioner is a danger to the community or a flight risk and at which the immigration judge must consider non-bond alternatives to detention or, if setting a bond, the petitioner's ability to pay;

(6) Order Respondents to immediately return all of Petitioner's seized personal property, including but not limited to any government-issued identification or immigration documents, such as a state driver's license or Employment Authorization Document (EAD) to the extent such items were seized and remain in Respondents' possession;

(7) Award Petitioner attorney's fees and costs under the Equal Access to Justice Act ("EAJA"), as amended, 28 U.S.C. § 2412, and on any other basis justified under law; and

(8) Fashion such additional relief as is necessary and appropriate, including declaratory relief or other interim relief necessary to vindicate Petitioners' rights under U.S. and international law.
